Stassen's "Dump Nixon" Drive Blows Up

Herter Spikes Boom Attempt By Ike's Aide

Mass. Executive To Nominate Nixon At GOP Convention

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP) — Harold Stassen's day-old "dump Nixon" drive came to what looked like a dead end tonight as the man he wants for vice president got into a front seat on Richard M. Nixon's bandwagon.

Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall announced that Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, Stassen's candidate, would place Nixon's name in nomination at the GOP convention for a second term as vice president.

Nixon pronounced himself "delighted and honored" by Herter's decision to make the nominating speech—a decision which followed a day of fast political footwork by party leaders backing Nixon. The vice president described Herter as the unwilling "man in the middle" in Stassen's surprise maneuver.

Stassen Stands Firm

Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament specialist, refused to give up his drive for Herter despite today's developments. He contended those events "only strengthen" his campaign.

He said that since Herter was not a candidate for the nomination, "he could do nothing" but agree to nominate Nixon.

Nixon said he talked to Herter today in a telephone call arranged by GOP Chairman Hall.

"The telephone call was placed with the idea of requesting Gov. Herter to nominate me, which he agreed to do," Nixon said.

Nixon said that he believed Stassen's attempt to boom Herter was undertaken by Stassen alone, without the help of administration officials and without any encouragement from Herter.

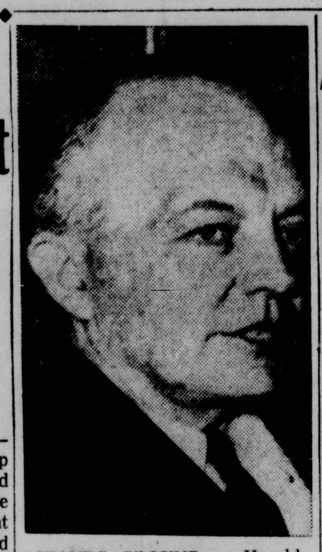

Nixon Denies Deal Made

Nixon denied entering any agreement with Herter to nominate the Massachusetts governor in case polls showed him to be the stronger candidate. Stassen had said he understood Nixon and Herter had "talked to each other along that line."

Stassen had suggested Nixon step aside for Herter on the ground that, by Stassen's accounting, an Eisenhower-Herter ticket would be 6 per cent stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

Eisenhower himself gave no sign he was doing anything about Stassen's action. But new assurances that Eisenhower still wants Nixon as his running mate reportedly were relayed to congressional Republicans.

Nixon was asked by reporters tonight if he thought Stassen should resign. He said that was for others to decide.

Atomic Power Bill Derailed By House Vote

Strauss Contends Congress Action Is Not Necessary

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The House today killed a bill to launch the Atomic Energy Commission on an atomic power plant construction program after AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss argued the measure was unnecessary.

A 203-191 roll call vote returned the Democratic-sponsored measure to the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee — in effect shelving it for the remainder of the 1956 session.

Funds For AEC Voted

This done, the House lost no time in passing and sending to the Senate a separate bill appropriating $1,938,700,000 to finance AEC activities in the fiscal year that began July 1. This was about 40 million dollars more than President Eisenhower had requested.

Action on the atomic power bill came after seven hours of debate during which the bill was tentatively rejected, then resurrected and finally shelved.

As passed by the Senate, the measure would have directed the AEC to undertake a 400-million-dollar program to build demonstration power reactors. Before killing the plan, the House voted to permit rather than direct the AEC to begin such a program.

Public Vs. Private Power

This action, on a 133-105 standing vote, in effect cut the heart out of the Senate bill. It followed reading of a statement by Strauss promising the government will build atomic power plants anyway if private and public power interests fail to do so. He thus contended there was no need for congressional action.

Involved in the debate was the public-versus-private power issue. Opponents argued it would be the opening wedge to put the government permanently in the atomic power business. Supporters contended it was needed because only the government has resources to undertake such a program.

Four Billion Aid Measure Is Approved

President Opposed Denying Yugoslavia Military Assistance

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The Senate passed a $4,110,920,000 foreign aid appropriations bill tonight after writing in an administration-opposed amendment prohibiting use of any of the money for military aid to Yugoslavia.

The final vote was 60-30.

The bill now goes to a conference with the House, which previously passed a bill carrying 685 million dollars less for the mutual security program during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

President Eisenhower sought about five billion dollars in new money and reappropriations, but has said he is willing to settle for about the Senate figure. Last year Congress appropriated $2,700,000,000 for foreign aid.

Senate and House will have to work out a compromise on this year's program.

Ban Approved 50-42

The Senate version provides $2,300,000,000 in military aid and the balance for various types of economic assistance.

The amendment denying any of the new money to Communist Yugoslavia was offered by Senate Republican leader Knowland of California and adopted on a 50-42 roll call vote.

Eisenhower sent a personal message to the senators during the debate, urging them to let him decide whether further aid to Yugoslavia was justified, but Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, and other influential Republicans in the Senate opposed him.

Twenty-six Republicans and 24 Democrats voted to cut Yugoslavia out of the picture. Twenty-three Democrats and 19 Republicans supported the President.

Economic Aid Not Affected

American military aid to Yugoslavia is classified as a defense secret, but Knowland said during the debate that Marshal Tito's government was ticketed for about 30 million dollars in military aid in the new bill and about 17 million in economic assistance.

The economic aid will not be affected by the ban, nor, Knowland said, will about 100 million dollars worth of jet aircraft and other arms now in the foreign aid pipeline to Yugoslavia.

Knowland lost an earlier attempt to cut off all military aid to Yugoslavia except for spare parts and maintenance of weapons already sent. This amendment was killed on a point of order. It was held that Knowland was trying to insert legislation in an appropriations measure.

His substitute cleared the parliamentary hurdles because it simply struck out language from the appropriations bill and did not write new legislation.

New Steel Talks Make Progress, Resume Today

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Steel negotiators started bargaining again today and there were signs almost immediately that they might be entering the final stage toward settlement of the 24-day nation-wide strike.

Steel company and union officials issued a statement reporting "progress" after only a few hours of the new talks.

The union also ordered its international wage policy committee, which usually passes on contracts after negotiators reach settlement, to stand by for a meeting Thursday.

Industry Offer Reported

There also were growing reports that a complete new proposal had been put on the table by the 12 major steel companies struck by the United Steelworkers.

The reports said the companies, which had insisted on a four-year, four-month contract, were now offering to settle for a three-year pact.

The companies also were reported to be offering a 20 cent hourly package increase for the first year of the contract.

Neither side would comment, however, on reports of a new company offer.

The joint statement by negotiating teams headed by John A. Stephens of U.S. Steel, for the companies, and Steelworkers President David McDonald, said only that they had "exchanged ideas as to terms of settlement" at today's meeting.

Subcommittees Named

The statement added that "to expedite matters, subcommittees have been appointed to further explore various issues."

Another meeting of the full negotiating teams was set for 10 a.m. tomorrow.

"The parties have not yet reached agreement, but believe they are making progress," the statement said.

Stephens and McDonald met reporters briefly later but declined to amplify the statement.

Cost Of Living Hits New High

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The cost of living hit an all time high mark last month, due mainly to the increased price of food, the government reported today.

As a result, more than 100,000 General Electric Co. employes, whose work contract is pegged to the Department of Labor index, will get pay boosts.

These will average about 2 cents an hour and add about $80,000 to weekly pay envelopes, according to James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union.

June consumer prices in American cities rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent above the May level, according to the latest statistics.

The June index was 116.2 per cent of the 1947-48 average and 1.6 per cent above the level of the preceding year.

Food prices jumped an average of 2 per cent due to mostly seasonal factors, the Bureau of Labor Statistics explained.

At the same time the take-home pay of factory workers, and the amount of goods and services it could buy, rose to new peaks in June.

Jurors Return 46 Indictments Against Hodge

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 24 (AP)—A Sangamon County grand jury today returned 46 indictments against former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, charging embezzlement, forgery and confidence game.

It was the second time Hodge was indicted in the million dollar state check cashing scandal. A federal grand jury in Chicago last week named him with two associates on conspiracy charges.

The county indictments covered 46 state warrants (checks) which States Atty. George Coutrakon said were fraudulently issued and cashed for a total of nearly $650,000.

Each indictment carried six counts. Three were for embezzlement, each with a 1 to 15 year possible prison sentence. Two were for forgery with 1 to 20 year terms, and one was for confidence game with a possible 1 to 10 year sentence.

Bond Set At $100,000

Circuit Judge Dewitt S. Crow set Hodge's bond at $100,000. Hodge was not present but his attorney, Arthur M. Fitzgerald, said the one-time Illinois Republican state official will appear for arraignment Thursday morning.

Coutrakon said earlier this week that after the Hodge indictments were reported, he would turn his attention to the activities of Edward A. Hintz, resigned president of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, and Edward A. Epping, who was office manager under Hodge.

54-Count Federal Indictment

The three men were named in the 54-count federal indictment accusing them of conspiring to mishandle $872,000 in federally insured bank deposits. Involved is the cashing of state checks by persons who were not the payees.

Hodge and Epping were arrested last week on a conspiracy complaint made by Coutrakon, and later freed on bond. Hodge now will have to make a new bond on the state indictment.

A few hours before the grand jury acted, Coutrakon remarked to newsmen: "It doesn't look like we're ever going to get to the bottom of this. It's colossal."

'Mad Bomber' Strikes Again In New York

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — A homemade bomb, apparently the work of New York's "mad bomber," exploded harmlessly this afternoon in Macy's department store.

The explosive, made from a two-inch piece of galvanized pipe, went off in an unoccupied telephone booth on the store's ground floor. No one was injured and damage was trivial.

Police expressed belief the bomb was placed there by the same person blamed for some 25 crude bombs left in public places in the city over the last 16 years.

Survivor Testifies McKeon Told Some Men Couldn't Swim

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., July 24 (AP)—A Marine death march survivor testified today that its leader, S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, told non-swimmers to "do the best they can."

Pvt. Cormac M. Brennan, 20 and six feet, two inches, was testifying in a strong voice on events just before Platoon 71 entered the creek waters April 8. He said of McKeon:

"He asked if everybody was all right and the reply came back, no, there were non-swimmers. He said let them do the best they can."

Brennan, one-time City College of New York student, was the first of 14 survivors to testify thus far to defend the discipline of Platoon 71. All the others have called it poor. He termed it "good."

McKeon "Patient Man"

During the seventh court day of the court-martial, McKeon's lawyer agreed to a temporary limit on defense witnesses — a time-saving, cost-cutting compromise.

Defense lawyer Emile Zola Berman originally sought to call 108 ex-Marines to testify about other night marches similar to the one April 8.

After a long out-of-court conference, Berman agreed to a temporary limit of 18 ex-Marine witnesses. Maj. Charles B. Sevier, the prosecutor, said he would consider subpoenaing this list.

Berman has at least 14 other witnesses on call when the defense opens its case. These are all present members of the military.

McKeon Seen With Battle

In a court-martial, the prosecution may or may not subpoena such witnesses as the defense indicates it needs. The defense's only recourse against this control over its witnesses is to ask the court to overrule the prosecution.

The prosecution called one of McKeon's former Platoon 71 recruits to testify he saw the drill instructor with a vodka bottle in his hand shortly before the death march began.

McKeon is accused of manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty. There is no suggestion of drunkenness. He faces the maximum of a dishonorable discharge and six years in prison if convicted.

Threat Made On Life Of Mass. Gov. Herter

BOSTON, July 24 (AP)—Gov. Herter's office said today a threat has been made on his life in a telephone call to Boston police headquarters.

Emmanuel Goldberg, secretary to the governor, said the call "may or may not have been made by a crank."

Goldberg said routine precautions are being taken and that an extra state trooper has been assigned to the executive suite. As part of the precautions, doors leading to the governor's office from the west wing have been closed so that the only entrance is through the main door of the executive department.

Herter's name was brought into the national political limelight yesterday when Harold Stassen told a Washington news conference he favored the governor as a Republican vice presidential candidate.

Turkey Frees Syrians

DAMASCUS, Syria, July 24 (AP)—Turkey today decided to release 35 Syrians taken prisoner June 23 during a Turkish-Syrian border incident in which two Turkish soldiers were killed, an Interior Ministry spokesman announced.

Blast Injures Palestine Truce Team Members

JERUSALEM, July 24 (AP) — An explosion today seriously wounded two Canadian U.N. truce observers in the Mt. Scopus area of the demilitarized zone. The blast slightly injured a Jordan officer with them.

The U.N. Truce Organization said tonight it was investigating whether the explosion was caused by an old mine or by some other explosive.

The blast occurred as the three men approached a building in the Mt.Scopus area south of the Hebrew University. This sector of the demilitarized area is policed by Israelis.

A U.N. announcement said some Jordan soldiers had entered the building, which had been vacant. The Jordanians claimed their soldiers were fired on by Israeli police and returned the fire.

The two observers, Majs. G. A. Flint, 44, of Outremont, Que., and Marcel Breault, 48, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., arrived at the scene with a Jordan member of the Israeli-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission, Lt. Daoud.

U.N. observers established a cease fire. Then, as Breault, Flint, and Daoud approached the building, the explosion occurred.

Flint suffered a stomach wound. The nature of Breault's wound was not disclosed. Both underwent surgery at a hospital. Daoud was only slightly hurt.

Attorneys, Oil Firm Indicted In Lobby Probe

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Two attorneys and the Superior Oil CO. of California were indicted today on charges of conspiring to violate the lobbying act during Senate consideration of the natural gas bill last winter.

John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., and Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., the attorneys, were also charged with "unlawfully" offering $2,500 to Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) in an attempt to influence his vote on the bill.

The six-count indictment was returned by a federal grand jury here. Atty. Gen. Brownell, who made the indictment public, said the grand jury's investigation is continuing.

President Vetoed Bill

Case set the inquiry in motion when he rose in the Senate last February and disclosed he had been offered the $2,500 as a campaign contribution.

The Senate finally passed the gas bill 53-38, with Case voting against it, but President Eisenhower killed it with a veto Feb. 17.

The President said at that time he agreed with the basic objectives of the legislation, which would have exempted natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. But he said that to sign it under the circumstances would "risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

Keck Allegedly Put Up Money

Neff, Patman and Superior Oil, a company headed by Howard B. Keck and with offices in Los Angeles and Houston, were accused in the indictment of conspiring to violate the U.S. code.

Part of the conspiracy, the government alleged, was that Neff and Patman "should collect and receive from Howard B. Keck and from the said Superior Oil Co. sums of money to be used principally to aid in the passage of" the natural gas bill.

GM Faces Suit By Greyhound

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Greyhound Corp. said today it is preparing to file a multi-million dollar damage suit against General Motors Corp., charging mechanical defects in a fleet of 1,000 buses purchased from GM.

Arthur S. Genet, president, told a news conference that the bus company paid about 53 million dollars for the 1,000 "Scenicruiser" buses, which make up about 20 per cent of the total fleet.

Genet declared that 570 of the buses "were not up to the contracted mechanical standards of Greyhound and the normal commercial production standards of GM." He said the vehicle had trouble in the lubrication systems for the transmission and clutches.

General Motors declared in a statement, "We cannot make any comment until we see a copy of the pleadings in the suit which Mr. Genet says will be filed by Greyhound."

Fight For Ringling Circus Control Seems In Making

SARASOTA, Fla., July 24 (AP) — A possible fight for control of Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Circus appeared to be in the making today.

John Ringling North, president of the circus, controls 51 per cent of the big top. The estate of Mrs. Edith Ringling, widow of Charles who was one of the original Ringling brothers, controls 49 per cent.

Dan Judge, a New York attorney representing the Edith Ringling estate, is due here sometime this week.

Edward F. Kelly, executor of the Estate, said "We will probably have plenty to say after we meet with Dan Judge. We have no statement to make at this time."

Kelly said he was conferring with Judge in New York when news of the circus folding came July 16.

Mrs. Edith Ringling's son, Robert, was president of the circus when the disastrous Hartford, Conn., fire occurred in 1944, killing 167 persons.

These other circus developments occurred today:

1. Benjamin Birdsong, manager of the Florida State Employment Service, said his office had received 250 applications for work from circus employes and 125 have applied for unemployment compensation.

2. Merle Evans, who led the circus band for 37 years, has assembled an 18-piece band to appear with other circus performers on Ed Sullivan's television show in New York Sunday.

U.S. Tells Zarubin Soviet Lags In Arms Reduction

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The State Department tartly told Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin today that Russia lags behind the Western powers in cutting its regular armed forces.

That was the answer Zarubin received from Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr. when he showed up at the department with a disarmament appeal from Russia's congress, the Supreme Soviet.

Without "waiting for general agreement on disarmament," Russia is cutting its armed forces, the appeal said, and other powers should "support this initiative of the Soviet Union" and similarly reduce their own military establishments.

Reductions cited were a cut of 1,200,000 men to be completed — according to Moscow's9 announcement last spring—by May 1, 1957 and a reduction of 640,000 men which was announced and supposed to have been completed last year.

State Department officials said Hoover replied by asking whether the appeal for disarmament action provides for any new inspection procedures. This is a key point of American policy which is based on the idea that if disarmament is to create international confidence and strengthen peace it must be carried out with international inspection at every step.

Zarubin was said to have replied that inspection procedures were not provided.

Hoover then told the ambassador that the figures on Russian reductions cited in the appeal were very substantially less than cuts made by the United States and other Western powers in recent years.

World War GI Bill Ends Today

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The World War II GI Bill that cost 14½ billion dollars and gave 7,800,000 veterans educational training, ends tomorrow for all but a handful of ex-soldiers.

Also ending is the vocational rehabilitation program that helped 610,000 disabled veterans of World War II.

But veteran training will still be around for a while. The Korean GI Bill, granted to veterans of the Far East emergency and now in its fourth year, is just getting into full swing.

The original GI Bill was enacted June 22, 1944, while the war was at its peak in Europe and the Pacific.

GI enrollments in colleges and training schools mushroomed to a record level of two and a half million at the end of 1947. At the peak of the GI Bill program, educators estimated two-thirds of all male college students were ex-soldiers getting government educational benefits.

Each indictment carried six counts. Three were for embezzlement, each with a 1 to 15 year possible prison sentence. Two were for forgery with 1 to 20 year terms, and one was for confidence game with a possible 1 to 10 year sentence.

Bond Set At $100,000

Circuit Judge Dewitt S. Crow set Hodge's bond at $100,000. Hodge was not present but his attorney, Arthur M. Fitzgerald, said the one-time Illinois Republican state official will appear for arraignment Thursday morning.

Coutrakon said earlier this week that after the Hodge indictments were reported, he would turn his attention to the activities of Edward A. Hintz, resigned president of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, and Edward A. Epping, who was office manager under Hodge.

54-Count Federal Indictment

The three men were named in the 54-count federal indictment accusing them of conspiring to mishandle $872,000 in federally insured bank deposits. Involved is the cashing of state checks by persons who were not the payees.

Hodge and Epping were arrested last week on a conspiracy complaint made by Coutrakon, and later freed on bond. Hodge now will have to make a new bond on the state indictment.

A few hours before the grand jury acted, Coutrakon remarked to newsmen: "It doesn't look like we're ever going to get to the bottom of this. It's colossal."

Survivor Testifies McKeon Told Some Men Couldn't Swim

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., July 24 (AP)—A Marine death march survivor testified today that its leader, S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, told non-swimmers to "do the best they can."

Pvt. Cormac M. Brennan, 20 and six feet, two inches, was testifying in a strong voice on events just before Platoon 71 entered the creek waters April 8. He said of McKeon:

"He asked if everybody was all right and the reply came back, no, there were non-swimmers. He said let them do the best they can."

Brennan, one-time City College of New York student, was the first of 14 survivors to testify thus far to defend the discipline of Platoon 71. All the others have called it poor. He termed it "good."

McKeon "Patient Man"

During the seventh court day of the court-martial, McKeon's lawyer agreed to a temporary limit on defense witnesses — a time-saving, cost-cutting compromise.

Defense lawyer Emile Zola Berman originally sought to call 108 ex-Marines to testify about other night marches similar to the one April 8.

After a long out-of-court conference, Berman agreed to a temporary limit of 18 ex-Marine witnesses. Maj. Charles B. Sevier, the prosecutor, said he would consider subpoenaing this list.

Berman has at least 14 other witnesses on call when the defense opens its case. These are all present members of the military.

McKeon Seen With Battle

In a court-martial, the prosecution may or may not subpoena such witnesses as the defense indicates it needs. The defense's only recourse against this control over its witnesses is to ask the court to overrule the prosecution.

The prosecution called one of McKeon's former Platoon 71 recruits to testify he saw the drill instructor with a vodka bottle in his hand shortly before the death march began.

McKeon is accused of manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty. There is no suggestion of drunkenness. He faces the maximum of a dishonorable discharge and six years in prison if convicted.

Attorneys, Oil Firm Indicted In Lobby Probe

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Two attorneys and the Superior Oil CO. of California were indicted today on charges of conspiring to violate the lobbying act during Senate consideration of the natural gas bill last winter.

John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., and Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., the attorneys, were also charged with "unlawfully" offering $2,500 to Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) in an attempt to influence his vote on the bill.

The six-count indictment was returned by a federal grand jury here. Atty. Gen. Brownell, who made the indictment public, said the grand jury's investigation is continuing.

President Vetoed Bill

Case set the inquiry in motion when he rose in the Senate last February and disclosed he had been offered the $2,500 as a campaign contribution.

The Senate finally passed the gas bill 53-38, with Case voting against it, but President Eisenhower killed it with a veto Feb. 17.

The President said at that time he agreed with the basic objectives of the legislation, which would have exempted natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. But he said that to sign it under the circumstances would "risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

Keck Allegedly Put Up Money

Neff, Patman and Superior Oil, a company headed by Howard B. Keck and with offices in Los Angeles and Houston, were accused in the indictment of conspiring to violate the U.S. code.

Part of the conspiracy, the government alleged, was that Neff and Patman "should collect and receive from Howard B. Keck and from the said Superior Oil Co. sums of money to be used principally to aid in the passage of" the natural gas bill.

Cost Of Living Hits New High

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The cost of living hit an all time high mark last month, due mainly to the increased price of food, the government reported today.

As a result, more than 100,000 General Electric Co. employes, whose work contract is pegged to the Department of Labor index, will get pay boosts.

These will average about 2 cents an hour and add about $80,000 to weekly pay envelopes, according to James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union.

June consumer prices in American cities rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent above the May level, according to the latest statistics.

The June index was 116.2 per cent of the 1947-48 average and 1.6 per cent above the level of the preceding year.

Food prices jumped an average of 2 per cent due to mostly seasonal factors, the Bureau of Labor Statistics explained.

At the same time the take-home pay of factory workers, and the amount of goods and services it could buy, rose to new peaks in June.

Blast Injures Palestine Truce Team Members

JERUSALEM, July 24 (AP) — An explosion today seriously wounded two Canadian U.N. truce observers in the Mt. Scopus area of the demilitarized zone. The blast slightly injured a Jordan officer with them.

The U.N. Truce Organization said tonight it was investigating whether the explosion was caused by an old mine or by some other explosive.

The blast occurred as the three men approached a building in the Mt.Scopus area south of the Hebrew University. This sector of the demilitarized area is policed by Israelis.

A U.N. announcement said some Jordan soldiers had entered the building, which had been vacant. The Jordanians claimed their soldiers were fired on by Israeli police and returned the fire.

The two observers, Majs. G. A. Flint, 44, of Outremont, Que., and Marcel Breault, 48, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., arrived at the scene with a Jordan member of the Israeli-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission, Lt. Daoud.

U.N. observers established a cease fire. Then, as Breault, Flint, and Daoud approached the building, the explosion occurred.

Flint suffered a stomach wound. The nature of Breault's wound was not disclosed. Both underwent surgery at a hospital. Daoud was only slightly hurt.

World War GI Bill Ends Today

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The World War II GI Bill that cost 14½ billion dollars and gave 7,800,000 veterans educational training, ends tomorrow for all but a handful of ex-soldiers.

Also ending is the vocational rehabilitation program that helped 610,000 disabled veterans of World War II.

But veteran training will still be around for a while. The Korean GI Bill, granted to veterans of the Far East emergency and now in its fourth year, is just getting into full swing.

The original GI Bill was enacted June 22, 1944, while the war was at its peak in Europe and the Pacific.

GI enrollments in colleges and training schools mushroomed to a record level of two and a half million at the end of 1947. At the peak of the GI Bill program, educators estimated two-thirds of all male college students were ex-soldiers getting government educational benefits.

GM Faces Suit By Greyhound

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Greyhound Corp. said today it is preparing to file a multi-million dollar damage suit against General Motors Corp., charging mechanical defects in a fleet of 1,000 buses purchased from GM.

Arthur S. Genet, president, told a news conference that the bus company paid about 53 million dollars for the 1,000 "Scenicruiser" buses, which make up about 20 per cent of the total fleet.

Genet declared that 570 of the buses "were not up to the contracted mechanical standards of Greyhound and the normal commercial production standards of GM." He said the vehicle had trouble in the lubrication systems for the transmission and clutches.

General Motors declared in a statement, "We cannot make any comment until we see a copy of the pleadings in the suit which Mr. Genet says will be filed by Greyhound."

Threat Made On Life Of Mass. Gov. Herter

BOSTON, July 24 (AP)—Gov. Herter's office said today a threat has been made on his life in a telephone call to Boston police headquarters.

Emmanuel Goldberg, secretary to the governor, said the call "may or may not have been made by a crank."

Goldberg said routine precautions are being taken and that an extra state trooper has been assigned to the executive suite. As part of the precautions, doors leading to the governor's office from the west wing have been closed so that the only entrance is through the main door of the executive department.

Herter's name was brought into the national political limelight yesterday when Harold Stassen told a Washington news conference he favored the governor as a Republican vice presidential candidate.

'Mad Bomber' Strikes Again In New York

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — A homemade bomb, apparently the work of New York's "mad bomber," exploded harmlessly this afternoon in Macy's department store.

The explosive, made from a two-inch piece of galvanized pipe, went off in an unoccupied telephone booth on the store's ground floor. No one was injured and damage was trivial.

Police expressed belief the bomb was placed there by the same person blamed for some 25 crude bombs left in public places in the city over the last 16 years.

Plane Kills Child

NAPLES, Italy, July 24 (AP) —An Italian air force fighter plane swooping low over Licola beach today struck and killed Rosaria Mazzocchi, 14. The pilot and the mechanic were arrested and jailed when they landed the plane at a nearby field.

Turkey Frees Syrians

DAMASCUS, Syria, July 24 (AP)—Turkey today decided to release 35 Syrians taken prisoner June 23 during a Turkish-Syrian border incident in which two Turkish soldiers were killed, an Interior Ministry spokesman announced.

Fight For Ringling Circus Control Seems In Making

SARASOTA, Fla., July 24 (AP) — A possible fight for control of Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Circus appeared to be in the making today.

John Ringling North, president of the circus, controls 51 per cent of the big top. The estate of Mrs. Edith Ringling, widow of Charles who was one of the original Ringling brothers, controls 49 per cent.

Dan Judge, a New York attorney representing the Edith Ringling estate, is due here sometime this week.

Edward F. Kelly, executor of the Estate, said "We will probably have plenty to say after we meet with Dan Judge. We have no statement to make at this time."

Kelly said he was conferring with Judge in New York when news of the circus folding came July 16.

Mrs. Edith Ringling's son, Robert, was president of the circus when the disastrous Hartford, Conn., fire occurred in 1944, killing 167 persons.

These other circus developments occurred today:

1. Benjamin Birdsong, manager of the Florida State Employment Service, said his office had received 250 applications for work from circus employes and 125 have applied for unemployment compensation.

2. Merle Evans, who led the circus band for 37 years, has assembled an 18-piece band to appear with other circus performers on Ed Sullivan's television show in New York Sunday.

U.S. Tells Zarubin Soviet Lags In Arms Reduction

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The State Department tartly told Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin today that Russia lags behind the Western powers in cutting its regular armed forces.

That was the answer Zarubin received from Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr. when he showed up at the department with a disarmament appeal from Russia's congress, the Supreme Soviet.

Without "waiting for general agreement on disarmament," Russia is cutting its armed forces, the appeal said, and other powers should "support this initiative of the Soviet Union" and similarly reduce their own military establishments.

Reductions cited were a cut of 1,200,000 men to be completed — according to Moscow's9 announcement last spring—by May 1, 1957 and a reduction of 640,000 men which was announced and supposed to have been completed last year.

State Department officials said Hoover replied by asking whether the appeal for disarmament action provides for any new inspection procedures. This is a key point of American policy which is based on the idea that if disarmament is to create international confidence and strengthen peace it must be carried out with international inspection at every step.

Zarubin was said to have replied that inspection procedures were not provided.

Hoover then told the ambassador that the figures on Russian reductions cited in the appeal were very substantially less than cuts made by the United States and other Western powers in recent years.

Alcatraz Escape Try Is Bungled

Murderer Faces More Years And Fine

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24 (AP)—Floyd Wilson bungled his attempt to escape from Alcatraz today and faced the possibility of another five years on the island prison as a result.

The 41-year-old murderer was found crouched in a cave on the water's edge after an 11½ hour foot-by-foot search of "The Rock." He was dripping wet from splashing waves. He admitted he didn't know how to swim.

Wilson slipped away from a closely watched dock gang yesterday afternoon. Just how he did it remained his secret.

"He is a close-mouthed individual," said Warden Paul J. Madigan. "We can't get anything out of him."

Madigan asked the San Francisco federal grand jury to consider indictment of Wilson for attempted escape. U. S. Atty. Lloyd Burke said conviction could bring a sentence of five more years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The failure of his attempted escape fitted Wilson's pattern in crime. His only previous criminal venture was a holdup attempt in Washington, D. C., in 1947 "to get some money for a ton of coal" for his wife and children. Instead he killed Milton E. Lowe, 46, grocery chain store manager as he sat with $10,000 weekend receipts in his car.

Wilson's escape attempt lasted as long as it did because the high tide of San Francisco Bay kept searchers from the low lying caves on the island.

"He had apparently been hiding out under a rock or log," said Associate Warden J. B. Latimer.

Of the 11 others who tried to break out of Alcatraz, two were shot to death, two tried to swim the treacherous currents of San Francisco Bay and presumably drowned, and one hid out for three days.

Nasser Attacks U.S., Says Egypt Economy Strong

CAIRO, Egypt, July 24 (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser attacked the United States today and said "we will not submit to the dollar or to force." He said Egypt's economy is strong, and growing stronger.

Nasser's remarks were accented by a declaration of Soviet Ambassador E. D. Kisselev to reporters that the Soviet Union is ready to put up the money for the Aswan Dam on the Nile "if Egypt asks for it."

Reasoning that attended Washington's withdrawal last week of an American offer to help finance the $1,300,000,000 dam — specifically a question about Egypt's ability to carry her part of the load — drew fire from Nasser.

"We shall disregard imperialists and oppressors who want to control the means of livelihood of the peoples and their freedom," said the strongman who masterminded the army revolt that overthrew King Farouk four years ago. "We shall disregard their stabs because we believe in our dignity and strength.

"If an uproar in Washington creates false and misleading announcements, without shame and without regard to the principles of international relations between nations, that the Egyptian economy is unsound and throws shadows of doubt on it—I say to those behind the uproar, 'May your hate choke you to death. You will not be able to control us because we know our way.'"

One reason the U. S. State Department gave for the withdrawal of the aid offer was a contention that Egypt's ability to carry out its 900-million-dollar share "has become more uncertain" than it was when the offer was made seven months ago.

Police Remove Mexican Actor Nailed To Cross

REYNOSA, Mexico, July 24 (AP)—A young Mexican-Spanish actor named Tagare was removed late today from a crucifix to which he had been nailed since Sunday in what police said was a money-raising stunt.

Tagare, 28, was nailed to a large cross erected in the Reynosa's Plaza de Toros — the local bullfight arena—before a near-capacity crowd of 5,000 at sunset Sunday.

The crowd had been charged admission to see the event.

Nails were hammered through both of Tagare's hands and feet.

The awed crowd stayed for some time. Since then Tagare had been visited by many who brought gifts and money. Officials made no effort to have him removed until this afternoon. He was obviously weak from his long ordeal.

Rain Hampers India Quake Rescue Work

BOMBAY, India, July 24 (AP)—Incessant rain hampered rescue work today in the quake-stricken Kutch Peninsula in northwestern India.

Reliable unofficial sources today put the death toll from the Saturday quake at 130. The latest official account said at least 109 were killed, 102 of them in the industrial town of Anjar.

Soaked by rain, buildings half demolished by the quake were crumbling. Indian troops rushed into the area continued to dig among the ruins.

Blast Shatters Bi-Racial Farm Group Building

AMERICUS, Ga., July 24 (AP)—A hit-run blast last night shattered a roadside farm produce stand of a bi-racial communal group which has been stopped by court action from operating a non-segregated youth camp.

Investigators said today they were without tangible clues as to who tossed a high explosive into the sheet metal building of Koinonia Farms.

The blast went off just after 10 p.m., four hours after the place had closed for the day. Nobody was hurt. The walls of the 20-by-30-foot structure were buckled, the roof lifted, glass splintered and two large food freezers smashed.

Damage was placed at about $3,000.

The 14-year-old project includes 1,000 acres and a number of buildings which a spokesman said house about 60 white and Negro men, women and children on a communal plan.

Last year it operated a youth camp but this year the Sumter County Commission petitioned for a court injunction on health and sanitation grounds. A hearing has been postponed until Aug. 9 leaving a temporary restrainer in force.

11 Cops Suspended

YORK, Pa., July 24 (AP)—Eleven York policemen, involved in a dispute a week ago with city officials over refusal to wear sun helments, were suspended today for five days each.

British Strike Violence Flares

BIRMINGHAM, England, July 24 (AP)—Violence flared today in a strike against the British Motor Corp.

A driver was beaten by pickets while trying to take a truck load of car bodies out of the Austin Car Works at Longbridge.

A union official called on pickets to lie down in front of the trucks, if necessary, to halt them and they blocked many trucks from entering and leaving the factory.

Pickets also clashed with workers and occasionally with police in Oxford, Coventry and Llanelly in South Wales.

There were sharp arguments as to whether the effects of the strike launched yesterday to protest the economy layoff of 6,000 BMC workers, were diminishing or spreading.

The BMC management said 23,147 men, 1,000 more than yesterday, reported for work in defiance of jeering pickets. The normal day shift at the firm's seven plants is 43,000.

Union leaders termed the company's figure fantastic. Bob Openshaw, president of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, said members of the union at hundreds of companies had been ordered to stop work on all production designed for BMC, the biggest car manufacturing concern outside the United States.

The giant Transport and General Workers Union has blacklisted BMC products and supplies and ordered its members not to touch them.

Capital Purchases 14 British Comet Jets

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Capital Airlines today announced the purchase of 14 British Comet jet airliners.

The cost, including spare parts, was 53 million dollars.

J. H. Carmichael, president, told a news conference Capital will introduce the 68-seat Comet 4 on its New York-Chicago and Washington-Chicago routes shortly after Jan. 1, 1959.

"We believe our Comets will move the United States into the jet age six months or a year before any other domestic operator of jet aircraft," Carmichael said.

The 545-mile-an-hour Comet is being built by De Havilland Aircraft Co.

Northern Demos Fail To Pry Out Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Northern Democrats were balked by their Southern colleagues today when they tried to force Senate action on the civil rights bill. And it was apparent they would fail again should they try the same maneuver tomorrow.

The bill was passed by the House yesterday, with every indication it would die on the Senate side.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), with the support of Sens. Douglas (D-Ill) and Lehman (D-NY), offered a resolution in the Senate to pry the bill out of the Judiciary Committee and bring it to the Senate floor for immediate action.

This move failed after Sen. George (D-Ga), presiding in place of Vice President Nixon, ruled that the Hennings resolution required unanimous consent.

Acting on George's ruling, Sen. Russell (D-Ga) immediately objected to approval of the resolution.

Douglas made a second try later to get the bill to the floor but again was blocked by an objection from Russell.

Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas sided with George in agreeing that unanimous consent was required because the Senate recessed, instead of adjourned, yesterday and was technically continuing its Monday business today.

The civil rights bill, which the House passed 279-126, would set up a bipartisan commission to investigate civil rights violations, establish a civil rights division in the Justice Department, and make it easier to bypass state courts and bring suits in federal courts for alleged infringement of voting and other rights.

German Officers See Unique U.S. Plane

KISSINGEN, Germany, July 24 (AP) — Officers of the new German army's airborne forces got a look today at a U.S. plane described as "the only one in the world capable of landing in a space of less than 850 feet."

The description was offered by U. S. Air Force Col. William C. Bentley of Richmond, Va., commander of the 309th Troop Carrier Group, at a briefing for Col. Walter Gerieke, chief of the German army's airborne forces.

The plane involved is the C123B, which Bentley said can carry 60 fully equipped soldiers.

False Teeth Have Pair Of Claimants

PORT HURON, Mich., July 24 (AP)—Police had a mouthful of trouble today—two claimants for one set of false teeth.

The upper set of store teeth was found on a nearby Lake Huron beach last week. Albert Allen claimed the dentures, saying he had lost them five years ago while swimming. And his new set of uppers seemed to match those found.

Now Henry Albert says the teeth may be the ones he lost while swimming three weeks ago.

Officers said they would arrange a meeting of the two men to solve the tooth trouble.

Gov. McKeldin Honors His State Police Aide

ANNAPOLIS, July 24 (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. McKeldin gave a dinner tonight honoring his longtime State Police aide, Capt. Menasha Katz and his bride, the former Mrs. Hal Miller.

Attending the affair at Government House were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rash; Albert Shuger; Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of State Police, and Mrs. Munshower; Motor Vehicles Commissioner and Mrs. Frank Small; Chief Inspector Ford of the Baltimore City Police Department and Mrs. Ford; Mr. and Mrs. M. William Adelson; Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Momberger Jr.; and Sheriff and Mrs. Joseph Alton of Annapolis.

McKeldin is the fifth governor Katz has served as aide in his 34 years on the State Police force. He previously had been aide to Govs. Ritchie, Nice, O'Conor and Lane.

Stray Sharks Caught In Chesapeake Bay

ANNAPOLIS, July 24 (AP)—An expert from the Department of Tidewater Fisheries said today four sharks caught in Chesapeake Bay since last Monday are probably strays who wandered into the Upper Bay behind a school of fish.

That was the guess of Edgar H. Hollis, fish and crab culturist, who examined the latest catch — an eight-foot, 500-pound shark caught off Curtis Point at the mouth of West River yesterday.

Hollis identified it as a milbert or brown shark, which is not classed as a man eater.

Disturbance Quelled At Women's Prison

JESSUP, Md., July 24 (AP)—State Police fired tear gas into a detention cottage at the Women's Reformatory today to quell a disturbance.

Miss Alice Blum, the warden, said the trouble started when 29-year-old Gladys Smith broke out of a detention cottage. Miss Blum said she intercepted the Negro narcotics law violator before she reached the prison laundry.

The woman was taken to the warden's office but she broke away again. Miss Blum caught her outside the building and during the struggle a knife fell from the inmate's clothing.

The Smith woman then ran into a cottage occupied by about 12 other inmates. Some of the others joined in the disturbance, making loud noises and breaking furniture.

State Police transferred the women to detention quarters. When the unrest continued, tear gas was used to quiet the inmates.

Italian Trains Running After One-Day Strike

ROME, Wednesday, July 25 (AP) — Impatient tourists began trekking into Italian railroad stations shortly after midnight today as the government-owned rail system resumed normal operations after a one-day strike.

The strike snarled tourist and vacation traffic from the Alps to Sicily at the peak month of Italy's biggest travel year.

C., in 1947 "to get some money for a ton of coal" for his wife and children. Instead he killed Milton E. Lowe, 46, grocery chain store manager as he sat with $10,000 weekend receipts in his car.

Wilson's escape attempt lasted as long as it did because the high tide of San Francisco Bay kept searchers from the low lying caves on the island.

"He had apparently been hiding out under a rock or log," said Associate Warden J. B. Latimer.

Of the 11 others who tried to break out of Alcatraz, two were shot to death, two tried to swim the treacherous currents of San Francisco Bay and presumably drowned, and one hid out for three days.

Nasser Attacks U.S., Says Egypt Economy Strong

CAIRO, Egypt, July 24 (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser attacked the United States today and said "we will not submit to the dollar or to force." He said Egypt's economy is strong, and growing stronger.

Nasser's remarks were accented by a declaration of Soviet Ambassador E. D. Kisselev to reporters that the Soviet Union is ready to put up the money for the Aswan Dam on the Nile "if Egypt asks for it."

Reasoning that attended Washington's withdrawal last week of an American offer to help finance the $1,300,000,000 dam — specifically a question about Egypt's ability to carry her part of the load — drew fire from Nasser.

"We shall disregard imperialists and oppressors who want to control the means of livelihood of the peoples and their freedom," said the strongman who masterminded the army revolt that overthrew King Farouk four years ago. "We shall disregard their stabs because we believe in our dignity and strength.

"If an uproar in Washington creates false and misleading announcements, without shame and without regard to the principles of international relations between nations, that the Egyptian economy is unsound and throws shadows of doubt on it—I say to those behind the uproar, 'May your hate choke you to death. You will not be able to control us because we know our way.'"

One reason the U. S. State Department gave for the withdrawal of the aid offer was a contention that Egypt's ability to carry out its 900-million-dollar share "has become more uncertain" than it was when the offer was made seven months ago.

Police Remove Mexican Actor Nailed To Cross

REYNOSA, Mexico, July 24 (AP)—A young Mexican-Spanish actor named Tagare was removed late today from a crucifix to which he had been nailed since Sunday in what police said was a money-raising stunt.

Tagare, 28, was nailed to a large cross erected in the Reynosa's Plaza de Toros — the local bullfight arena—before a near-capacity crowd of 5,000 at sunset Sunday.

The crowd had been charged admission to see the event.

Nails were hammered through both of Tagare's hands and feet.

The awed crowd stayed for some time. Since then Tagare had been visited by many who brought gifts and money. Officials made no effort to have him removed until this afternoon. He was obviously weak from his long ordeal.

Rain Hampers India Quake Rescue Work

BOMBAY, India, July 24 (AP)—Incessant rain hampered rescue work today in the quake-stricken Kutch Peninsula in northwestern India.

Reliable unofficial sources today put the death toll from the Saturday quake at 130. The lattest official account said at least 109 were killed, 102 of them in the industrial town of Anjar.

Soaked by rain, buildings half demolished by the quake were crumbling. Indian troops rushed into the area continued to dig among the ruins.

Tents have been put up to house the more than 12,000 left homeless.

Blast Shatters Bi-Racial Farm Group Building

AMERICUS, Ga., July 24 (AP)—A hit-run blast last night shattered a roadside farm produce stand of a bi-racial communal group which has been stopped by court action from operating a non-segregated youth camp.

Investigators said today they were without tangible clues as to who tossed a high explosive into the sheet metal building of Koinonia Farms.

The blast went off just after 10 p.m., four hours after the place had closed for the day. Nobody was hurt. The walls of the 20-by-30-foot structure were buckled, the roof lifted, glass splintered and two large food freezers smashed.

Damage was placed at about $3,000.

The 14-year-old project includes 1,000 acres and a number of buildings which a spokesman said house about 60 white and Negro men, women and children on a communal plan.

Last year it operated a youth camp but this year the Sumter County Commission petitioned for a court injunction on health and sanitation grounds. A hearing has been postponed until Aug. 9 leaving a temporary restrainer in force.

11 Cops Suspended

YORK, Pa., July 24 (AP)—Eleven York policemen, involved in a dispute a week ago with city officials over refusal to wear sun helments, were suspended today for five days each.

British Strike Violence Flares

BIRMINGHAM, England, July 24 (AP)—Violence flared today in a strike against the British Motor Corp.

A driver was beaten by pickets while trying to take a truck load of car bodies out of the Austin Car Works at Longbridge.

A union official called on pickets to lie down in front of the trucks, if necessary, to halt them and they blocked many trucks from entering and leaving the factory.

Pickets also clashed with workers and occasionally with police in Oxford, Coventry and Llanelly in South Wales.

There were sharp arguments as to whether the effects of the strike launched yesterday to protest the economy layoff of 6,000 BMC workers, were diminishing or spreading.

The BMC management said 23,147 men, 1,000 more than yesterday, reported for work in defiance of jeering pickets. The normal day shift at the firm's seven plants is 43,000.

Union leaders termed the company's figure fantastic. Bob Openshaw, president of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, said members of the union at hundreds of companies had been ordered to stop work on all production designed for BMC, the biggest car manufacturing concern outside the United States.

The giant Transport and General Workers Union has blacklisted BMC products and supplies and ordered its members not to touch them.

Capital Purchases 14 British Comet Jets

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Capital Airlines today announced the purchase of 14 British Comet jet airliners.

The cost, including spare parts, was 53 million dollars.

J. H. Carmichael, president, told a news conference Capital will introduce the 68-seat Comet 4 on its New York-Chicago and Washington-Chicago routes shortly after Jan. 1, 1959.

"We believe our Comets will move the United States into the jet age six months or a year before any other domestic operator of jet aircraft," Carmichael said.

The 545-mile-an-hour Comet is being built by De Havilland Aircraft Co.

Northern Demos Fail To Pry Out Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Northern Democrats were balked by their Southern colleagues today when they tried to force Senate action on the civil rights bill. And it was apparent they would fail again should they try the same maneuver tomorrow.

The bill was passed by the House yesterday, with every indication it would die on the Senate side.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), with the support of Sens. Douglas (D-Ill) and Lehman (D-NY), offered a resolution in the Senate to pry the bill out of the Judiciary Committee and bring it to the Senate floor for immediate action.

This move failed after Sen. George (D-Ga), presiding in place of Vice President Nixon, ruled that the Hennings resolution required unanimous consent.

Acting on George's ruling, Sen. Russell (D-Ga) immediately objected to approval of the resolution.

Douglas made a second try later to get the bill to the floor but again was blocked by an objection from Russell.

Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas sided with George in agreeing that unanimous consent was required because the Senate recessed, instead of adjourned, yesterday and was technically continuing its Monday business today.

The civil rights bill, which the House passed 279-126, would set up a bipartisan commission to investigate civil rights violations, establish a civil rights division in the Justice Department, and make it easier to bypass state courts and bring suits in federal courts for alleged infringement of voting and other rights.

German Officers See Unique U.S. Plane

KISSINGEN, Germany, July 24 (AP) — Officers of the new German army's airborne forces got a look today at a U.S. plane described as "the only one in the world capable of landing in a space of less than 850 feet."

The description was offered by U. S. Air Force Col. William C. Bentley of Richmond, Va., commander of the 309th Troop Carrier Group, at a briefing for Col. Walter Gerieke, chief of the German army's airborne forces.

The plane involved is the C123B, which Bentley said can carry 60 fully equipped soldiers.

False Teeth Have Pair Of Claimants

PORT HURON, Mich., July 24 (AP)—Police had a mouthful of trouble today—two claimants for one set of false teeth.

The upper set of store teeth was found on a nearby Lake Huron beach last week. Albert Allen claimed the dentures, saying he had lost them five years ago while swimming. And his new set of uppers seemed to match those found.

Now Henry Albert says the teeth may be the ones he lost while swimming three weeks ago.

Officers said they would arrange a meeting of the two men to solve the tooth trouble.

Gov. McKeldin Honors His State Police Aide

Attending the affair at Government House were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rash; Albert Shuger; Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of State Police, and Mrs. Munshower; Motor Vehicles Commissioner and Mrs. Frank Small; Chief Inspector Ford of the Baltimore City Police Department and Mrs. Ford; Mr. and Mrs. M. William Adelson; Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Momberger Jr.; and Sheriff and Mrs. Joseph Alton of Annapolis.

McKeldin is the fifth governor Katz has served as aide in his 34 years on the State Police force. He previously had been aide to Govs. Ritchie, Nice, O'Conor and Lane.

Stray Sharks Caught In Chesapeake Bay

ANNAPOLIS, July 24 (AP)—An expert from the Department of Tidewater Fisheries said today four sharks caught in Chesapeake Bay since last Monday are probably strays who wandered into the Upper Bay behind a school of fish.

That was the guess of Edgar H. Hollis, fish and crab culturist, who examined the latest catch — an eight-foot, 500-pound shark caught off Curtis Point at the mouth of West River yesterday.

Hollis identified it as a milbert or brown shark, which is not classed as a man eater.

Disturbance Quelled At Women's Prison

JESSUP, Md., July 24 (AP)—State Police fired tear gas into a detention cottage at the Women's Reformatory today to quell a disturbance.

Miss Alice Blum, the warden, said the trouble started when 29-year-old Gladys Smith broke out of a detention cottage. Miss Blum said she intercepted the Negro narcotics law violator before she reached the prison laundry.

The woman was taken to the warden's office but she broke away again. Miss Blum caught her outside the building and during the struggle a knife fell from the inmate's clothing.

The Smith woman then ran into a cottage occupied by about 12 other inmates. Some of the others joined in the disturbance, making loud noises and breaking furniture.

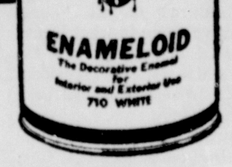

State Police transferred the women to detention quarters. When the unrest continued, tear gas was used to quiet the inmates.

U.S. Decision Not To Help Egypt With Dam Has Soviet Floundering

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The Russians seem to be floundering a bit in the wake of the Anglo-American decision not to compete with the Kremlin for the right to do Egypt a favor.

As they shift from one stance to another, the world may get a little better insight into whether, in their conduct of economic warfare, they are now feinting or fighting.

Soon after the Anglo-British announcement that they were dropping the Aswan Dam project, Russian Foreign Minister Shepilov, just returned from a prospecting trip in the Middle East, said Russia wasn't interested, either.

Both sides had previously offered to back the dam project, a long-time Egyptian dream. The Western powers pulled out because of Egypt's over-commitments in the purchase of Communist-made arms, because of her anti-Western attitude, and because they wanted to stop the tendency of small nations to play Russia against the West in the favor-buying contest.

Shepilov said he thought Egypt had better concentrate on industrialization for a while, in which Russia would be glad to help.

Apparently the Red ambassador to Cairo didn't hear his boss. Shepilov spoke on Saturday. Saturday night the ambassador said of course Russia would keep her promise to help build the dam. On Monday the ambassador was reported about to take a trip to Moscow.

What comes of that may be a clue to Russia's tactics in her foreign "aid" program.

It is only natural that Russia should prefer to participate in industrialization.

The dam is far from the political centers where infiltrating Red technicians and their cohorts can do their best work for Russia. Once built, it would be merely a monolithic structure doing its work with little supervision, replacement of parts, or change.

An industrial plant, on the other hand, like an army using foreign materiel, provides a constant contact with its originators.

Work on the dam, of course, requiring many years, would give the Reds a long-term foothold in Egypt. Its propaganda profits, however, would be slow in coming.

The money might give Russia pause, too. She still needs a lot of home construction and other things herself.

Indeed, one of the things that caused the United States to pull back was the fact that Egypt would have been getting an overwhelming proportion of all aid money allocated for africa.

Russia can get a lot of propaganda for $1,300,000,000 spent elsewhere than on the lonesome Nile.

The first wave of immigration to the United States was mainly English, along the Atlantic seaboard from 1607 to about 1640.

Payments To Il Duce Children Authorized

ROME, July 24 (AP) — A Rome court has authorized payment of monthly allowances to two of Mussolini's children.

Mussolini's youngest daughter, Anna Maria, about 25 and crippled since childhood from polio, will receive 120,000 lire ($192) monthly. His youngest son, Romano, 28, a musician, will receive 70,000 lire ($112) monthly.

Both live with their mother, Mrs. Rachele Mussolini.

The payments authorized retroactive to last May 27, will be financed from the proceeds of Mussolini's estate, confiscated after the war.

Monkey Lets His "Bride" Escape

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 24 (AP) — Afschen is a sadder and wiser monkey today. His promised bride flew the coop.

"It's all Afschen's fault," said his owner, Joseph Fleischaker. "I got him a bride last week. But he couldn't let well enough alone and wait."

Fleischaker kept Afschen, a red-haired monkey, and Nina in separate cages in his back yard.

"I wanted them to get acquainted for 30 days in their own cages," Fleischaker explained.

But sometime Saturday night, Fleischaker figures Afschen slipped a hand through the wire mesh of his cage and jiggled loose a wire hasp on Nina's cage. She bolted.

Several neighbors spotted the AWOL bride Sunday in a tree. Before they could grab her, she was gone again.

Local Minister Resigns; Will Go To Richmond

REV. F. J. ECKERT

Rev. Frederick J. Eckert will conclude his four-year pastorate at St. John's Lutheran Church September 1 when he will become pastor of First English Lutheran Church, Richmond, Va.

Rev. Eckert will succeed the late Dr. J. J. Scherer who was pastor of that church for 49 years and was president of the Virginia Synod for 35 years.

Rev. Eckert has been active in community activities during his four years in Cumberland. He has served as president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

He was on the board of directors of the YMCA, serving on youth and personnel committees. The minister also served on the board of directors of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association and was a member of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association.

In the Maryland Synod, Rev. Eckert served on the committee for parish education and was on the faculty for the church leadership school at Hood College, Frederick, for many years.

He was also chairman for evangelism for the Western Maryland area and dean and instructor of the Lutheran Leadership School for this city.

In his church, he promoted the educational program and community membership was increased. The church sanctuary was also remodeled extensively.

The congregation honored Rev. Eckert and his family at the church last night. Mrs. Raymond Witt of the Ladies Aid Society was chairman of the event.

Women Named To County Board

Two women were named members of the Allegany County Welfare Board yesterday by the county commissioners.

They are Mrs. David Kauffman, LaVale, a Democrat, and Mrs. Nelson Keys, Lonaconing, a Republican.

The appointments are for six years effective May, 1956.

Mrs. Keys has been serving the unexpired term of Rev. Joseph Young, and was appointed for the full six-year term by the board yesterday.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert, president of the county board, was reappointed a member of the Welfare Board. This action is merely a formal matter of record as the board president is automatically a member of the board.

The county board received notice yesterday that a hearing will be held before a special committee named by the Legislative Council on a proposal to create a separate office of the state fire marshal for Maryland.

The proposal was endorsed by a joint house resolution of the Legislature at the last session.

City, Towns Of County Get Race Taxes Share

A check for $69,648.51 has been received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from the state comptroller's office as the allocation of horse race taxes for the county and various incorporated communities.

The City of Cumberland will receive $29,303.29 of the total; Frostburg, $5,347.54; Westernport, $2,668.37; Lonaconing, $1,780.15; Luke, $637.70; Midland, $691.40, and Barton, $540.47.

The county's share amounts to $28,679.59. The money is allocated on a population basis.

The county board received a letter from the Allegany-Garrett County Tuberculosis Association requesting the county send the $500 donation which is made annually.

The Association said the money is to be used in clinic work in the two counties, and is needed by September 1.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert said the money will be sent next month.

A check with Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, revealed that the city is preparing to clear away debris from in front of the large drainage pipes at Dry Run on the County Farm property.

Earl Grim, superintendent of the Allegany County Infirmary, had reported the heavy rainfall of recent days backed up into the County Farm field as debris had gathered at the entrance of the drainage pipe. There is an iron grill work in front of the drain, which is part of the flood control system.

Nuzum said a boom and clam bucket will be used to remove the obstruction.

Youths Held In Connection With Thefts

Two youths have been lodged in the Detention Quarters at the Allegany County Infirmary in connection with thefts from two Oldtown area residents.

The youngsters, both 13, broke into the homes of Lionel M. Davis and James L. Cook, both of the Oldtown section, last Friday night and made off with approximately $68 in cash, according to police.

The youngsters spent considerable time planning the thefts, police said.

Knowing that the families attended Bible school Friday evening, one of the boys made a visit to the one house and "cased" the place.

During his visit the youth opened a window in the rear of the home and then departed.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, who presented the case in Juvenile Court Monday said the boys waited outside until the family had left for church, and then entered the building, taking approximately $32 in cash from different places in the house.

The same method was used on the other theft.

After obtaining the money, the youths "painted the town red," spending more than $22 in a few hours, Baker said.

Their spending spree included the movies, pinball machines, shuffleboard machines, and the purchase of watches, knives, cigarets, a cigaret lighter, cokes and candy.

The youths were later apprehended by City Police and taken before Magistrate Morris Baron Tuesday for a hearing in Juvenile Court.

Approximately $35 was recovered by authorities.

Century Club Opposes LaVale Armory Site

The Century Club of LaVale has gone on record as being opposed to erection of an armory for Army Reserve units of Cumberland and Lonaconing in the Vocke Road and Braddock section.

A proposed site on five acres fronting on Vocke Road is under consideration for the armory.

Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan, who appeared before the Board of Allegany County Commissioners as representative of the Century Club, said concern has been expressed by residents of the area near the proposed site.

They wish to keep the section as residential and fear that an armory would also include various military vehicles. She said that just what type building is to be constructed is also one of the considerations involved in the situation.

John M. Robb, of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, said his organization wanted information concerning the project. Robb said it might be well for some official of the Army Reserve who knows the facts in the case to contact the organization and explain what is planned. Robb also said the kind of structure to be erected is important to home owners in the section surrounding the proposed site.

Discussion also took place at yesterday's meeting on an application for a permit for a junk yard business on Roseville Road in the Slabtown area.

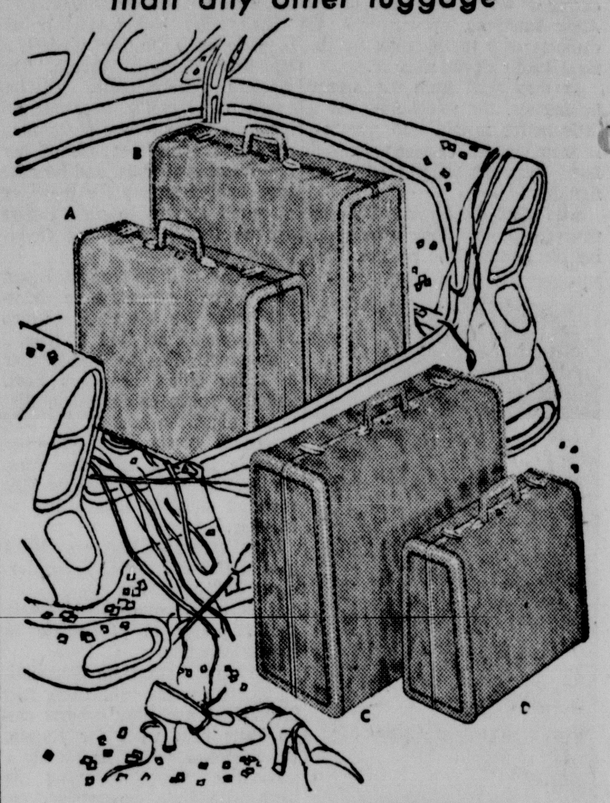

The permit was granted with Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson voting "No." He said he was being consistent in voting against the proposal as he also voted against other junk yard applications in recent months.

The business will be operated by James T. Russell. It was explained by J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, that Russell is partly disabled and it is one way available for him to earn a living. Residents near the site of the junk yard have not voiced any objections and certain regulations will be followed in operation of the yard, Chapman has been assured.

Russell has agreed to operate until 5 p. m. daily except Saturday when the quitting time will be noon, and there will be no Sunday work. He will truck away any junk as soon as it reaches a truck load, and parts of cars will be stored in a building. There will be no burning of material on the premises, it was said.

Russell was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for county commissioner in the 1954 general election.

Eckhart Man Held On Bond

A 24-year-old Eckhart man was ordered committed to the Allegany County Jail yesterday under $500 bond set at a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court.

The man, David L. Green, Eckhart, was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick on a charge of breaking and entering.

Green was apprehended by Maryland State Police in Dundalk Sunday night and returned Tuesday to face charges of breaking and entering Engles Market in Eckhart Saturday, July 14.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said approximately $1.70 in cash and an unknown quantity of meat was stolen from the market.

Sgt. Baker said 15 to 20 refrigerators and "coolers" were entered. A safe was also ransacked, Sgt. Baker said.

Green was questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's office by Edwin R. Lilya, criminal investigator for Allegany County, who assisted Sgt. Baker with the investigation.

'Mean Thief' Takes Doll Baby From Sick Child Here

The "meanest of thieves" put in an appearance in Cumberland recently and stole a large baby doll from a 16-month-old local girl who is seriously ill in Memorial Hospital.

Local police were notified of the theft by Mrs. Norma Lee Moyer of 427 Virginia Avenue.

Mrs. Moyer said that someone entered her home recently and stole the large doll which was a Christmas present for her daughter, Wendy Ann Moyer and which she had not been shown because she was ill.

Mrs. Moyer said her daughter has been in the hospital for some time, and it was decided to give her the baby doll. When Mrs. Moyer went to a hallway storage closet to get the doll, it was gone.

U.S., Philippines To Open Base Pact Revision Talks

MANILA, July 24 (AP)—The United States is sending Karl R. Bendetsen, former undersecretary of the Army, to Manila to open negotiations on revision of the 1947 U.S.-Philippine military bases agreement.

This was disclosed in a letter received by President Ramon Magsaysay from Secretary of State Dulles, who said the United States has taken steps to respond promptly to Magsaysay's desires "for an early settlement of the bases question."

Dulles wrote Magsaysay that he had instructed U. S. Ambassador Abert F. Nufer to seek agreement to the earliest possible date for opening of negotiations and Bendetsen is prepared to arrive in Manila "immediately threafter."

"Mr. Bendetsen has been informed by Vice President Nixon of his conversations with you in connection with the recent joint statement and is fully aware of the importance which we both attach to this matter as an essential step toward the mutual security interests of our two nations."

Magsaysay, in reply, requested Dulles to send Bendetsen to Manila "if possible next week."

The talks, oft postponed during the last three years, are to settle American and Philippine differences over delimination and jurisdiction in bases and facilities held by the United States in the islands. The United States currently operates three major bases—Clark Air Force Base north of Manila, and Sangley and Subic Bay naval bases west of here. There are a total of 23 bases and installations scattered throughout the islands, but most are inactive.

U. S. officials are interested in opening the talks to discuss expansion and activation of some bases, as provided for in the bases period of lease to land occupied by American forces from 99 to 25 years. The question of jurisdiction has caused considerable friction between American and Philippine officials.

A joint statement issued by Vice President Nixon and Magsaysay during Nixon's visit in Manila July 4 pledged the return of U. S. titles and title claims to bases to the Philippine government.

2,000-Year-Old Canoe

COMACCHIO, Italy, July 24 (AP)—Prof. R. Alfieri, Italian archeologist, has found a 2,000-year-old dugout canoe in an excavation on the Adriatic coast. The 32-foot-craft, dug from a tree trunk, still was in good condition.

Alaska Monster Found On Beach Not Identified

YUKUTAT, Alaska, July 24 (AP)—More than two months after its discovery on a remote Alaska beach, the carcass of an unidentified monster was being buried today by shifting sands.

Only a few inches of the head remained visible on the beach 60 miles south of here.

Estimates of the monster's size were scaled down somewhat today, after first news accounts of the mystifying find stirred interest around the country.

Donald Vent, a Yakutat fisherman who first sighted the carcass May 10, guessed the length at 40 to 60 feet.

"It would be pretty hard to estimate the length" Vent said. "The head was above ground and it was uncovered for about 18 feet back from the head. Then a section of about 10 feet was covered with sand and then another section six or eight feet was uncovered."

Bob Kederick, reporter for the Juneau, Alaska, Daily Empire, viewed the carcass last week. He said it had reddish-brown hair two inches long; a head measuring 5½ feet across and eye sockets 7 to 9 inches in diameter, about 42 inches apart.

At Seattle, Trevor Kincaid, retired University of Washington zoologist, said the description didn't fit any known animal.

Two Denver geologists, Paul Vaughn and Virgil Eastwood, visited the scene July 6 with a pilot, George Stevens.

Vaughn and Eastwood said they paced off what they thought was a "conservative" 50 feet of the carcass above ground. The rest then was buried by sand.

"The thing had a head that looked like the head of a baby elephant," said Vaughn. "It didn't look like a whale, I'll tell you that."

Stevens said the spinal bone appeared to be broken and that the carcass was in a U-shaped position, with the head toward the beach.

Dan Mortnesen of Petersburg, Alaska, who inspected the animal, a month ago, said the head was small in comparison with the rest of the body.

"The last part of the body we could see—about 40 or 50 feet from the head—had vertebrae as big around as your doubled fist," Mortensen added.

Vent said he notified the Fish and Wildlife Service of the find three weeks ago. Apparently no scientist able to make identification has visited the remote beach, reachable only by small plane.

The first case of a vessel being sent over Niagara Falls was in 1827, with a bear, a fox, a buffalo, a dog and some geese aboard. The dog, fox and buffalo were lost.

Poor House Mayor

ACQUI, Italy, July 24 (AP)—Domenico Canepa, 76, has been elected socialist mayor of Acqui but it won't change his way of living. He's turned down offers of marriage since his election. He's a bachelor. He'll keep on living in the village poor house. Mayor or not, he's still old and broke.

Florence Fashion Show Closes On Dignified Note

FLORENCE, Italy, July 24 (AP)—A rather subdued Schuberth showed here yesterday on the last afternoon of the Italian fashion openings.

The major part of his collection was sober, dignified and devoid of the drama that once made his clothes wearable only by empresses and opera singers.

He did show wide capes, split up the back to allow for Dracula type entrances, but left hanging in place. They were absolutely conservative.

Schuberth has a fling with fur, as have many Italian designers this season. For daytime, he trimmed black capes with small mink collars, white winter coats with black persian and a cocoa suit with ermine.

But he went wild like the old Schuberth with fur for evening. First shock was a gleaming black fox skirt win with a velvet jacket. From there he went on to a brown persian lamb skirt with a tan satin blouse and an astrakhan suit with a huge ermine collar and muff.

The fur finale included a mink skirt with a white lame blouse worn with an old fashioned mink stole, lame lined. Perhaps even more precious was a snowy ermine skirt topped with a white satin blouse.

His suits were fitted to the wasit with a small scale revival of belts. Three-quarter coats were straight and simple. Dinner dresses were mainly black crepe sheaths made elegant with satin cummerbunds and rhinestone jewelry.

For both short and long evening dresses, he likes the draped and ruched lantern skirt, one of the season's successes.

Germana Marucelli, well known Milanese couturier, showed earlier yesterday. Her line was called the "cocoon." Dresses were wrapped and wound securely around their wearers.

Marucelli favored long, slim tunics for day dresses and extremely narrow sheaths under flowing draperies and bouffant over skirts for evening.

Sunday Work Ordered In Czech Coal Mines

VIENNA, Austria, July 24 (AP)—Declines in Czechoslovakia's coal production have become so serious that Sunday shifts have been ordered in some mines and President Antonin Zapotocky has appealed to miners to work harder, Prague radio said today.

The radio said Sunday work was ordered in the Ostrava-Karvia coal fields to produce 60,000 tons, which reduced the accumulated July deficit by one-third.

U.S., Philippines To Open Base Pact Revision Talks

MANILA, July 24 (AP)—The United States is sending Karl R. Bendetsen, former undersecretary of the Army, to Manila to open negotiations on revision of the 1947 U.S.-Philippine military bases agreement.

This was disclosed in a letter received by President Ramon Magsaysay from Secretary of State Dulles, who said the United States has taken steps to respond promptly to Magsaysay's desires "for an early settlement of the bases question."

Dulles wrote Magsaysay that he had instructed U. S. Ambassador Abert F. Nufer to seek agreement to the earliest possible date for opening of negotiations and Bendetsen is prepared to arrive in Manila "immediately threafter."

"Mr. Bendetsen has been informed by Vice President Nixon of his conversations with you in connection with the recent joint statement and is fully aware of the importance which we both attach to this matter as an essential step toward the mutual security interests of our two nations."

Magsaysay, in reply, requested Dulles to send Bendetsen to Manila "if possible next week."

The talks, oft postponed during the last three years, are to settle American and Philippine differences over delimination and jurisdiction in bases and facilities held by the United States in the islands. The United States currently operates three major bases—Clark Air Force Base north of Manila, and Sangley and Subic Bay naval bases west of here. There are a total of 23 bases and installations scattered throughout the islands, but most are inactive.

U. S. officials are interested in opening the talks to discuss expansion and activation of some bases, as provided for in the bases period of lease to land occupied by American forces from 99 to 25 years. The question of jurisdiction has caused considerable friction between American and Philippine officials.

A joint statement issued by Vice President Nixon and Magsaysay during Nixon's visit in Manila July 4 pledged the return of U. S. titles and title claims to bases to the Philippine government.

2,000-Year-Old Canoe

COMACCHIO, Italy, July 24 (AP)—Prof. R. Alfieri, Italian archeologist, has found a 2,000-year-old dugout canoe in an excavation on the Adriatic coast. The 32-foot-craft, dug from a tree trunk, still was in good condition.

Alaska Monster Found On Beach Not Identified

YUKUTAT, Alaska, July 24 (AP)—More than two months after its discovery on a remote Alaska beach, the carcass of an unidentified monster was being buried today by shifting sands.

Only a few inches of the head remained visible on the beach 60 miles south of here.

Estimates of the monster's size were scaled down somewhat today, after first news accounts of the mystifying find stirred interest around the country.

Donald Vent, a Yakutat fisherman who first sighted the carcass May 10, guessed the length at 40 to 60 feet.

"It would be pretty hard to estimate the length" Vent said. "The head was above ground and it was uncovered for about 18 feet back from the head. Then a section of about 10 feet was covered with sand and then another section six or eight feet was uncovered."

Bob Kederick, reporter for the Juneau, Alaska, Daily Empire, viewed the carcass last week. He said it had reddish-brown hair two inches long; a head measuring 5½ feet across and eye sockets 7 to 9 inches in diameter, about 42 inches apart.

At Seattle, Trevor Kincaid, retired University of Washington zoologist, said the description didn't fit any known animal.

Two Denver geologists, Paul Vaughn and Virgil Eastwood, visited the scene July 6 with a pilot, George Stevens.

Vaughn and Eastwood said they paced off what they thought was a "conservative" 50 feet of the carcass above ground. The rest then was buried by sand.

"The thing had a head that looked like the head of a baby elephant," said Vaughn. "It didn't look like a whale, I'll tell you that."

Stevens said the spinal bone appeared to be broken and that the carcass was in a U-shaped position, with the head toward the beach.

Dan Mortnesen of Petersburg, Alaska, who inspected the animal, a month ago, said the head was small in comparison with the rest of the body.

"The last part of the body we could see—about 40 or 50 feet from the head—had vertebrae as big around as your doubled fist," Mortensen added.

Kennel Club Plans Third Show At Annual Outing

Plans for the third annual All Breed Show were discussed and a mock dog show was held at the annual picnic of the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club, held at Cliff Jeffries' cottage near Grantsville Sunday. About 50 members of the kennel club and the Potomac Valley Lions Club attended.

"Best in Show" award was won by Sheba, the Doberman Pinscher, owned and shown by Walter Derlan, Cumberland. Favorable comment was made about Little Major's Stardust II, Pomeranian, shown by Mrs. Kenneth Weber of Ligonier, Pa.

Directed by R. J. Boniece, the mock show was planned to acquaint both the novice exhibitor and dog with the techniques of successful show ring handling, and to train stewards for the club's All Breed Show in September. Ten dogs were paraded before Mr. Jeffries, who passed judgment on the dogs and also demonstrated to the handlers how to show the dog to bring out its best qualities. Breeds represented were Chihuahua, Pomeranian, Doberman Pinscher, Dachshund, Shetland Sheepdog, Miniature Schnauzer and Boston Terrier.

July 27 the Upper Potomac Valley Obedience Training class will hold its final session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prichard, Route 40, Grantsville, beginning at 7:30 p. m. It will consist of an examination with awards for the highest scoring dogs in two groups. A social hour will follow the class.

In planning the third annual All Breed show in September, it was announced that this year's event will be held in the armory at Frostburg. Conflicting dates made it necessary for the club to change the location from the Cumberland Fair Grounds. It was pointed out that show dates are set up by the American Kennel Club over a period of years, and are impossible to change because of the number of shows. A record entry, with approximately 70 breeds, is expected.

Social Chart

Co. Homemaker Chairmen To Compile 1957 Program

The 1957 Program Planning meetings have been scheduled by Miss Mary Wise early next month for project chairmen of homemaker clubs throughout the county.

Each chairman is asked to submit ideas concerning what should be included in the program, which will make it one that meets the needs and wishes of club members.

There is a meeting of each of the five major subject areas, and then a concluding meeting for county chairmen of all committees, at which time the information gathered from the previous meetings will be compiled into one program.

August 6 the Clothing chairmen will meet at 1:30; August 7, Family Life chairmen will meet at 10:30 a. m.; and at 1:30 the Food and Nutrition chairmen will meet. Two meetings are scheduled for August 10 also, the Home Furnishing chairmen will meet at 10:30 a. m., and the Home Management chairmen at 1:30.

Kennel Club Plans Third Show At Annual Outing

Plans for the third annual All Breed Show were discussed and a mock dog show was held at the annual picnic of the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club, held at Cliff Jeffries' cottage near Grantsville Sunday. About 50 members of the kennel club and the Potomac Valley Lions Club attended.

"Best in Show" award was won by Sheba, the Doberman Pinscher, owned and shown by Walter Derlan, Cumberland. Favorable comment was made about Little Major's Stardust II, Pomeranian, shown by Mrs. Kenneth Weber of Ligonier, Pa.

Directed by R. J. Boniece, the mock show was planned to acquaint both the novice exhibitor and dog with the techniques of successful show ring handling, and to train stewards for the club's All Breed Show in September. Ten dogs were paraded before Mr. Jeffries, who passed judgment on the dogs and also demonstrated to the handlers how to show the dog to bring out its best qualities. Breeds represented were Chihuahua, Pomeranian, Doberman Pinscher, Dachshund, Shetland Sheepdog, Miniature Schnauzer and Boston Terrier.

July 27 the Upper Potomac Valley Obedience Training class will hold its final session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prichard, Route 40, Grantsville, beginning at 7:30 p. m. It will consist of an examination with awards for the highest scoring dogs in two groups. A social hour will follow the class.

In planning the third annual All Breed show in September, it was announced that this year's event will be held in the armory at Frostburg. Conflicting dates made it necessary for the club to change the location from the Cumberland Fair Grounds. It was pointed out that show dates are set up by the American Kennel Club over a period of years, and are impossible to change because of the number of shows. A record entry, with approximately 70 breeds, is expected.

Reddick Ordered Virkutis To Sign Blank Licenses

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) — Dr. Simon Virkutis testified today that Dr. Robert H. Reddick ordered him to sign blank licenses for the practice of medicine and surgery in Maryland.

Virkutis said he was acting in his capacity as president of the State Board of Homeopathic Medical Examiners and complied with the order because Reddick was then secretary-treasurer of the board.

The testimony came in the second day of a Circuit Court hearing on the State's bid to dissolve the Reddick-Virkutis board.

The State, contending this agency is illegally constituted, recognizes a board headed by Dr. Julius Chepko as the legal board of homeopathic medical examiners.

Virkutis told Judge Joseph R. Byrnes he signed "maybe 35, maybe 40" blank licenses without knowing for whom they would be filled out. He said he did so because he trusted Reddick, his superior at the Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge, where both are psychiatrists.

Two other members of the board which the State seeks to dissolve—Drs. Alexander J. Mozzer of Cumberland and Dr. Lloyd W. Hughes of College Park—testified they had never attended a meeting of the board.

They also said they had never taken part in licensing applicants and had never seen Reddick until the court proceedings which began yesterday.

Reddick Ordered Virkutis To Sign Blank Licenses

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) — Dr. Simon Virkutis testified today that Dr. Robert H. Reddick ordered him to sign blank licenses for the practice of medicine and surgery in Maryland.

Virkutis said he was acting in his capacity as president of the State Board of Homeopathic Medical Examiners and complied with the order because Reddick was then secretary-treasurer of the board.

The testimony came in the second day of a Circuit Court hearing on the State's bid to dissolve the Reddick-Virkutis board.

The State, contending this agency is illegally constituted, recognizes a board headed by Dr. Julius Chepko as the legal board of homeopathic medical examiners.

Virkutis told Judge Joseph R. Byrnes he signed "maybe 35, maybe 40" blank licenses without knowing for whom they would be filled out. He said he did so because he trusted Reddick, his superior at the Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge, where both are psychiatrists.

Two other members of the board which the State seeks to dissolve—Drs. Alexander J. Mozzer of Cumberland and Dr. Lloyd W. Hughes of College Park—testified they had never attended a meeting of the board.

They also said they had never taken part in licensing applicants and had never seen Reddick until the court proceedings which began yesterday.

McCain Named McKeldin Aide

Ex-SRC Head To Expedite Public Works

RUSSELL H. McCAIN

ANNAPOLIS, July 24 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin late today appointed Russell H. McCain, former State Roads Commission chairman, as an executive assistant to the governor.

McCain will receive an annual salary of $10,000. His primary job will be expediting public works projects of the administration. He will begin his new duties Thursday.

"I have long felt that a capable engineer with a thorough knowledge of the State government and its activities would be a most valuable asset to this office," McKeldin said.

"Mr. McCain has the qualifications."

McCain was displaced as chairman of the roads commission in a reorganization of the big spending agency last June 15. McKeldin named Robert O. Bonnell, Baltimore banker, to succeed him.

The governor said at that time he would like McCain to stay on with the State government.

The Frederick engineer drew a $15,000 annual salary as SRC chairman, a post he had held since 1951.

McKeldin, in announcing McCain's new appointment, said he was bringing him into the governor's office "because of the continuing rise in the volume of work in the executive department and the various public projects which demand executive attention, both in facilitating initiation and in the course of their progress."

In his new job McCain will be responsible for coordinating and expediting work on such projects as the new State office buildings in Baltimore and Annapolis, hospitals and other State structures.

As head of the roads commission he supervised work which included Maryland's 12-year, 568-million-dollar highway program and the Baltimore harbor tunnel.

The commission became an issue in the 1954 campaign for governor when Democratic candidate H. C. Byrd accused the commission of "favoritism, waste and extravagance." He was particularly critical of an arrangement whereby the real estate firm of David S. Nichols, a recent member of the roads agency, would share a 7½ per cent fee for acquiring tunnel rights of way.

The 1955 Legislature saw several proposals to investigate the commission's handling of the tunnel project and roads program, but a split among Senate Democrats prevented passage. Later a Legislative Council inquiry resulted in criticism of the harbor tunnel deal.

As executive assistant, McCain will be the fifth member of McKeldin's personal staff. The others are Albert W. Quinn, assistant to the governor; Mrs. Mildred K. Momberger and William A. Gresham, administrative assistants, and Thomas S. Carr, executive secretary.

Baltimore Attorney Heads U. Of Md. Alumni

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 24 (AP)—The new president of the University of Maryland Alumni Association is J. Gilbert Prendergast, a Baltimore attorney and a member of the class of 1933.

Others elected for the 1956-57 year were Joseph H. Deckman, class of '31 and president of Robinson, Inc., of Washington, vice-president, and Mrs. Agnes McNutt Kricker of Baltimore and class of '31, second vice-president. The executive secretary is David L. Brigham.

Assessor Plans Photos Of Home

HAGERSTOWN, July 24 (AP)—The Washington County supervisor of assessments announced today he would photograph the homes of all property owners protesting their increased assessments.

All Hagerstown property is being reassessed this year under the newly inaugurated statewide policy of annual assessments. The assessments are averaging 50 to 60 per cent of actual value.

Supervisor Simon Clopper said the photographs would be turned over to the county commissioners who begin hearings Monday on the hundreds of official protests coming in from property owners.

Clopper said he eventually plans to photograph all homes and property in the county and make the pictures part of his permanent assessment files.

Meanwhile, Clopper said, he was looking for a full time public relations expert to educate the public on the assessment situation. Many of the protests coming in, Clopper said, stem from a lack of knowledge on the part of the public.

"What we need is somebody to sell home owners on their new assessments," he added.

Two Conscientious Objectors Convicted

WHEELING, W. Va., July 24 (AP)—Two conscientious objectors to military duty were convicted in federal court today but a third went free.

Kenneth Melvin Reed of Huntington was acquitted on a charge of refusing to do assigned work of "national importance."

The record showed Reed was charged with refusing military service because of his religious beliefs as a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

Motions for judgment of acquittal were denied by Federal Judge Herbert S. Boreman in the cases of Carl Vane Miller and Louis Osborn Phillips, both residents near Elkins in Randolph County.

Phillips was sentenced to five years in the custody of the U.S. Attorney General, while Miller received a term of three years.

$100,000 Road Damage

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 24 (AP)—Eugene Geary, Washington County Roads supervisor, estimated today the cost of making repairs to county roads damaged by last weekends heavy rains and flash floods will exceed $100,000.

Effect Of Heavy Rains In State Both Good, Bad

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 24 (AP)—Heavy rains during the past week have replenished soil moisture reserves throughout most of Maryland and Delaware, but harvest of wheat and oats was interrupted in the northern half of the area by the downpours.

The weekly report by the University of Maryland's extension service said the rains also caused some damage from soil erosion over the weekend and hail earlier in the week in parts of north central Maryland.

A considerable amount of wheat and winter oats still remained to be harvested in that area, and cutting of second growth alfalfa was delayed to wait for drier weather.

Earliest fields of corn were just beginning to tassel in the northern counties, while in Southern Maryland and the lower Eastern Shore early corn was in silk. The crop continued to be plagued by insects, especially corn borers and sap beetles. The European corn borer was especially numerous in sweet corn in Frederick and Carroll Counties and in Delaware.

Picking of tomatoes was expected to begin this week on the Eastern Shore, and crown fruit in early cantaloup fields was expected by July 25 in Wicomico County.

Orchardists in the Smithburg burg fruit area were picking Transparents. Harves of early varieties of peaches was expected to begin next week in the same area.

Summer Kitchen Blocks Highway

BOONSBORO, Md., July 24 (AP)—Mrs. Martha Dagenheart's summer kitchen is blocking Maryland 34. And the State Roads Commission wishes she would move it.

The single-story summer kitchen was washed away from Mrs. Dagenheart's home between here and Keedysville, in last Friday night's flash flood. It floated onto Maryland 34 where it blocked one lane of traffic.

The roads commission asked her to have it moved but gave her an extra day because she thought she had a buyer for the 12-by-15-foot gabled roofed building. Her buyer didn't show up. The SRC put up warning lights, directing traffic around the obstruction.

If Mrs. Dagenheart doesn't move it by tomorrow, the roads commission said it would have to take action.

Postmaster Nominated

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP) — President Eisenhower sent 86 postmaster nominations to the Senate today including: Emil E. Frye, Chapmanville, W. Va.

JOSEPH MILANO, who stands 4 feet 7, and his wife, who is 3 feet 7, are shown in Cleveland with their three-week-old daughter, Mary Ann, who is not only a normal child but is fast outgrowing them both. Mary Ann weighed 4 pounds 7 ounces at birth and has now reached 5 pounds and 2 ounces. They're happy about it. (International)

Job's Daughters Protest Baltimore Co. School Ban

TOWSON, Md., July 24 (AP)—Officials of Job's Daughters, girls' branch of the Masonic order, hit the ceiling today because the Baltimore County school system had banned their organization as a secret school society.

The school board grouped Job's Daughters with such outfits as the Piston Pushers, Lower Bason Street and Insect Collectors.

Mrs. Minnie A. Hatfield, grand guardian of the Baltimore Order of Job's Daughters, said the group is not more of "school organization" than the Girl Scouts or the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Board of education members recently expressed alarm at the growth of fraternities, sororities and other "secret" social groups among public school pupils.

Mrs. Hatfield said membership in Job's Daughters is based on strong religious principles and the order strives to teach those lessons which make for a better and more wholesome life.

"No activity of the order is carried on at any school in Baltimore County, and no activity of the members is ever allowed without adult chaperones," Mrs. Hatfield said.

Ernest E. Wooden, president of the School Board, said today he is looking into Mrs. Hatfield's protest, but final action will have to await next month's board meeting.

State school regulations prohibit pupil membership in any "secret" organization "which seeks to organize and perpetuate itself by taking in members from among pupils."

Mrs. Hatfield acknowledged Job's Daughters does have some secret ceremonies not open to the general public, but she denied that it has any more effect on the school system than the Girl Scouts or M. Y. F.

Lightning Kills Surf Fisherman

OCEAN CITY, Md., July 24 (AP)—Lightning from a sudden squall killed one surf fisherman and injured another early last night as the two were putting away their gear to escape the coming rain.

William G. Moore, 55, of Millsboro, Del., was pronounced dead of "electrocution by lightning."

Charles E. Littleton, 41, also of Millsboro, said he neither heard nor saw the lightning bolt. He said they were stowing their equipment, and the next thing he knew, he was regaining consciousness lying face down in the sand. Moore was lying about 50 feet away.

Dr. Francis J. Townsend, Jr., deputy medical examiner, speculated that a metal brace Moore was wearing for a slipped disc in his back acted as a conductor for the lightning.

Flood Relief Center Set Up At Keedysville

KEEDYSVILLE, Md., July 24 (AP)—The American Red Cross today set up a disaster relief center in this Washington County community hit hard by last weekend's torrential rains and flash flooding.

Many persons were forced out of their homes temporarily by high water and others suffered property damage when the flood waters invades their houses.

Robert Murphy of the Red Cross said the center will be open today and tomorrow to take applications for assistance. More than a dozen families were recommended for aid today, he said.

Yacht Located

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) —The Coast Guard reported today it had located a 33-foot yacht reported missing on a cruise from Long Island to Oxford, Md. The boat was found tied up at Cape May, N.J.

The owner, Mrs. Ruth Dubb, gave no explanation for not notifying authorities of the change in sailing schedule, the Coast Guard said. The craft departed from Long Island on July 1.

$472,760 Low Bid For Road Project

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) — F. P. Asher and Sons, Inc., of Annapolis, was the apparent low bidder at the State Roads Commission today on a contract to grade, drain, widen, relocate and surface six miles of Maryland 545 near Elkton.

The firm offered to do the work for $472,760.50. There were four other bidders.

A. H. Smith of Branchville, Md. had a low bid of $130,920 to resurface nearly 12 miles of Maryland 231 from Hughesville to Prince Frederick.

McKeldin, in announcing McCain's new appointment, said he was bringing him into the governor's office "because of the continuing rise in the volume of work in the executive department and the various public projects which demand executive attention, both in facilitating initiation and in the course of their progress."

In his new job McCain will be responsible for coordinating and expediting work on such projects as the new State office buildings in Baltimore and Annapolis, hospitals and other State structures.

As head of the roads commission he supervised work which included Maryland's 12-year, 568-million-dollar highway program and the Baltimore harbor tunnel.

The commission became an issue in the 1954 campaign for governor when Democratic candidate H. C. Byrd accused the commission of "favoritism, waste and extravagance." He was particularly critical of an arrangement whereby the real estate firm of David S. Nichols, a recent member of the roads agency, would share a 7½ per cent fee for acquiring tunnel rights of way.

The 1955 Legislature saw several proposals to investigate the commission's handling of the tunnel project and roads program, but a split among Senate Democrats prevented passage. Later a Legislative Council inquiry resulted in criticism of the harbor tunnel deal.

As executive assistant, McCain will be the fifth member of McKeldin's personal staff. The others are Albert W. Quinn, assistant to the governor; Mrs. Mildred K. Momberger and William A. Gresham, administrative assistants, and Thomas S. Carr, executive secretary.

Assessor Plans Photos Of Home

HAGERSTOWN, July 24 (AP)—The Washington County supervisor of assessments announced today he would photograph the homes of all property owners protesting their increased assessments.

All Hagerstown property is being reassessed this year under the newly inaugurated statewide policy of annual assessments. The assessments are averaging 50 to 60 per cent of actual value.

Supervisor Simon Clopper said the photographs would be turned over to the county commissioners who begin hearings Monday on the hundreds of official protests coming in from property owners.

Clopper said he eventually plans to photograph all homes and property in the county and make the pictures part of his permanent assessment files.

Meanwhile, Clopper said, he was looking for a full time public relations expert to educate the public on the assessment situation. Many of the protests coming in, Clopper said, stem from a lack of knowledge on the part of the public.

"What we need is somebody to sell home owners on their new assessments," he added.

Two Conscientious Objectors Convicted

WHEELING, W. Va., July 24 (AP)—Two conscientious objectors to military duty were convicted in federal court today but a third went free.

Kenneth Melvin Reed of Huntington was acquitted on a charge of refusing to do assigned work of "national importance."

The record showed Reed was charged with refusing military service because of his religious beliefs as a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

Motions for judgment of acquittal were denied by Federal Judge Herbert S. Boreman in the cases of Carl Vane Miller and Louis Osborn Phillips, both residents near Elkins in Randolph County.

Phillips was sentenced to five years in the custody of the U.S. Attorney General, while Miller received a term of three years.

Baltimore Attorney Heads U. Of Md. Alumni

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 24 (AP)—The new president of the University of Maryland Alumni Association is J. Gilbert Prendergast, a Baltimore attorney and a member of the class of 1933.

Others elected for the 1956-57 year were Joseph H. Deckman, class of '31 and president of Robinson, Inc., of Washington, vice-president, and Mrs. Agnes McNutt Kricker of Baltimore and class of '31, second vice-president. The executive secretary is David L. Brigham.

Effect Of Heavy Rains In State Both Good, Bad

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 24 (AP)—Heavy rains during the past week have replenished soil moisture reserves throughout most of Maryland and Delaware, but harvest of wheat and oats was interrupted in the northern half of the area by the downpours.

The weekly report by the University of Maryland's extension service said the rains also caused some damage from soil erosion over the weekend and hail earlier in the week in parts of north central Maryland.

A considerable amount of wheat and winter oats still remained to be harvested in that area, and cutting of second growth alfalfa was delayed to wait for drier weather.

Earliest fields of corn were just beginning to tassel in the northern counties, while in Southern Maryland and the lower Eastern Shore early corn was in silk. The crop continued to be plagued by insects, especially corn borers and sap beetles. The European corn borer was especially numerous in sweet corn in Frederick and Carroll Counties and in Delaware.

Picking of tomatoes was expected to begin this week on the Eastern Shore, and crown fruit in early cantaloup fields was expected by July 25 in Wicomico County.

Orchardists in the Smithburg burg fruit area were picking Transparents. Harves of early varieties of peaches was expected to begin next week in the same area.

Summer Kitchen Blocks Highway

BOONSBORO, Md., July 24 (AP)—Mrs. Martha Dagenheart's summer kitchen is blocking Maryland 34. And the State Roads Commission wishes she would move it.

The single-story summer kitchen was washed away from Mrs. Dagenheart's home between here and Keedysville, in last Friday night's flash flood. It floated onto Maryland 34 where it blocked one lane of traffic.

The roads commission asked her to have it moved but gave her an extra day because she thought she had a buyer for the 12-by-15-foot gabled roofed building. Her buyer didn't show up. The SRC put up warning lights, directing traffic around the obstruction.

If Mrs. Dagenheart doesn't move it by tomorrow, the roads commission said it would have to take action.

Postmaster Nominated

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP) — President Eisenhower sent 86 postmaster nominations to the Senate today including: Emil E. Frye, Chapmanville, W. Va.

JOSEPH MILANO, who stands 4 feet 7, and his wife, who is 3 feet 7, are shown in Cleveland with their three-week-old daughter, Mary Ann, who is not only a normal child but is fast outgrowing them both. Mary Ann weighed 4 pounds 7 ounces at birth and has now reached 5 pounds and 2 ounces. They're happy about it. (International)

Job's Daughters Protest Baltimore Co. School Ban

TOWSON, Md., July 24 (AP)—Officials of Job's Daughters, girls' branch of the Masonic order, hit the ceiling today because the Baltimore County school system had banned their organization as a secret school society.

The school board grouped Job's Daughters with such outfits as the Piston Pushers, Lower Bason Street and Insect Collectors.

Mrs. Minnie A. Hatfield, grand guardian of the Baltimore Order of Job's Daughters, said the group is not more of "school organization" than the Girl Scouts or the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Board of education members recently expressed alarm at the growth of fraternities, sororities and other "secret" social groups among public school pupils.

Mrs. Hatfield said membership in Job's Daughters is based on strong religious principles and the order strives to teach those lessons which make for a better and more wholesome life.

"No activity of the order is carried on at any school in Baltimore County, and no activity of the members is ever allowed without adult chaperones," Mrs. Hatfield said.

Ernest E. Wooden, president of the School Board, said today he is looking into Mrs. Hatfield's protest, but final action will have to await next month's board meeting.

State school regulations prohibit pupil membership in any "secret" organization "which seeks to organize and perpetuate itself by taking in members from among pupils."

Mrs. Hatfield acknowledged Job's Daughters does have some secret ceremonies not open to the general public, but she denied that it has any more effect on the school system than the Girl Scouts or M. Y. F.

Lightning Kills Surf Fisherman

OCEAN CITY, Md., July 24 (AP)—Lightning from a sudden squall killed one surf fisherman and injured another early last night as the two were putting away their gear to escape the coming rain.

William G. Moore, 55, of Millsboro, Del., was pronounced dead of "electrocution by lightning."

Charles E. Littleton, 41, also of Millsboro, said he neither heard nor saw the lightning bolt. He said they were stowing their equipment, and the next thing he knew, he was regaining consciousness lying face down in the sand. Moore was lying about 50 feet away.

Dr. Francis J. Townsend, Jr., deputy medical examiner, speculated that a metal brace Moore was wearing for a slipped disc in his back acted as a conductor for the lightning.

Flood Relief Center Set Up At Keedysville

KEEDYSVILLE, Md., July 24 (AP)—The American Red Cross today set up a disaster relief center in this Washington County community hit hard by last weekend's torrential rains and flash flooding.

Many persons were forced out of their homes temporarily by high water and others suffered property damage when the flood waters invades their houses.

Robert Murphy of the Red Cross said the center will be open today and tomorrow to take applications for assistance. More than a dozen families were recommended for aid today, he said.

Yacht Located

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) —The Coast Guard reported today it had located a 33-foot yacht reported missing on a cruise from Long Island to Oxford, Md. The boat was found tied up at Cape May, N.J.

The owner, Mrs. Ruth Dubb, gave no explanation for not notifying authorities of the change in sailing schedule, the Coast Guard said. The craft departed from Long Island on July 1.

$472,760 Low Bid For Road Project

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) — F. P. Asher and Sons, Inc., of Annapolis, was the apparent low bidder at the State Roads Commission today on a contract to grade, drain, widen, relocate and surface six miles of Maryland 545 near Elkton.

The firm offered to do the work for $472,760.50. There were four other bidders.

A. H. Smith of Branchville, Md. had a low bid of $130,920 to resurface nearly 12 miles of Maryland 231 from Hughesville to Prince Frederick.

A Growing Problem Facing Industry

The Health Information Foundation estimates that close to one in every 10 Americans today is more than 65 years old. In 1900 the ratio was one in 25.

Projecting the picture of aging into the future, a leader in the American Medical Association has predicted that within the next 20 years one in every seven Americans will have reached the age which industry has pretty well settled upon for automatic retirement. And he added that a life span of 100 will become increasingly common as the years go by.

The debate over compulsory retirement at 65 is not new but suggestions for replacing it with something else seem little nearer adoption than when it started. But the picture keeps changing. Statistics show that the burden of older people who become public charges is likely to increase with the years. In 1950 the cost of public care for these men and women was $1.1 billion, according to federal experts. These same experts estimate that by 1970 the cost of this care will have risen to $11.3 billion.

While there also is an increasing number of oldsters who are able, financially and otherwise, to care for themselves, the public expense of care for the others is not the only economic loss involved in the 65-year retirement practice. With the head of one giant American corporation estimating that 20 per cent of the employes his concern pensions at 65 could be retained at a profit to the company, a California phychiatrist has arrived at $5 billion annually as the cost to industry of its arbitrary retirement limit.

Industry is not blind to the value of the skill and experience it sets aside each year. But management has its sensibilities as well as others. It can be expected to stand on some automatic retirement policy as long as it otherwise might have to put the finger on those workers who can continue and those who cannot.

Possibly some new formula for retirement is not far off. And it could be it will come from among those oldsters who, put out to pasture at 65, are sure to get an even sharper picture of the problem than younger workers. Age and experience may pay off there, too.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Right To Agitate

I received a circular letter from Professor Louise Pettibone Smith whom I do not know and never heard of before. What the lady is a professor of, I also do not know, but it so appears on her letterhead. She addresses me as "Dear Friend," but how it comes about that she and I are friends, I also do not know. Friendship in absentia is something new, although I have one such friend, as Tchaikovsky had, with whom I correspond entertainingly and also for my edification, but whom I have never met. Recently when I was in a hospital, she came all the way from Washington to see me, but in those days the doctors would not permit me visitors lest I die from not being bored.

However, Professor Louise Pettibone Smith is new to me as never before have I heard from her. What she wants me to do is to send two dollars during July and August, making a total of four dollars, to the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, which I suspect is not a good thing to do. My father and mother were foreign born but they needed no protection because they were happy to be here and away from the pogroms of old Russia and Poland, pogroms which seem to be starting all over again under the drunken reign of Nikita Khrushchev. In fact, all my relations of the older generation were foreign born and none of them needed protection.

Professor Louise Pettibone Smith wants the four dollars because she says the attorney general plans to denaturalize 10,000 citizens and to deport 15,000 non-citizens solely because of their political beliefs. The figures look a little high to me, but it would seem that what Mr. Brownell proposes is to give those who love Soviet Russia or some satellite more than the United States an opportunity to go to the land of their affection after due process of the law here. It would seem that the way the Supreme Court has been behaving, there is a possibility that these people will be deprived of going to the lands they love. It is too bad.

In a circular attached to Professor Smith's letter, appears the following:

"During July as many families are just beginning to get away from the cities, 14 New York non-citizens will be challenging the supervisory parole provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law.

"The 14 have been ordered deported because of past or present political beliefs. The Justice Department, unable to effect their deportation, has placed them on supervisory parole which means: remaining within 50 miles of Times Square; periodic reporting to a Justice Department agent; when reporting being forced to answer questions relative to friends, associates, habits and work; submitting to medical and psychiatric examination."

For this, shall I send four dollars? Why does she not appeal to Comrade Khrushchev to pay these expenses? These guys were working for him or for his predecessor, Stalin, or they would not have got into this particular trouble.

This country is full of foreign born who are happy to be here and who never get into trouble with Attorney General Brownell because they do not violate the law. They do not even have to wait for the Supreme Court to save them from the bell. They go through life attending to their own affairs and causing no trouble for anyone.

Of course, if a fellow who was graciously permitted by our laws to settle in this country, to raise a family here and to live under the advantages of our liberties and our laws, wants to upset the country, to change its form of government, to make it conform to patterns arranged in the Kremlin, he is bound to get into trouble, not because he exercises freedom of speech but because he is working for an enemy state and an enemy civilization that seeks to destroy us. Also some of these prospective deportees are dope peddlers.

There are those who believe that now that Stalin is dead and that Khrushchev has called him all sorts of names, the world has changed and that we should hereafter smile at those who spit upon us. Such are bound to suffer a rude repulse from the American people as they have been encountering for some time such rejections.

"This Is What I Like About Him"

Closing Days Of Congress Are Used In Behalf Of Special Interest Bills

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives of the United States was creaking slowly to a close. It had been a long day. The four-year-old son of Congressman Farncis Dorn of Brooklyn squirmed and fidgited. He had been sitting beside his father, as an education in government, all week; and he had been remarkably good. But it was 6:30 p. m. and small boys get hungry . . . Two seats in front, Congresswoman Cecil Harden of Indiana, who has three grandchildren, looked as if she could have taken care of him, but she sat engrossed in offiical papers . . . In the speaker's chair, Sam Rayburn, bald, placid, patient, looked out over the chamber. He had been a member of that chamber for 42 years, had sat for 12 years as speaker, riding herd on its hectic sessions, watching bill after bill argued, wrangled over, voted on, defeated or passed, to become, for better or for worse, the law of the United States . . . Thus the laws are made, thus the people of the United States are governed.

Alaska Hospital

Speaker Rayburn squinted from the rostrum at the machinery of democracy in motion. It was in slow motion. None of the lightning repartee and fireworks that featured debate on civil rights . . . The momentous question of Alaska's right to build its own hospital for the insane was being debated. Congressman Leo O'Brien spoke for this right. O'Brien comes from Albany, N. Y., and is a Democrat. Yet he understood Alaskan problems thoroughly. He also spoke for the Eisenhower administration . . .

At the leader's table on the Democratic side, sat Bob Bartlett, delegate of Alaska, with no right to vote, but the right to speak . . . Beside him sat Edith Green of Portland, Ore., now a congresswoman. She had pioneered the hospital. . . Over on the Republican side, "Doc" Miller of Nebraska, walked about, supporting himself with a stick, asking questions. He opposed the hospital. So did other Republicans—Hosmer of California, Gross of Iowa . . . Dawson of Utah, Republican, didn't. "Those of us who supported this bill have been labeled traitors and Communists," he said, "but we think the mentally ill of Alaska have a right to be cared for in Alaska, near their homes, not shipped 2,000 miles away from home." . . . Martin-Dies of Texas stopped chewing a cigar to ask helpful questions . . . The debate droned on, the machinery of democracy at work, giving minute attention to a problem far from Washington affecting only a few hundred . . . The bill passed.

Sneaky Democracy

The machinery of democracy is not always so careful. It can be rambunctious. It can go on selfish, cruel rampages. It can also be sneaky . . . This is the time, as Congress grinds to a close, when the lobbyists stand in the lobbies ready to push across their pet bills benefiting those few who pay them . . . The school bill, benefiting millions, failed of passage. The equality of opportunity bill helping thousands of small businessmen, got stuck in the Senate, blocked by Welker of Idaho and Jenner of Indiana. The clean elections bill to stop the buying of elections hasn't gotten off the ground in the Senate . . . But a dozen bills benefiting a few and costing millions are poised on the brink of passage, will be sneaked across in these last hectic days . . . One of them would wipe out Roosevelt's New Deal banking reform, passed after the 1933 bank failures, which allows minority stockholders to sit on bank boards. The American Bankers' Association doesn't like minority directors and Chairman Brent Spence of Kentucky, prodded by White House emissaries, has suddenly been pushing for last minute passage.

Steamship Give-Away

Friends of Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic also have a ship deal they are trying to sneak across during the last minutes of play. Congressman Zelenko of New York is trying to block it . . . The return of German property was also readied for a final push when nobody was looking, but somebody looked. It has now been blocked . . . Most brazen sneak bill was put across by Bonner of North Carolina, who's had a good record in the past. He engineered a give-away for the McLean trucking firm of his state which has purchased the Waterman Steamship Company, and plans to carry trucks piggy-back up the Atlantic Coast on steamships . . . Bonner's bill would permit McLean to sell his ships to the government for $1,600,000 each for which it paid the government $956,000 nine years ago . . . It takes alert congressmen to make the wheels of democracy run efficiently. Zelenko, the New York Democrat, and Van Zandt, the Pennsylvania Republican, were alert, blocked the give-away from sneaking through on the unanimous consent calendar. Here one vote can block a bill . . . So Bonner sidestepped. He pulled back his bill, asked that he have the right to put it through normal legislative channels without unanimous consent. This was given him —but with the promise that he wouldn't put his give-away on the unanimous consent calendar again . . . But when his give-away got blocked in the Rules Committee, the gentleman from North Carolina ignored his promise and sneaked his give-away back on the unanimous consent calendar. Watchdogs Zelenko and Van Zandt, who accepted Bonner's promise, weren't watching, and the give-away passed . . . Thus operate the cumbersome wheels of democracy—most of the time for the public good, sometimes not. Anyway, that's democracy.

Aswan Dam Decision Welcome Show Of Firmness

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The turn in the "cold war" has come.

The United States and Great Britain have served notice that they will no longer allow themselves to be pushed around. They are standing together firmly against the most insidious campaign of infiltration that has ever menaced free governments.

The American-British withdrawal of the offer of funds to finance the $1,300,000,000 Aswan Dam in Egypt is a sign of the change in the times. The widely spread fear and threat that if America and the Western countries didn't come through with funds to the so-called "neutral" or "uncommited" nations everything would be lost, has been a bogey for a long time. But now the diplomacy of the United States and Britain has called the bluff in this strategy.

Opportune Time

For many months it has been argued inside the London and Washington governments that the Soviets couldn't fulfill all the promises they were making and that a dramatic exposure of their spurious offers was needed. Informed officials here think Soviet Russia now will retreat. For the internal troubles of the Communists will prevent them from taking the risk of pouring out billions of rubles in a political effort to rival the West.

It was opportune for the United States and Britain to make clear their position—that firmness in the whole Middle East and Arab situation would henceforth take the place of wobbly defeatism.

Nasser, moreover, has been stirring up hostility toward the West in the Arab world. He recently put the Egyptian government on record as the first member of the United Nations to recognize Red China's regime since February 1951, when the U.N. denounced Red China as an aggressor in the Korean War.

Unfortunately many misguided persons in this country either for partisan reasons or, because of mischievous efforts to hurt the prestige abroad of their own government, have extolled Nehru and Nasser and have severely criticised Western statesmen for turning a cold shoulder toward them. The Communist inspired intrigue to play the West off against the Kremlin has been palpable.

If ever there was a time for unity and for whole-hearted support of the policies of the British and American governments it is now when a show-down policy that undoubtedly has the overwhelming approval of the American people is being projected.

Critical Of "Give-Aways"

For the nation as a whole is critical of "give-aways" and the use of the money of American taxpayers for "boondoggles" in foreign lands. The United States is willing to bolster up defenses against communism and to strengthen the economic situation in countries allied with or at least friendly to us but it hasn't been impressed by the behavior of Messrs. Nehru, Nasser and Tito. These three leaders have been collaborating with the Communists and have been reiterating their own form of "neutralism"—as if the activities of the gangsters are as acceptable as the funds of the free nations. Vice President Nixon in his Manila speech put it this way:

"How can we feel toward those who treat alike nations that believe in God and honor religion and morality and nations that boast of atheism and the rule of force and terror alone? How can anyone treat as equals those who believe in the dignity of man and the basic rights of all men, and those who treat their subjects as mere machines? Is democracy to be equated with dictatorship? Is freedom the same as tyranny?

Efforts by the Communists to divide the Western Allies have been redoubled lately along with speeches in Pariliament and in Congress by politicians seeking to undermine their governments from within by playing politics with foreign policy. But the peoples of Britain and the United States are not being fooled. They stand behind their governments.

Firmness Will Win

It is firmness that will win the cold war and focus attention on the "paper" promises of the Soviet to "neutrals." That's why the decision to abandon the financing of the Aswan Dam will have far-reaching effects in the Middle East as well as in Asia. It ought to strengthen the hand of the British government in Cyprus and the French government in Algeria in both of which situations the Egyption government has been helping the rebels. It ought to improve Anglo-American relations which have been hurt by America's mistaken support of Egypt in giving her control of the Suez Canal.

On the whole the Aswan Dam decision is a master stroke of diplomacy which President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles have achieved and it redounds also to the credit of Prime Minister Eden. It's a decisive action in the "cold war."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

There will be no woman delegate nominated for president in Chicago or San Francisco. But we would like the men voting against the women just to find out how many there are of each.

This nation is a democracy in which two people send their laundry out together. But the two-party system would not work. There are just some people a woman candidate wouldn't invite to her party.

Women have been governesses and ambassinettes but somehow the nomination is not on their shopping list.

We don't know why this is for we know Mrs. Wilson ran the nation after Woodrow had tilted his toupee. I would vote for Claire Loose Boots tomorrow. Unfortunately, they don't count ballots dated tomorrow.

Gals have been governesses of Maine, Texas and other sovereign play pens. But in the White House the husband can't ultimatumize, "You take care of the house and I'll run the store."

The over-porched shack on Pennsylvania Avenue is both house and store. Some day we predict a woman will be presidentte even when the old man is home.

Clean And Dirty Bombs

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

A few days ago, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss issued a statement about the recent Pacific hydrogen tests, which could be of historic scientific and strategic importance. It could also be thoroughly disingenuous, and wholly false in its reassuring implications. The statement was as follows:

"It has been confirmed that there are many factors, including operational ones, which do make it possible to localize to an extent not heretofore appreciated the fall-out of nuclear explosions."

There is little doubt about the primary purpose of the statement. Lt. Gen. James Gavin's recently released testimony that a major hydrogen attack would cause "several million deaths," and that the death area would "back up well into Western Europe" naturally caused a furore in Europe. Strauss' statement was clearly intended to reassure the Europeans.

Immense Hurdles

But the real meaning of his statement is far less clear. It could mean that the Atomic Energy Commission has succeeded in achieving a "clean bomb"—a bomb with little or no radioactive side effects. It can be reported authoritatively that research contracts for a "clean bomb" have in fact been let. But it can also be stated authoritatively that the technological hurdles which must be overcome to achieve such a bomb are immense.

Previous efforts to make a "clean bomb" (which would be a fusion bomb, rather than a fission-fusion-fission bomb, like the "dirty" bombs now in both American and Soviet stockpiles) have met a "technological blank wall." If the AEC scientists have in fact overlept the blank wall, and invented this entirely new kind of bomb, then a new chapter has opened in the nuclear era, and the strategic situation has been altered in a significant way.

But if the AEC has invented a "clean bomb," why did not Strauss openly boast to the world about this humanitarian achievement? And why should he make his cryptic reference to "operational factors?" And why was uranium 237, radioactive by-product of the "dirty bomb," found by Japanese scientists after the Pacific tests?

These questions suggest that the real meaning of the Strauss statement is simply that the AEC has tested a high air burst of a hydrogen weapon — something the Soviets have already done. If this is so, the implied reassurance in the Strauss statement is false.

No Contact With Earth

A high air burst does indeed "localize the fall-out of nuclear explosions," and for a simple reason. Exploded near the surface, the three mile fireball of a "dirty bomb" scoops out vast quantities of material, radio-poisons it, and sucks it into the upper atmosphere, whence it falls out in a radioactive rain of death on living things below. But a bomb, even a "dirty bomb," exploded two miles or more in the air, will not have this effect, simply because the fireball does not make contact with the earth.

It might be thought that this fact (which of course has long been understood by scientists) would in itself provide reassurance to our allies. In case of global war, why not order the Strategic Air Command to explode all its bombs at an altitude of two miles or more?

The answer lies in the nature of SAC's mission. A high burst hydrogen bomb would certainly tear the heart out of a great city. But tearing the heart out of cities is only a small part of SAC's grim job. The great bulk of SAC's bomb stockpile is certainly assigned in the war plans to Soviet and satellite air bases.

In case of global war, the Soviet airfields — 300 in Europe alone, according to General Gruenther, and many more in Soviet territory — must be destroyed at all costs, if the Western Allies are to survive physically. The Soviet air bases can only be surely knocked out with ground bursts.

Ground Bursts Needed

A house in a city, which can take only two pounds of blast pressure, might be knocked down by an air burst hydrogen bomb at a range of 15 miles. But reinforced underground structures, such as the Soviets are building on their more important bases, can withstand upwards of a hundred pounds of blast pressure, and thick concrete runways far more than that. Thus SAC simply cannot depend on the blast from high air bursts to knock out the Soviet air bases. Ground bursts are needed to wipe the bases, runways and all, off the face of the earth.

Thus the fact that the AEC has exploded a hydrogen bomb at high altitude — which is almost certainly the real meaning of the Strauss statement — has little strategic significance, and provides no cause for reassurance among our allies. For this reason, and other reasons which will be examined in another report on this unhappy subject, it is time, and past time, to rethink the comfortable theory that American security can be based exclusively on the deterrent effect of the American stockpile of "dirty bombs."

Chemical Action Of Vitamins Important To Health

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Periodically our readers ask for an article on vitamins and why they are needed. Sometimes I take the negative approach by discribing diseases that develop when they are not taken. Scurvy is caused by a shortage of vitamin C and too little D may result in rickets. A deficiency of niacin may lead to pellagra and of thiamine, to beriberi. Such diseases are rare today in the United States.

On the positive side, the vitamin picture is more impressive. The chemical action of these compounds plays a prominent role in digestion and assimilation of proteins, fats, and carbohydrates.

The integration of certain mental and nerveous functions requires vitamins and the same can be said of certain aspects of vision, tissue healing, blood clotting, and the detoxification or neutralization of poisons. Vitamins are involved in the process of blood cell production and in maintaining substances like calcium and phosphorus in proper balance within the cells. Vitamin C keeps the walls of blood vessels strong and tough.

Vitamins also improve appetite, which is an advantage to some and a disadvantage to others. The chemical action of some vitamins is useful in treating symptoms of certain diseases. Niacin, for example, dilates arteries and improves the flow of blood, which is helpful in poor circulation, migraine headache, and Meniere's disease.

Vitamin B complex consists of many different chemicals. Thiamine, for example, is important in the synthesis of a vital enzyme in the liver. This fraction of the vitamin is not stored in large amounts; consequently a deficiency may ensue leading to loss of appetite, fatigue, irritability, and forgetfulness. A more serious depletion brings on aching and tenderness in the calf muscles, neuritis, mental deterioration, or beriberi.

Riboflavin is required in the overall process of metabolism and inadequacies are noted usually in the mouth, eyes, and skin. A niacin deficiency may result in loss of appetite, depression, deterioration, and a fiery red, beefy, sore, smooth tongue.

Pyridoxine affects the skin and the membranes of the mouth and tongue. Lack of this substance was blamed recently for convulsions in infants. B12 is used in pernicious anemia to control the blood count and prevent the nerve degeneration associated with this disease.

TOMORROW: Letters from readers.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

V. R. writes: Can you tell me something about a thyroglossal cyst, which the surgeon says has enlarged my Adam's apple?

REPLY

In the fetus, areas in the throat resemble the gills of a fish. When one of these openings fails to close, a pouch or pocket remains (thyroglossal cyst). In your case, the abnormality is in the vicinity of the Adam's apple. Surgery is the cure.

ARE HORMONES ESSENTIAL?

D. C. writes: I read that a California doctor says elderly people need sex hormones as food as much as they need bread and meat. What do you think about this statement?

REPLY

Perhaps. To stay alive, we can do without hormones, but there is no substitute for meat, bread, and other foods if we want to keep from starving to death.

NOT A SIGN

R. V. writes: Does high blood pressure cause unusual fatigue?

REPLY

Fatigue occurs but it is not a prominent symptom of hypertension. We have a leaflet on fatigue that may me obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

MONGOLOID CHILDREN

Mrs. J. writes: Can a Mongoloid child learn anything?

REPLY

This depends upon the capabilities of the youngster. Mongoloids are classed as imbeciles but if the child is a high grade imbecile he may be able to learn how to dress and feed himself and do simple household chores.

INDIGESTION

Mrs. M. writes: Could nerves cause a sour stomach?

REPLY

Yes, but so do other disorders of the intestinal tract, including ulcer, cancer, and gastritis. X-ray is advised if the stomach is sour more often than not.

BLOOD GROUPS' HEREDITY

T. B. writes: Can two positive people have a negative child?

REPLY

Yes, provided each parent carries an Rh negative gene. In the circumstances, one child in four would be Rh negative.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

A man in Long Beach, Calif., called police to complain he couldn't get to work because a sleeping lion blocked his driveway. It was true—but did his boss believe the story?

Grain crops were badly damaged in southern Saskatchewan by hailstones as big as golf balls. That certainly put the farmers in the rough.

A Growing Problem Facing Industry

The Health Information Foundation estimates that close to one in every 10 Americans today is more than 65 years old. In 1900 the ratio was one in 25.

Projecting the picture of aging into the future, a leader in the American Medical Association has predicted that within the next 20 years one in every seven Americans will have reached the age which industry has pretty well settled upon for automatic retirement. And he added that a life span of 100 will become increasingly common as the years go by.

The debate over compulsory retirement at 65 is not new but suggestions for replacing it with something else seem little nearer adoption than when it started. But the picture keeps changing. Statistics show that the burden of older people who become public charges is likely to increase with the years. In 1950 the cost of public care for these men and women was $1.1 billion, according to federal experts. These same experts estimate that by 1970 the cost of this care will have risen to $11.3 billion.

While there also is an increasing number of oldsters who are able, financially and otherwise, to care for themselves, the public expense of care for the others is not the only economic loss involved in the 65-year retirement practice. With the head of one giant American corporation estimating that 20 per cent of the employes his concern pensions at 65 could be retained at a profit to the company, a California phychiatrist has arrived at $5 billion annually as the cost to industry of its arbitrary retirement limit.

Industry is not blind to the value of the skill and experience it sets aside each year. But management has its sensibilities as well as others. It can be expected to stand on some automatic retirement policy as long as it otherwise might have to put the finger on those workers who can continue and those who cannot.

Possibly some new formula for retirement is not far off. And it could be it will come from among those oldsters who, put out to pasture at 65, are sure to get an even sharper picture of the problem than younger workers. Age and experience may pay off there, too.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Right To Agitate

I received a circular letter from Professor Louise Pettibone Smith whom I do not know and never heard of before. What the lady is a professor of, I also do not know, but it so appears on her letterhead. She addresses me as "Dear Friend," but how it comes about that she and I are friends, I also do not know. Friendship in absentia is something new, although I have one such friend, as Tchaikovsky had, with whom I correspond entertainingly and also for my edification, but whom I have never met. Recently when I was in a hospital, she came all the way from Washington to see me, but in those days the doctors would not permit me visitors lest I die from not being bored.

However, Professor Louise Pettibone Smith is new to me as never before have I heard from her. What she wants me to do is to send two dollars during July and August, making a total of four dollars, to the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, which I suspect is not a good thing to do. My father and mother were foreign born but they needed no protection because they were happy to be here and away from the pogroms of old Russia and Poland, pogroms which seem to be starting all over again under the drunken reign of Nikita Khrushchev. In fact, all my relations of the older generation were foreign born and none of them needed protection.

Professor Louise Pettibone Smith wants the four dollars because she says the attorney general plans to denaturalize 10,000 citizens and to deport 15,000 non-citizens solely because of their political beliefs. The figures look a little high to me, but it would seem that what Mr. Brownell proposes is to give those who love Soviet Russia or some satellite more than the United States an opportunity to go to the land of their affection after due process of the law here. It would seem that the way the Supreme Court has been behaving, there is a possibility that these people will be deprived of going to the lands they love. It is too bad.

In a circular attached to Professor Smith's letter, appears the following:

"During July as many families are just beginning to get away from the cities, 14 New York non-citizens will be challenging the supervisory parole provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law.

"The 14 have been ordered deported because of past or present political beliefs. The Justice Department, unable to effect their deportation, has placed them on supervisory parole which means: remaining within 50 miles of Times Square; periodic reporting to a Justice Department agent; when reporting being forced to answer questions relative to friends, associates, habits and work; submitting to medical and psychiatric examination."

For this, shall I send four dollars? Why does she not appeal to Comrade Khrushchev to pay these expenses? These guys were working for him or for his predecessor, Stalin, or they would not have got into this particular trouble.

This country is full of foreign born who are happy to be here and who never get into trouble with Attorney General Brownell because they do not violate the law. They do not even have to wait for the Supreme Court to save them from the bell. They go through life attending to their own affairs and causing no trouble for anyone.

Of course, if a fellow who was graciously permitted by our laws to settle in this country, to raise a family here and to live under the advantages of our liberties and our laws, wants to upset the country, to change its form of government, to make it conform to patterns arranged in the Kremlin, he is bound to get into trouble, not because he exercises freedom of speech but because he is working for an enemy state and an enemy civilization that seeks to destroy us. Also some of these prospective deportees are dope peddlers.

There are those who believe that now that Stalin is dead and that Khrushchev has called him all sorts of names, the world has changed and that we should hereafter smile at those who spit upon us. Such are bound to suffer a rude repulse from the American people as they have been encountering for some time such rejections.

"This Is What I Like About Him"

Closing Days Of Congress Are Used In Behalf Of Special Interest Bills

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives of the United States was creaking slowly to a close. It had been a long day. The four-year-old son of Congressman Farncis Dorn of Brooklyn squirmed and fidgited. He had been sitting beside his father, as an education in government, all week; and he had been remarkably good. But it was 6:30 p. m. and small boys get hungry . . . Two seats in front, Congresswoman Cecil Harden of Indiana, who has three grandchildren, looked as if she could have taken care of him, but she sat engrossed in offiical papers . . . In the speaker's chair, Sam Rayburn, bald, placid, patient, looked out over the chamber. He had been a member of that chamber for 42 years, had sat for 12 years as speaker, riding herd on its hectic sessions, watching bill after bill argued, wrangled over, voted on, defeated or passed, to become, for better or for worse, the law of the United States . . . Thus the laws are made, thus the people of the United States are governed.

Alaska Hospital

Speaker Rayburn squinted from the rostrum at the machinery of democracy in motion. It was in slow motion. None of the lightning repartee and fireworks that featured debate on civil rights . . . The momentous question of Alaska's right to build its own hospital for the insane was being debated. Congressman Leo O'Brien spoke for this right. O'Brien comes from Albany, N. Y., and is a Democrat. Yet he understood Alaskan problems thoroughly. He also spoke for the Eisenhower administration . . .

At the leader's table on the Democratic side, sat Bob Bartlett, delegate of Alaska, with no right to vote, but the right to speak . . . Beside him sat Edith Green of Portland, Ore., now a congresswoman. She had pioneered the hospital. . . Over on the Republican side, "Doc" Miller of Nebraska, walked about, supporting himself with a stick, asking questions. He opposed the hospital. So did other Republicans—Hosmer of California, Gross of Iowa . . . Dawson of Utah, Republican, didn't. "Those of us who supported this bill have been labeled traitors and Communists," he said, "but we think the mentally ill of Alaska have a right to be cared for in Alaska, near their homes, not shipped 2,000 miles away from home." . . . Martin-Dies of Texas stopped chewing a cigar to ask helpful questions . . . The debate droned on, the machinery of democracy at work, giving minute attention to a problem far from Washington affecting only a few hundred . . . The bill passed.

Sneaky Democracy

The machinery of democracy is not always so careful. It can be rambunctious. It can go on selfish, cruel rampages. It can also be sneaky . . . This is the time, as Congress grinds to a close, when the lobbyists stand in the lobbies ready to push across their pet bills benefiting those few who pay them . . . The school bill, benefiting millions, failed of passage. The equality of opportunity bill helping thousands of small businessmen, got stuck in the Senate, blocked by Welker of Idaho and Jenner of Indiana. The clean elections bill to stop the buying of elections hasn't gotten off the ground in the Senate . . . But a dozen bills benefiting a few and costing millions are poised on the brink of passage, will be sneaked across in these last hectic days . . . One of them would wipe out Roosevelt's New Deal banking reform, passed after the 1933 bank failures, which allows minority stockholders to sit on bank boards. The American Bankers' Association doesn't like minority directors and Chairman Brent Spence of Kentucky, prodded by White House emissaries, has suddenly been pushing for last minute passage.

Steamship Give-Away

Friends of Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic also have a ship deal they are trying to sneak across during the last minutes of play. Congressman Zelenko of New York is trying to block it . . . The return of German property was also readied for a final push when nobody was looking, but somebody looked. It has now been blocked . . . Most brazen sneak bill was put across by Bonner of North Carolina, who's had a good record in the past. He engineered a give-away for the McLean trucking firm of his state which has purchased the Waterman Steamship Company, and plans to carry trucks piggy-back up the Atlantic Coast on steamships . . . Bonner's bill would permit McLean to sell his ships to the government for $1,600,000 each for which it paid the government $956,000 nine years ago . . . It takes alert congressmen to make the wheels of democracy run efficiently. Zelenko, the New York Democrat, and Van Zandt, the Pennsylvania Republican, were alert, blocked the give-away from sneaking through on the unanimous consent calendar. Here one vote can block a bill . . . So Bonner sidestepped. He pulled back his bill, asked that he have the right to put it through normal legislative channels without unanimous consent. This was given him—but with the promise that he wouldn't put his give-away on the unanimous consent calendar again . . . But when his give-away got blocked in the Rules Committee, the gentleman from North Carolina ignored his promise and sneaked his give-away back on the unanimous consent calendar. Watchdogs Zelenko and Van Zandt, who accepted Bonner's promise, weren't watching, and the give-away passed . . . Thus operate the cumbersome wheels of democracy—most of the time for the public good, sometimes not. Anyway, that's democracy.

Aswan Dam Decision Welcome Show Of Firmness

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The turn in the "cold war" has come.

The United States and Great Britain have served notice that they will no longer allow themselves to be pushed around. They are standing together firmly against the most insidious campaign of infiltration that has ever menaced free governments.

The American-British withdrawal of the offer of funds to finance the $1,300,000,000 Aswan Dam in Egypt is a sign of the change in the times. The widely spread fear and threat that if America and the Western countries didn't come through with funds to the so-called "neutral" or "uncommited" nations everything would be lost, has been a bogey for a long time. But now the diplomacy of the United States and Britain has called the bluff in this strategy.

Opportune Time

For many months it has been argued inside the London and Washington governments that the Soviets couldn't fulfill all the promises they were making and that a dramatic exposure of their spurious offers was needed. Informed officials here think Soviet Russia now will retreat. For the internal troubles of the Communists will prevent them from taking the risk of pouring out billions of rubles in a political effort to rival the West.

It was opportune for the United States and Britain to make clear their position—that firmness in the whole Middle East and Arab situation would henceforth take the place of wobbly defeatism.

Nasser, moreover, has been stirring up hostility toward the West in the Arab world. He recently put the Egyptian government on record as the first member of the United Nations to recognize Red China's regime since February 1951, when the U.N. denounced Red China as an aggressor in the Korean War.

Unfortunately many misguided persons in this country either for partisan reasons or, because of mischievous efforts to hurt the prestige abroad of their own government, have extolled Nehru and Nasser and have severely criticised Western statesmen for turning a cold shoulder toward them. The Communist inspired intrigue to play the West off against the Kremlin has been palpable.

If ever there was a time for unity and for whole-hearted support of the policies of the British and American governments it is now when a show-down policy that undoubtedly has the overwhelming approval of the American people is being projected.

Critical Of "Give-Aways"

For the nation as a whole is critical of "give-aways" and the use of the money of American taxpayers for "boondoggles" in foreign lands. The United States is willing to bolster up defenses against communism and to strengthen the economic situation in countries allied with or at least friendly to us but it hasn't been impressed by the behavior of Messrs. Nehru, Nasser and Tito. These three leaders have been collaborating with the Communists and have been reiterating their own form of "neutralism"—as if the activities of the gangsters are as acceptable as the funds of the free nations. Vice President Nixon in his Manila speech put it this way:

"How can we feel toward those who treat alike nations that believe in God and honor religion and morality and nations that boast of atheism and the rule of force and terror alone? How can anyone treat as equals those who believe in the dignity of man and the basic rights of all men, and those who treat their subjects as mere machines? Is democracy to be equated with dictatorship? Is freedom the same as tyranny?

Efforts by the Communists to divide the Western Allies have been redoubled lately along with speeches in Pariliament and in Congress by politicians seeking to undermine their governments from within by playing politics with foreign policy. But the peoples of Britain and the United States are not being fooled. They stand behind their governments.

Firmness Will Win

It is firmness that will win the cold war and focus attention on the "paper" promises of the Soviet to "neutrals." That's why the decision to abandon the financing of the Aswan Dam will have far-reaching effects in the Middle East as well as in Asia. It ought to strengthen the hand of the British government in Cyprus and the French government in Algeria in both of which situations the Egyption government has been helping the rebels. It ought to improve Anglo-American relations which have been hurt by America's mistaken support of Egypt in giving her control of the Suez Canal.

On the whole the Aswan Dam decision is a master stroke of diplomacy which President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles have achieved and it redounds also to the credit of Prime Minister Eden. It's a decisive action in the "cold war."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

There will be no woman delegate nominated for president in Chicago or San Francisco. But we would like the men voting against the women just to find out how many there are of each.

This nation is a democracy in which two people send their laundry out together. But the two-party system would not work. There are just some people a woman candidate wouldn't invite to her party.

Women have been governesses and ambassinettes but somehow the nomination is not on their shopping list.

We don't know why this is for we know Mrs. Wilson ran the nation after Woodrow had tilted his toupee. I would vote for Claire Loose Boots tomorrow. Unfortunately, they don't count ballots dated tomorrow.

Gals have been governesses of Maine, Texas and other sovereign play pens. But in the White House the husband can't ultimatumize, "You take care of the house and I'll run the store."

The over-porched shack on Pennsylvania Avenue is both house and store. Some day we predict a woman will be presidentte even when the old man is home.

Clean And Dirty Bombs

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

A few days ago, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss issued a statement about the recent Pacific hydrogen tests, which could be of historic scientific and strategic importance. It could also be thoroughly disingenuous, and wholly false in its reassuring implications. The statement was as follows:

"It has been confirmed that there are many factors, including operational ones, which do make it possible to localize to an extent not heretofore appreciated the fall-out of nuclear explosions."

There is little doubt about the primary purpose of the statement. Lt. Gen. James Gavin's recently released testimony that a major hydrogen attack would cause "several million deaths," and that the death area would "back up well into Western Europe" naturally caused a furore in Europe. Strauss' statement was clearly intended to reassure the Europeans.

Immense Hurdles

But the real meaning of his statement is far less clear. It could mean that the Atomic Energy Commission has succeeded in achieving a "clean bomb"—a bomb with little or no radioactive side effects. It can be reported authoritatively that research contracts for a "clean bomb" have in fact been let. But it can also be stated authoritatively that the technological hurdles which must be overcome to achieve such a bomb are immense.

Previous efforts to make a "clean bomb" (which would be a fusion bomb, rather than a fission-fusion-fission bomb, like the "dirty" bombs now in both American and Soviet stockpiles) have met a "technological blank wall." If the AEC scientists have in fact overlept the blank wall, and invented this entirely new kind of bomb, then a new chapter has opened in the nuclear era, and the strategic situation has been altered in a significant way.

But if the AEC has invented a "clean bomb," why did not Strauss openly boast to the world about this humanitarian achievement? And why should he make his cryptic reference to "operational factors?" And why was uranium 237, radioactive by-product of the "dirty bomb," found by Japanese scientists after the Pacific tests?

These questions suggest that the real meaning of the Strauss statement is simply that the AEC has tested a high air burst of a hydrogen weapon — something the Soviets have already done. If this is so, the implied reassurance in the Strauss statement is false.

No Contact With Earth

A high air burst does indeed "localize the fall-out of nuclear explosions," and for a simple reason. Exploded near the surface, the three mile fireball of a "dirty bomb" scoops out vast quantities of material, radio-poisons it, and sucks it into the upper atmosphere, whence it falls out in a radioactive rain of death on living things below. But a bomb, even a "dirty bomb," exploded two miles or more in the air, will not have this effect, simply because the fireball does not make contact with the earth.

It might be thought that this fact (which of course has long been understood by scientists) would in itself provide reassurance to our allies. In case of global war, why not order the Strategic Air Command to explode all its bombs at an altitude of two miles or more?

The answer lies in the nature of SAC's mission. A high burst hydrogen bomb would certainly tear the heart out of a great city. But tearing the heart out of cities is only a small part of SAC's grim job. The great bulk of SAC's bomb stockpile is certainly assigned in the war plans to Soviet and satellite air bases.

In case of global war, the Soviet airfields — 300 in Europe alone, according to General Gruenther, and many more in Soviet territory — must be destroyed at all costs, if the Western Allies are to survive physically. The Soviet air bases can only be surely knocked out with ground bursts.

Ground Bursts Needed

A house in a city, which can take only two pounds of blast pressure, might be knocked down by an air burst hydrogen bomb at a range of 15 miles. But reinforced underground structures, such as the Soviets are building on their more important bases, can withstand upwards of a hundred pounds of blast pressure, and thick concrete runways far more than that. Thus SAC simply cannot depend on the blast from high air bursts to knock out the Soviet air bases. Ground bursts are needed to wipe the bases, runways and all, off the face of the earth.

Thus the fact that the AEC has exploded a hydrogen bomb at high altitude — which is almost certainly the real meaning of the Strauss statement — has little strategic significance, and provides no cause for reassurance among our allies. For this reason, and other reasons which will be examined in another report on this unhappy subject, it is time, and past time, to rethink the comfortable theory that American security can be based exclusively on the deterrent effect of the American stockpile of "dirty bombs."

Chemical Action Of Vitamins Important To Health

Frostburg Play Cast Awaits Last Rehearsal

J. Glenn Beall Jr. Is Cast In Lead

FROSTBURG — As the cast of "King of Hearts" moves into the final days of production, much attention is being paid to detailed stage business and to those nuances of characterizations which made for a professional performance.

Dorothy Stone White, the director,; E. Burnett Van Fossen, scenic artist and decorator; Joel Downey, stage manager; William Price, lighting expert, and Mrs. William Van Newkirk, property chairman, made every effort for the cast and stage settings ready for the technical rehearsal last night. The full dress rehearsal will be held tonight.

The title role of "King of Hearts" is played by J. Glenn Beall, Jr., prominent Frostburg business man who, during his college days at Yale University was news director for college radio. In enacting the role of Larry Larkin, popular and successful strip cartoonist, Beall is making his initial appearance in legitimate theatre. The Broadway production featured Donald Cook in this stellar role.

Robertine Boyle of Mt. Savage, apepars as secretary to Larkin. Robertine is best known throughout the area as a vocalist. She shows versatility in her interpretation of Dunreath Henry.

New to Frostburg and Cumberland audiences is Edward R. Martz, who portrays the part of Francis X. Digman, the role interpreted by Jackie Cooper in New York. Pendleton Co. Schools Open On August 27

Social Security Given Teachers

FRANKLIN, W. Va. — Schools in Pendleton County will open August 27 for the 1956-57 term and close on May 22, according to announcement made by a spokesman for the School Board following a recent meeting.

The board increased pay of bus drivers, and also made provision to place all Pendleton County Board of Education employes who are under the retirement system, under the new plan to provide security benefit coverage. School bus drivers for the year were also hired by action of the board.

Superintendent, Floyd J. Dahmer said the board voted to increase the salaries of all school bus drivers $15 per month, raising to $130 the salaries of the highest paid drivers. This increase, he explained, is the same as that granted by the last legislature for teachers who hold certificates based on two-years of college work.

In adopting the Social Security coverage, the board was putting into effect the desire expressed by board employees last May when they voted 97 to 6 in favor of the coverage.

Dahmer said that the new Social Security coverage, along with the increase to bus drivers and a number of janitors, will cost the board over $12,000 per year. These funds will come out of the general school fund provided for operating the schools. He pointed out that the county will receive an additional $28,710 for increased teachers' salaries, but benefits such as sick leave pay, social security and salary increases initiated by the board must be paid from the general school fund.

School personnel who will be affected by the social security coverage are all board employes who are covered by the State Teachers Retirement System. This includes everyone employed by the board who receives over $60 per month, including 79 teachers, 29 bus drivers, seven janitors and five administrative officials.

The board employed 33 school bus drivers for the next school term. They are:

Harvey C. Puffenbarger, Ward Bowers, Ralph Vandevander, Denver Thompson, Raymond Simmons, Arlie Ketterman, Vernon Propst, Eston Smith, Edgar Simmons, J. James Hevener, Samuel Varner.

Russell Day, Arvid Simmons (contract), Ottis Kimble, Wilson Mitchell, L. L. Lantz, Glenn Ketterman, Stanley Hedrick, Tommy Nesselrodt, Owen J. Raines, Dewey H. Moyers.

Roy L. Judy, Warren Rexrode, Carl W. Mitchell, L. Paul Simmons, William Skiles, Allen Rexrode, Allen Pitsenbarger, Wilbur Sevier, Carl Kimble, Gilbert Simmons, French McDonald, Helen C. Borror (contract).

The board also opened sealed bids for furnishing a 60-passenger bus. Successful bidder on the chasis was Sites Chevrolet, Inc., while the body will be furnished by Baker Equipment Engineering Company of Clarksburg. The total cost of the bus delivered will be $4,411.33.

Earlier in the year the board purchased two 48-passenger busses making the total expenditure for the three busses $12,418.40.

17 Area Angus Beef Heifers Sold In Cuba

BURLINGTON, W. Va. — The Longview Aberdeen-Angus Farm of Burlington, has sold 17 Angus heifers for breeding purposes to a cattle establishment not far from Havana, Cuba. The individual making the selections visited the farm a few days ago, coming directly by air from Miami. The cattle were tested for Bangs and TB, so that health papers could accompany the animals. A commercial trucking company will call at the farm for them, where they will be taken to a ranch just north of Miami to become acclimatized.

Apparently there appears to be quite a demand for Angus on the Islands and in Latin America which the Florida Angus breeders are unable to fill. Consequently some breeders from this southern area that really prefer Angus, are taking second preferences and selecting animals of other beef breeds.

The ages of these 17 heifers range from 11 to 26 months, many of the bred heifers carrying the service of "Longview Emulator 4", their very popular breeding bull, a grandson of old "Envious Emulous."

According to William G. Merrells, owner, the Longview herd has placed cattle into 23 states and the females going to Cuba are further recognition of the quality beef cattle produced at Longview.

17 Area Angus Beef Heifers Sold In Cuba

BURLINGTON, W. Va. — The Longview Aberdeen-Angus Farm of Burlington, has sold 17 Angus heifers for breeding purposes to a cattle establishment not far from Havana, Cuba. The individual making the selections visited the farm a few days ago, coming directly by air from Miami. The cattle were tested for Bangs and TB, so that health papers could accompany the animals. A commercial trucking company will call at the farm for them, where they will be taken to a ranch just north of Miami to become acclimatized.

Apparently there appears to be quite a demand for Angus on the Islands and in Latin America which the Florida Angus breeders are unable to fill. Consequently some breeders from this southern area that really prefer Angus, are taking second preferences and selecting animals of other beef breeds.

The ages of these 17 heifers range from 11 to 26 months, many of the bred heifers carrying the service of "Longview Emulator 4", their very popular breeding bull, a grandson of old "Envious Emulous."

According to William G. Merrells, owner, the Longview herd has placed cattle into 23 states and the females going to Cuba are further recognition of the quality beef cattle produced at Longview.

(End of Season)

Jesse Markley pitched the Cumberland Junior American Legion team into the state tournament by defeating Midland, 3-0, yesterday at Fort Hill field. The victory gave the Cumberland nine the Mountain District Junior American Legion Baseball League crown with a 10-2 record.

The final game of the season was decided in the first inning when with one out Cumberland scored twice on three consecutive singles by Pete Charuhas, Ed McKenney and Charles Imes, plus a double steal and an error by the Midland third baseman.

Registers Fifth Win

Markley, registering his fifth victory for the locals, bested Dave Richards, who had twice previously downed Cumberland by 3-1 scores.

Jesse pitched a neat two-hit contest and was in trouble only in two innings. Midland threatened in the fifth when the first man walked and a single advanced him to second with none out. Markley bore down to retire the next three hitters.

In the seventh inning with one gone, an error and walk put two Midland runners aboard. Markley struck out pinch-hitter Muir and forced Butch Young to fly to left field for the final out.

Ken Johnson Doubles

The only other extra base hit in the game was Ken Johnson's double in the fourth for Cumberland. McKenney had two singles for the winners.

Cumberland will certify its roster by this Friday in order to play in the College Park state tournament next week. The team is scheduled to play the Northern Central representative in the third game of the double-elimination tournament on Friday, August 3.

The Cumberland team will leave for College Park on Thursday, August 2, before 10 p.m., Manager George Zegles said. The box:

Minors Reject $100,000 Fund For Emergency

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 24 (AP)—Minor league clubs today rejected a proposal to create a $100,000 emergency fund from the treasury of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues to aid clubs and leagues in financial trouble.

George M. Trautman, president of the association, said the proposal, submitted by league presidents, was defeated 18 to 7 in a mail vote. Each minor league had one vote.

Had the proposal been approved, the fund would have been used to aid the ailing clubs this season.

Trautman said a mail vote is in progress on the question of extending the major-minor league agreement for one year from its present expiration date of Jan. 12, 1957. He said he expected the votes to be tabulated by Aug. 1.

DETROIT, July 24 (AP) — Al Kaline, Charley Maxwell and Frank House pounded home runs in a 14-hit Detroit assault on five Baltimore pitchers tonight and led the Tigers to a 9-7 triumph in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

Kaline's home run, his 16th of the season, came in the fourth inning with a teammate aboard and put the Tigers into the lead for the first time, 6-5.

Billy Gardner, Dick Williams and Tito Francona hit home runs for the Orioles. All three were solo blasts.

Moore Heavy Favorite Over Parker Tonight

Heavyweight Bout Set For Toronto

TORONTO, July 24 (AP)—James J. Parker, Canada's hope for a shot at the world heavyweight boxing title, arrived early tonight for the most important fight of his six-year professional career—and, say the experts, a beating from ageless Archie Moore.

"Moore by a knockout" is the consensus of the newspaper men here for tomorrow night's 15-round outdoor fight at Maple Leaf Stadium. There's nothing in Parker's fistic background to indicate that he is in the same league with Moore, No. 1 contender for the world heavyweight title vacated by Rocky Marciano.

The 26-year-old Parker has youth and ambition on his side but observers feel that Moore, who started his pro career when Parker was only six years old, has too much savvy for the 208-pound Canadian. Archie, who claims he is 39, has 88 knockouts in his 154-fight career.

But, whatever the outcome, the promoters of this extravaganza are clucking with glee. Fight fans lined up at ticket headquarters throughout most of the day and Promoter Jack Solomons of London, predicted a sellout of 19,000.

The odds are 4-1 on Moore, who claims the heavyweight title vacated by Rocky Marciano. Moore also is the world light-heavy titleholder.

He is shifty and fast-moving despite his age and he knows all the tricks.

Billy Pierce Wins 15th, Chicago Downs Yanks 11-5

Cerv, Skowron, Doby Hit Homers

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP) — Billy Pierce, Chicago White Sox lefthander, became baseball's winningest pitcher of the season with his 15th victory tonight, toppling the New York Yankees 11-5 in a rough-and-tumble battle of home runs that saw Yankee Billy Martin leave the game with a spiked right leg.

On several occasions the game could have turned into a players' brawl with Yankee starter Tom Sturdivant hitting two batsmen and drawing an umpire's warning about throwing beanballs.

It all started in the second when Bob Cerv, a 215-pounder, barrelled into second baseman Nellie Fox to break up an attempted doubleplay. Fox was stunned but remained in the game. In the third Sturdivant hit Minnie Minoso with a pitched ball after Fox had singled. Larry Doby, who had blasted a two-run homer in the first, singled Fox home.

Pitt To Refuse Sugar Bowl Bid

PITTSBURGH, July 24 (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh, loser in the 1955 Sugar Bowl football game, made it plain today it can not play in there again under the new Louisiana social segregation law.

The law, effective next Oct. 15, bars interracial athletic contests.

Asked for a statement on Pitt's views now, Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, the university's chancellor, said:

"As an educational institution we recognize only the criteria of academic and athletic competence in determining who shall represent the university in intercollegiate athletics.

"No University of Pittsburgh team will participate in any athletic event in which any one of its students would be disbarred who is otherwise eligible under the rules of this university or of the conference of which it is a member."

CANTON, Mass., July 24 (AP) — A smiling, towel-draped Jackie Burke Jr. confessed to "an amazing round of chipping" in the final 18 holes of his PGA Championship victory today over Ted Kroll.

"I had an amazing round of chipping this afternoon," said the 33-year-old winner of this year's Master's Tournament.

"I was too tired and he played like gangbusters," was Kroll's explanation of the sudden turnabout in the action.

Louis Knew Heart Was Bad, Wife Says

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Mrs. Joe Louis said today the former heavyweight boxing champion had known for a month that something was wrong with his heart although at first he suspected he was suffering from an injured rib.

Louis, now a professional wrestler, was denied a license by the Illinois Athletic Commission when a commission doctor reported yesterday that the one-time Brown Bomber has a damaged heart.

When Louis first felt the pain in his chest, he visited a Detroit doctor and learned it was his heart, Mrs. Louis said.

(End of Season)

Jesse Markley pitched the Cumberland Junior American Legion team into the state tournament by defeating Midland, 3-0, yesterday at Fort Hill field. The victory gave the Cumberland nine the Mountain District Junior American Legion Baseball League crown with a 10-2 record.

The final game of the season was decided in the first inning when with one out Cumberland scored twice on three consecutive singles by Pete Charuhas, Ed McKenney and Charles Imes, plus a double steal and an error by the Midland third baseman.

Registers Fifth Win

Markley, registering his fifth victory for the locals, bested Dave Richards, who had twice previously downed Cumberland by 3-1 scores.

Jesse pitched a neat two-hit contest and was in trouble only in two innings. Midland threatened in the fifth when the first man walked and a single advanced him to second with none out. Markley bore down to retire the next three hitters.

In the seventh inning with one gone, an error and walk put two Midland runners aboard. Markley struck out pinch-hitter Muir and forced Butch Young to fly to left field for the final out.

Ken Johnson Doubles

The only other extra base hit in the game was Ken Johnson's double in the fourth for Cumberland. McKenney had two singles for the winners.

Cumberland will certify its roster by this Friday in order to play in the College Park state tournament next week. The team is scheduled to play the Northern Central representative in the third game of the double-elimination tournament on Friday, August 3.

The Cumberland team will leave for College Park on Thursday, August 2, before 10 p.m., Manager George Zegles said. The box:

Minors Reject $100,000 Fund For Emergency

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 24 (AP)—Minor league clubs today rejected a proposal to create a $100,000 emergency fund from the treasury of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues to aid clubs and leagues in financial trouble.

George M. Trautman, president of the association, said the proposal, submitted by league presidents, was defeated 18 to 7 in a mail vote. Each minor league had one vote.

Had the proposal been approved, the fund would have been used to aid the ailing clubs this season.

Trautman said a mail vote is in progress on the question of extending the major-minor league agreement for one year from its present expiration date of Jan. 12, 1957. He said he expected the votes to be tabulated by Aug. 1.

Detroit Homers Beat Birds, 9-7

DETROIT, July 24 (AP) — Al Kaline, Charley Maxwell and Frank House pounded home runs in a 14-hit Detroit assault on five Baltimore pitchers tonight and led the Tigers to a 9-7 triumph in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

Kaline's home run, his 16th of the season, came in the fourth inning with a teammate aboard and put the Tigers into the lead for the first time, 6-5.

Billy Gardner, Dick Williams and Tito Francona hit home runs for the Orioles. All three were solo blasts.

Barrelville, meanwhile kept pace with Ellerslie by defeating the Orioles, 6-5, in nine innings at Barrelville. Colen Kennell's single brought home the winning run in the third extra frame.

John Lowery topped the Ellerslie attack with a triple and two doubles while Hardy's single in the sixth inning spoiled Cook's bid for a no-hit game.

Louis Knew Heart Was Bad, Wife Says

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP) — Mrs. Joe Louis said today the former heavyweight boxing champion had known for a month that something was wrong with his heart although at first he suspected he was suffering from an injured rib.

Louis, now a professional wrestler, was denied a license by the Illinois Athletic Commission when a commission doctor reported yesterday that the one-time Brown Bomber has a damaged heart.

When Louis first felt the pain in his chest, he visited a Detroit doctor and learned it was his heart, Mrs. Louis said.

Moore Heavy Favorite Over Parker Tonight

Heavyweight Bout Set For Toronto

TORONTO, July 24 (AP)—James J. Parker, Canada's hope for a shot at the world heavyweight boxing title, arrived early tonight for the most important fight of his six-year professional career—and, say the experts, a beating from ageless Archie Moore.

"Moore by a knockout" is the consensus of the newspaper men here for tomorrow night's 15-round outdoor fight at Maple Leaf Stadium. There's nothing in Parker's fistic background to indicate that he is in the same league with Moore, No. 1 contender for the world heavyweight title vacated by Rocky Marciano.

The 26-year-old Parker has youth and ambition on his side but observers feel that Moore, who started his pro career when Parker was only six years old, has too much savvy for the 208-pound Canadian. Archie, who claims he is 39, has 88 knockouts in his 154-fight career.

But, whatever the outcome, the promoters of this extravaganza are clucking with glee. Fight fans lined up at ticket headquarters throughout most of the day and Promoter Jack Solomons of London, predicted a sellout of 19,000.

The odds are 4-1 on Moore, who claims the heavyweight title vacated by Rocky Marciano. Moore also is the world light-heavy titleholder.

He is shifty and fast-moving despite his age and he knows all the tricks.

Billy Pierce Wins 15th, Chicago Downs Yanks 11-5

Cerv, Skowron, Doby Hit Homers

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP) — Billy Pierce, Chicago White Sox lefthander, became baseball's winningest pitcher of the season with his 15th victory tonight, toppling the New York Yankees 11-5 in a rough-and-tumble battle of home runs that saw Yankee Billy Martin leave the game with a spiked right leg.

On several occasions the game could have turned into a players' brawl with Yankee starter Tom Sturdivant hitting two batsmen and drawing an umpire's warning about throwing beanballs.

It all started in the second when Bob Cerv, a 215-pounder, barrelled into second baseman Nellie Fox to break up an attempted double-play. Fox was stunned but remained in the game. In the third Sturdivant hit Minnie Minoso with a pitched ball after Fox had singled. Larry Doby, who had blasted a two-run homer in the first, singled Fox home.

Pitt To Refuse Sugar Bowl Bid

PITTSBURGH, July 24 (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh, loser in the 1955 Sugar Bowl football game, made it plain today it can not play in there again under the new Louisiana social segregation law.

The law, effective next Oct. 15, bars interracial athletic contests.

Asked for a statement on Pitt's views now, Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, the university's chancellor, said:

"As an educational institution we recognize only the criteria of academic and athletic competence in determining who shall represent the university in intercollegiate athletics.

"No University of Pittsburgh team will participate in any athletic event in which any one of its students would be disbarred who is otherwise eligible under the rules of this university or of the conference of which it is a member."

WESTMINSTER, Md., July 24 (AP)—Fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche and quarterback George Shaw, two of the top rookie backs in the National Football League last season, arrived at the Baltimore Colts' training camp today a day ahead of schedule.

Ameche, the top ground gainer in the league in 1955, weighed in at 220, only three pounds over his normal playing weight. Shaw, a lithe 185, was accompanied by guard Jack Patera, who signed his 1956 contract upon arrival. Patera's weight has jumped 15 pounds to 245.

Burke Confesses To "Amazing" Round

CANTON, Mass., July 24 (AP) — A smiling, towel-draped Jackie Burke Jr. confessed to "an amazing round of chipping" in the final 18 holes of his PGA Championship victory today over Ted Kroll.

Two-down after the morning round, he notched four straight birdies in the afternoon and held on for a 3 and 2 triumph.

"I had an amazing round of chipping this afternoon," said the 33-year-old winner of this year's Master's Tournament.

"I was too tired and he played like gangbusters," was Kroll's explanation of the sudden turnabout in the action.

Logan Belts Home Run To Down Giants

Braves Rally In 9th To Win By 4-3 For Spahn's 10th Victory

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Johnny Logan belted a two-out home run in the ninth inning to give the Milwaukee Braves a comeback 4-3 victory over the New York Giants and Ruben Gomez, the pursued Puerto Rican, tonight, padding their National League lead.

The Braves went into the ninth trailing 3-2 as Gomez sailed along on a four-hitter in his first appearance against Milwaukee since last Tuesday's hit-and-run rumpus.

Hank Aaron, who had singled and scored the Braves' second run, opened the winning ninth with a triple over Bob Lennon's head in right field. Joe Adcock, who was hit by a pitch to start last week's fracas, walked and Bobby Thomson hit into a doubleplay that brought Aaron in with the tying run.

Del Crandall followed with a single that chased Gomez and Windy McCall came in in relief to get the side out.

The late heroics gave lefty Warren Spahn his 10th victory and fifth of the season over the Giants. He has lost seven.

It was Spahn, who now has 193 lifetime victories, who got the first hit off Gomez, opening the sixth with a home run.

The last-place Giants, who have lost 6 in a row and 15 of their last 18, scored twice in the first as Dusty Rhodes homered following Jackie Brandt's double. The other New York run came in the fifth when Don Mueller and Al (Red) Schoendienst hit back-to-back doubles.

Burke Defeats Ted Kroll, Takes PGA Title, 3 And 2

Hot Putter Helps Jackie Overcome Early 3-Hole Deficit

CANTON, Mass., July 24 (AP) — Stretch-runner Jack Burke Jr., turned a frosty putter into a blade of blazing steel today for a comeback 3 and 2 victory over Ted Kroll which added the Professional Golfers Assn. title to his Masters championship.

The boyish-looking, 33-year-old Houston pro thus became the second man to bracket these two major championships in a single year. Sam Snead won the PGA and the Masters in 1949.

Three down through the 19th hole after missing four putts of four feet and under, Burke went on a birdie binge on the front nine of the afternoon round to crack the iron spirit of the stocky ex-infantry sergeant from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Bitter Disappointment

It was the second bitter disappointment for the phlegmatic 37-year-old Kroll who "blew" a chance to win the National Open last month in Rochester, N. Y., taking a triple bogey seven on the 70th hole when he needed only pars in to beat Cary Middlecoff.

The new champion nailed five birdies in six holes, starting at the 20th, and four birdies in a row—from the 24th through the 28th.

He sank an 18-foot birdie putt on the 22nd and then in his fantastic finishing spurt on the front side dropped consecutive birdie putts of eight, three, two and seven feet—attesting to brilliant iron play and renewed confidence on the greens.

From three-down, at one stage, he quickly reversed the trend of the match to take a two-hole lead at the 27th which he stubbornly refused to relinquish.

Burke's rallying victory, which excited a crowd of 4,000 stomping over the Blue Hill Country Club course, was patterned after his semifinal triumph yesterday over Ed Furgol. Burke was five down at one stage before he spurted to win on the 37th.

The holes ran out for Kroll on the 187-yard par three 34th, where the Florida professional hooked his tee shot wide of the green, chipped 10 feet past the hole and took a bogey four, losing to Burke's par three.

32nd Hole Was Clincher

Burke said—and Kroll agreed—that the clinching hole of the match was the 32nd—the 385-yard 14th of the afternoon round-where Jack drove into a fairway trap and apparently was slated to lose his two-hole advantage.

But he sliced a beautiful seven-iron shot over some trees in front of the green and then, with the same seven iron, chipped to within four feet of the cup. He sank his putt for a halved four.

"I thought sure I would win the hole," Kroll said later.

Burke had six one-putt greens in the morning and nine in the afternoon, seven in a row.

Burke shot a 36-34—70 for the morning round over the par 36-35—71 course but blazed to a 32, four under par, for the first nine holes of the afternoon. Kroll, visibly tiring, went two strokes over par for the 16 holes in the afternoon, after firing a 68 in the morning.

Milwaukee, Brooklyn Register Important NL Victories

Logan Belts Home Run To Down Giants

Braves Rally In 9th To Win By 4-3 For Spahn's 10th Victory

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Johnny Logan belted a two-out home run in the ninth inning to give the Milwaukee Braves a comeback 4-3 victory over the New York Giants and Ruben Gomez, the pursued Puerto Rican, tonight, padding their National League lead.

The Braves went into the ninth trailing 3-2 as Gomez sailed along on a four-hitter in his first appearance against Milwaukee since last Tuesday's hit-and-run rumpus.

Hank Aaron, who had singled and scored the Braves' second run, opened the winning ninth with a triple over Bob Lennon's head in right field. Joe Adcock, who was hit by a pitch to start last week's fracas, walked and Bobby Thomson hit into a doubleplay that brought Aaron in with the tying run.

Del Crandall followed with a single that chased Gomez and Windy McCall came in in relief to get the side out.

The late heroics gave lefty Warren Spahn his 10th victory and fifth of the season over the Giants. He has lost seven.

It was Spahn, who now has 193 lifetime victories, who got the first hit off Gomez, opening the sixth with a home run.

The last-place Giants, who have lost 6 in a row and 15 of their last 18, scored twice in the first as Dusty Rhodes homered following Jackie Brandt's double. The other New York run came in the fifth when Don Mueller and Al (Red) Schoendienst hit back-to-back doubles.

Burke Defeats Ted Kroll, Takes PGA Title, 3 And 2

Hot Putter Helps Jackie Overcome Early 3-Hole Deficit

CANTON, Mass., July 24 (AP) — Stretch-runner Jack Burke Jr., turned a frosty putter into a blade of blazing steel today for a comeback 3 and 2 victory over Ted Kroll which added the Professional Golfers Assn. title to his Masters championship.

The boyish-looking, 33-year-old Houston pro thus became the second man to bracket these two major championships in a single year. Sam Snead won the PGA and the Masters in 1949.

Three down through the 19th hole after missing four putts of four feet and under, Burke went on a birdie binge on the front nine of the afternoon round to crack the iron spirit of the stocky ex-infantry sergeant from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Bitter Disappointment

It was the second bitter disappointment for the phlegmatic 37-year-old Kroll who "blew" a chance to win the National Open last month in Rochester, N. Y., taking a triple bogey seven on the 70th hole when he needed only pars in to beat Cary Middlecoff.

The new champion nailed five birdies in six holes, starting at the 20th, and four birdies in a row—from the 24th through the 28th.

He sank an 18-foot birdie putt on the 22nd and then in his fantastic finishing spurt on the front side dropped consecutive birdie putts of eight, three, two and seven feet—attesting to brilliant iron play and renewed confidence on the greens.

From three-down, at one stage, he quickly reversed the trend of the match to take a two-hole lead at the 27th which he stubbornly refused to relinquish.

Burke's rallying victory, which excited a crowd of 4,000 stomping over the Blue Hill Country Club course, was patterned after his semifinal triumph yesterday over Ed Furgol. Burke was five down at one stage before he spurted to win on the 37th.

The holes ran out for Kroll on the 187-yard par three 34th, where the Florida professional hooked his tee shot wide of the green, chipped 10 feet past the hole and took a bogey four, losing to Burke's par three.

32nd Hole Was Clincher

Burke said—and Kroll agreed—that the clinching hole of the match was the 32nd—the 385-yard 14th of the afternoon round-where Jack drove into a fairway trap and apparently was slated to lose his two-hole advantage.

But he sliced a beautiful seven-iron shot over some trees in front of the green and then, with the same seven iron, chipped to within four feet of the cup. He sank his putt for a halved four.

"I thought sure I would win the hole," Kroll said later.

Burke had six one-putt greens in the morning and nine in the afternoon, seven in a row.

Burke shot a 36-34—70 for the morning round over the par 36-35—71 course but blazed to a 32, four under par, for the first nine holes of the afternoon. Kroll, visibly tiring, went two strokes over par for the 16 holes in the afternoon, after firing a 68 in the morning.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., July 24 (AP)—Buster Bell, four-year-old horse looking for his first win, finished first in the second race at the Charles Town track today and paid $409 for $2.

Twenty-four persons had $2 win tickets and four more had combination tickets — win, place and show.

Twenty-four daily double tickets were sold and paid $651.80.

He was a 159-to-1 shot the last time out.

The pool for the second race was $23,058.

It was the highest payoff in U.S. racing since Ruff Mate returned $420.60 for $2 at Pimlico on November 10, 1954.

The across-the-board return on Buster Bell was $409, $79.20 and $25.80.

The race was "about six furlongs" and was restricted to four year olds and up.

Reneged Captures Middle Bay Purse At Jamaica Track

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged, a double stakes winner last year, came back to the races fast and fit in the Middle Bay Purse at Jamaica today.

The 3-year-old son of Revoked-White Samite, ridden by Paul Bailey, was eased in sprinting six furlongs in 1:12 1/5 to win by a length and a quarter from Ellis Farm's Lead Scout, who closed with a rush from last place to take the place by half a length from Sterling R. Gano's Thievery.

Reneged was the favorite with the crowd of 19,305, returned the across the board mutuels of $4.50, $3.30 and $2.20. Lead Scout paid $5.80 and $2.90 and Thievery was $2.40 to show.

Last year Reneged won three races, including the Troy and Flash, and was second three times in eight starts. He went wrong shortly after finishing second to Polly's Jet in the Saratoga Special and today was his first outing since then.

Swaps Entered In Hollywood's Sunset Handicap

INGLEWOOD, July 24 (AP) —Nine handicap horses headed by Swaps were entered today in tomorrow's $100,000 Sunset Handicap at Hollywood Park — a mile and five-eights feature that will be the longest run of Swaps' career.

Others entered in the Sunset, which has a gross value of $110,500 with $64,400 net to the winner and Beau Busher, Huzzah, Tordito, Alidon, Adam's Apple, Honeys Alibi, Blue Volt and Mary Machree.

The track is protecting itself against a minus pool by allowing win betting only.

Swaps is regarded as likely to break the track record of 2:40 3-5 ad possibly the world record of 2:39 4-5. The big thoroughbred already has set three world marks and tied a fourth.

The Rex Ellsworth stallion is assigned 130 pounds, 24 more than the next high - weighted horse, Honeys Alibi.

Perini Likes Braves' Chances To Win

TORONTO, July 24 (AP)—Owner Lou Perini of the Milwaukee Braves says he's certain the club will win the National League pennant.

In introducing the players at a buffet supper last night, Perini said: "This is the best club in America. If I were as certain of a good seat as I am of winning the pennant, I would be a happy man."

Blue Sunoco used by more Automotive Engineers than all other premiums combined

IT'S PREMIUM IN EVERY WAY...
STILL AT REGULAR GAS PRICE

We invited a large group of automotive engineers to try Blue Sunoco, boosted in octane, in their own cars and give us their reactions. The results of this survey, compiled by an independent firm of certified public accountants, make New Blue Sunoco the favorite.

43% already are users of Blue Sunoco

Of the 1,166 engineers who reported on '56 Blue Sunoco, 43% told us they were already users of our gasoline. This was a far greater number than reported using all other premium gasolines combined—perhaps the greatest testimonial any gasoline ever had!

Blue Sunoco is recommended for the newest high-compression cars when owners' manuals specify a premium gasoline.

Up again in octane

Blue Sunoco is the only gasoline that meets the new higher premium octane standards and sells at regular gas price. Follow the lead of automotive engineers. Make your own 10-gallon test today.

COMPARISON CHART

93% say Blue Sunoco matches or excels premium-priced brands for overall performance	91% say Blue Sunoco matches or excels premium-priced brands for power and pick-up
85% say Blue Sunoco matches or excels premium-priced brands for anti-knock performance	86% say Blue Sunoco matches or excels premium-priced brands for miles per gallon

Buster Bell Returns $409

Wins Second Race At Charles Town

Twenty-four persons had $2 win tickets and four more had combination tickets — win, place and show.

Twenty-four daily double tickets were sold and paid $651.80.

He was a 159-to-1 shot the last time out.

The pool for the second race was $23,058.

It was the highest payoff in U.S. racing since Ruff Mate returned $420.60 for $2 at Pimlico on November 10, 1954.

The across-the-board return on Buster Bell was $409, $79.20 and $25.80.

The race was "about six furlongs" and was restricted to four year olds and up.

Reneged Captures Middle Bay Purse At Jamaica Track

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged, a double stakes winner last year, came back to the races fast and fit in the Middle Bay Purse at Jamaica today.

The 3-year-old son of Revoked-White Samite, ridden by Paul Bailey, was eased in sprinting six furlongs in 1:12 1/5 to win by a length and a quarter from Ellis Farm's Lead Scout, who closed with a rush from last place to take the place by half a length from Sterling R. Gano's Thievery.

Reneged was the favorite with the crowd of 19,305, returned the across the board mutuels of $4.50, $3.30 and $2.20. Lead Scout paid $5.80 and $2.90 and Thievery was $2.40 to show.

Last year Reneged won three races, including the Troy and Flash, and was second three times in eight starts. He went wrong shortly after finishing second to Polly's Jet in the Saratoga Special and today was his first outing since then.

Swaps Entered In Hollywood's Sunset Handicap

INGLEWOOD, July 24 (AP)—Nine handicap horses headed by Swaps were entered today in tomorrow's $100,000 Sunset Handicap at Hollywood Park — a mile and five-eighths feature that will be the longest run of Swaps' career.

Others entered in the Sunset, which has a gross value of $110,500 with $64,400 net to the winner and Beau Busher, Huzzah, Tordito, Alidon, Adam's Apple, Honeys Alibi, Blue Volt and Mary Machree.

The track is protecting itself against a minus pool by allowing win betting only.

Swaps is regarded as likely to break the track record of 2:40 3-5 ad possibly the world record of 2:39 4-5. The big, thoroughbred already has set three world marks and tied a fourth.

The Rex Ellsworth stallion is assigned 130 pounds, 24 more than the next high - weighted horse, Honeys Alibi.

Perini Likes Braves' Chances To Win

TORONTO, July 24 (AP)—Owner Lou Perini of the Milwaukee Braves says he's certain the club will win the National League pennant.

In introducing the players at a buffet supper last night, Perini said: "This is the best club in America. If I were as certain of a good seat as I am of winning the pennant, I would be a happy man."

Blue Sunoco used by more Automotive Engineers than all other premiums combined

STILL AT REGULAR GAS PRICE

We invited a large group of automotive engineers to try Blue Sunoco, boosted in octane, in their own cars and give us their reactions. The results of this survey, compiled by an independent firm of certified public accountants, make New Blue Sunoco the favorite.

43% already are users of Blue Sunoco

Of the 1,166 engineers who reported on '56 Blue Sunoco, 43% told us they were already users of our gasoline. This was a far greater number than reported using all other premium gasolines combined—perhaps the greatest testimonial any gasoline ever had!

Blue Sunoco is recommended for the newest high-compression cars when owners' manuals specify a premium gasoline.

Up again in octane

Blue Sunoco is the only gasoline that meets the new higher premium octane standards and sells at regular gas price. Follow the lead of automotive engineers. Make your own 10-gallon test today.

COMPARISON CHART

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 24 (INS) — With all of her divorce troubles with Paul Brinkman now resolved in an amicable settlement minus added mudslinging, Jeanne Crain is eager to work again, and U-I is obliging her.

Jeanne starts soon with Jeff Chandler in "The Tattered Dress" a CinemaScope picture which is the third on her multiple picture deal with this studio for five films.

In it, Jeanne plays the estranged wife of a successful lawyer who becomes involved in a case he's working on. Albert Zugsmith is the producer and the original screenplay is by George Zuckerman.

Just can't see any actress in the movie version of "Desk Set" except Shirley Booth, and that goes for Katherine Hepburn. The talk is that Producer Henry Ephrom is angling for Katie and Jimmy Stewart for 20th's film version.

Meanwhile, Shirley continues to pack them in at the play at the Carthay Circle. It's doing such big business, not wasted on Hal Wallis, that he may start Shirley's film for him. "Next of Kin" sooner than planned. It was for Hal that Miss Booth made "Come Back, Little Sheba" which won her an Oscar.

Slipping quietly into town, Johnnie Ray checked in at the Garden of Allah Hotel preparatory to conferences with doctors about his bad foot. It has pained him and given him trouble ever since he stepped on a tooth pick at a swimming pool in Las Vegas several years ago.

The infection was arrested after he had an operation, but with the continued discomfort, and if the doctors say it will help, Johnnie will undergo added surgery before his opening at the Calneva Lodge at Lake Tahoe.

Linda Darnell is such a fan of Cameron Mitchell that she personally called Spyros Skouras to see if Cam can get leave from 20th to co-star with her on Broadway this fall in "Harbor Lights." Rehearsals start August 22.

Mitchell currently is in "The Day They Gave Babies Away" with Glynis Johns at RKO. If the deal with Linda goes through, Cam, Linda and Glynis will all be decorating theatre marquees in New York this season. Glynis does "Major Barbara" with Charles Laughton in October.

From Tokyo George Nader writes: "Our 'Joe Butterfly' company is still fighting the eccentricities of the Japanese weather. The honorable sun goes in and out all day with the regularity of a swinging door in a saloon. However, where the 'Teahouse of the August Moon' company had to give up, we're muddling through, perhaps finishing up in about three more weeks.

"The Nikkatsu Hotel lobby looks like a corner of Hollywood. In the past week I ran into Josh Logan, the William Goetzes and Arthur Lubin.

"Wait until you see our leading lady, Keiko Tsushima, who is so beautiful I bet she'll be making American movies when Hollywood producers see her."

Hollywood in shorts:

Since they announced their separation, Elizabeth Taylor and Mike Wilding have been dining at the quieter spots as engrossed in each other as a couple of lovebirds.

Shelley Winters and John Ireland in a group that included Wally Cox at the Club Seville. Same place, same night, Barbara Nichols and Mike Rennie never missed a mambo.

Sad news received from the East, the 4-year-old granddaughter of the late Milton Sills, was drowned near the home of her parents, the John Luptons, on Sunday.

Giselle MacKenzie, of "Hit Parade" fame, opens at the Flamingo Thursday. And the Ritz Brothers, just back from a smash engagement at the Chez Paree in Chicago, follow her.

The hottest day of last week, John Farrow and his assistants, scouting locations for Diana Dors "Lady and the Prowler" in San Francisco, toured San Quentin Prison, including the gas chamber!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Assure Beauty

Beautiful skin is the result of constant care—of regular following of long proven methods of cleansing, stimulating, and lubrication. Yet one night of complexion neglect can take days to repair. As I have told you many times, a clogged skin is a fertile breeding ground for blemishes.

Never go to bed without first removing your make-up. However sleepy you may be, give your skin the chance of breathing through cleansed pores. Your skin does breath—and in a very real sense, you know.

Here are the other "nevers" of skin care to heed.

Never use extremes of cold or hot. Ice or very hot water applied directly to the face may rupture the tiny blood vessels lying close to the skin's surface.

Never lie down in a flat position when giving yourself a beauty treatment. Instead, lie on a slant—a beauty slant — with your feet higher than your head. This position will mildly prod your circulation . . . bringing color to your face and carrying away impurities. Place your feet on two pillows, your buttocks on one pillow, and your head flat.

Never scrub or rinse the face with a washcloth. Use either your fingertips or a soft complexion brush in gentle, rotating motions. Catch the water in cupped hands and splash it on until your hands grab or stick at your skin. Then you can be sure it is free of soap. If the face is blemished, prevent a possible spread of infection by brush-scrubbing your hands before you touch your face. Or, apply lathered soap with a disposable, sterile gauze pad and dispose of it.

Tomorrow—It's the little things.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, July 24—(INS)—Historians are a bit vague on just who entertained at the varied conventions which produced Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt and Wilson. Let us say the Federalist Party spent comparatively little to whoop things up for Candidate Washington, and A. Lincoln slipped through, somehow, without the aid of George Murphy, the Republican actor, just as W. Wilson eked out a win while Phil Regan was still dreaming of making the police force.

But today, the floor show is as much a part of a national political convention as the windy speech from the stout lady delegate (in the half-empty and irreverant hall) and the smoke filled room at the Blackstone.

Frank Sinatra announced from Madrid the other day (and the New York Times duly reported same) that he would sing the "Star Spangled Banner" at the Democratic convention in Chicago. This is believed to be one of the most important announcements from Spain since a communique from Ferdinand and Isabella announcing the discovery of America.

Stung to the quick, sensing disaster in November unless this coup could be nullified and blunted, jelly George Murphy retaliated with Ethel Merman. Ethel is going to sing for the Republicans at San Francisco. We've talked to several political pundits about this and they agree that this may be the first presidential race in the history of the republic that ended in a tie. The Constitution is a bit flabby about such a possibility, by the way—passes it off as if it could never happen. But according to the various TV ratings, the difference between this and that star must be measured in decimals. So get set.

What's to prevent Eisenhower and the Democrat each from getting 28,719,403 votes? If it happens, who breaks the tie? Will we have to bring home a Hollywood actor from Rome to cast the deciding vote, or would that louse up his patriotic gesture of saving Uncle Sam all that trouble of collecting income tax from him? It's a dinger of a puzzler.

The political convention entertainer must be as impartial as a new sultan. He must stick to the supremely patriotic ("God Bless America" let's say) or something sweet from Rodgers and Hammerstein or Jerome Kern.

He can't touch "Old Man River" because of the trouble each party is having writing a civil rights plank. He can't sing "Beautiful Ohio" at the Republican convention without reopening the whole question of whether Bob Taft was the victim of a fast double play in '52. He can't very well sing "Chicago" at the Democratic convention, or "Sidewalks of New York" or "The Tennessee Waltz" without calling attention to his personal preference. "The Missouri Waltz" might stampede the delegates.

Phil Regan has the edge on Murphy, it seems to me, because he can sing "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" louder. This little number has become as acceptable and desirable at political conventions as "Dixie" was before the South walked out on old Har' S. Truman. Smiling Irish eyes are as welcome around convention time as the Smiling Irishman is when you want to unload the old bucket of bolts. On the other hand, or foot, George can tap-dance better than Phil. This could mean the difference, and alter the turbulent stream of history. There was a day when issues mattered almost as much as good lighting and makeup. But those were the days when the square was rampant.

The TV audience cannot be offended by a dull evening during the conventions. Woe to the party who lays an entertainment egg even though the party may be presenting a supernatural candidate and a puncture-proof program. The foreign aid program, taxes, the steel strike, integration, and the control of atomic energy are arresting items, but the candidate who brings Martin and Lewis back together, on live compatible color, might sweep aside the plodding soul who counters with solutions of all these problems plus Gless Glub from the Y. W.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Eight of spades.

This innocuous looking deal appears to have been stocked with pitfalls. When North's opening bid of one diamond was greeted with a response of one spade he had no entirely satisfactory rebid. The hand was somewhat too robust for a mere single raise, so he inhaled deeply and bid two clubs hoping to get another chance. This anxious moment might have been avoided had he chosen to open with the more logical call of one no trump.

When South made a jump rebid, North had an easy raise to four. South's bid of four no trump appears to have been part of some empty ritual, for it served no useful purpose. South's heart holding rendered the use of Blackwood an idle gesture for North's response would not clear up matters at all. It may be argued that South upon learning that North had only one ace should have settled for five spades, an act which he would regret if North had a singleton heart or the king-queen. South's heart holding bars him from contracting for slam himself. Such action should be left to partner after the exchange of proper information.

Over four spades South should have probed with a bid of five clubs. This would have made it clear that his worries centered around the heart situation. With a favorable holding North bids six, with his actual holding he returns to five spades which closes the auction.

West decided to play a waiting game, though on the basis of the bidding most players would have chosen a heart lead.

Declarer won the trump opening and refrained from drawing the remaining trump lest the defense be given an opportunity to signal. He then played ace and queen of diamonds, discarding the seven of clubs. West, in with the king of diamonds and influenced by South's discard reasoned that South had control of hearts and had been relying on North's club bid to take care of that suit. The club return gave declarer just enough discards to run off with his contract.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

C E Y M C A Y J H K M I A K D E C Y M C J C K C M M Z A K T D , J T U I Q P P U K M T P C Q K N Y S K T Y — S E K C C K Y A .

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THE WHOLE ART OF WAR CONSISTS IN GETTING AT WHAT IS ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE HILL—WELLESLEY.

Television And Radio
by John Crosby

The Child Actors Have It Good

You can hardly turn on television, any time anywhere, without bumping into somebody shooting somebody else. The actors have been chopping each other up remorselessly from early morning to the Late Late Show ever since I got a set.

But in the last week or so the trend has been in the opposite direction — maternity rather than death. Everybody is either having babies or wanting to have them. "Medic" last week was all about a man struggling with impotence. Kraft Theater last week was about a couple who got badly burned in the baby black market. "Weekday," the NBC radio show, has been running a documentary series on the story of birth which wound-up with a recording of the actual birth taken in the delivery room.

Adoption, a large subject, is getting a big play all over the place. Last night's Circle Theater did what they call an "actual" drama called "A Baby Named X," which showed how the Spenee-Chapin Adoption Service in New York selects couples for adoption. The same subject was kicked around — not very conclusively — on Faye Emerson's "Women Want To Know" show, where an audience of women asked some hard questions and got soft answers from an adoption expert. Then just to round out the thing there was a drama called "Adopted Son," about a mother who couldn't tell her adopted son from her own dead son.

There is no subject that could stand a public airing better than adoption — and hardly any subject less likely to get it. Everyone tiptoes around the subject intimidated by the self-righteousness of the adoption agency.

The Kraft drama was no exception. It was a soap opera about a couple who lost their baby at birth, couldn't have any more of their own, and took to the baby black market after being driven to dispair by the long wait and red tape of the legal adoption agencies. But they came to see the error of their ways and in the end decided to get a baby through the legal agencies, if it took till doomsday, which is quite possible.

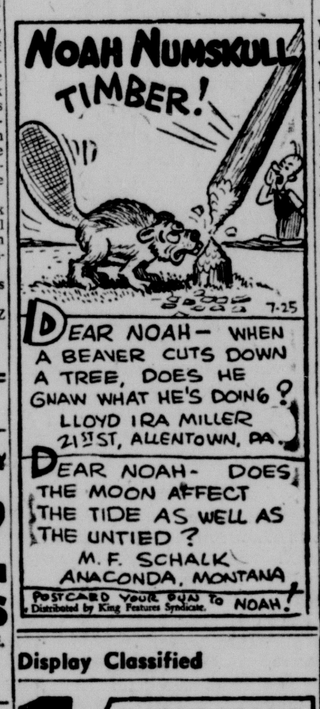

While I hesitate to endorse black market babies, I have known couples who have resorted to black markets for adopting babies and everything has worked out splendidly. I've known others who have adopted children abroad after being driven almost out of their wits by the delays and impertinence of the adoption agencies in this country. What I would dearly love to see is a drama which belted away, not at illegal adoptions which, after all, is a sitting duck, but at legal adoptions. In the Kraft play, the lady representing the adoption agency told a prospective father—and it is the sort of things they do say — "The child must have an intelligence level akin to yours." Why? I never met a child yet who had an intelligence level akin to mine. They also try to match up religions,—parents and child—as if a baby had any religion.

The only person who could really deal with the subject as it ought to be dealt with would be someone as fearless and angry as Charles Dickens, but I don't expect it will ever be done that way on television.

At any rate, the preoccupation with children seems to be all over the place. If it isn't maternity, it's what to do with the kids when they get to be teenagers, the problem ranging from adolescent love to juvenile delinquency. Never in my memory have there been so many jobs for child actors. They are all over the place.

Loss Was His Gain

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y., July 24 (AP)—Joseph Rodriquez left a wallet containing $465 on his bureau while he took a bath. The wallet was empty when he returned to his room. Market Posts Slim Gain After Late Profit-Taking

Today's performance came as the steel labor picture bred hopes of a settlement of the 24-day strike. The government reported the cost of living at a new record high. Reports of corporate earnings were bright for the most part.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks nudged ahead 40 cents to $189.60, with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails up 70 cents and the utilities up 40 cents.

U.S. Steel was the day's most active stock, up ⅝ at 61⅞ on 36,300 shares. Second was Sperry Rand, up ⅜ at 25¼ on 30,600 shares. Third was American Telephone, off ⅛ at 183⅞ on 27,100 shares.

Next came Standard Oil (NJ), off ⅜ at 59⅞ and Allegheny Ludlum Steel, up 2 at 46½.

Youth Addresses Ridgeley Lions

James Bobo was one of two Ridgeley boys sent to the West Virginia YMCA's Leadership Training Course at Camp Horseshoe, near Parsons. Young Bobo told of the program arranged for them and the friendships formed with youths from all parts of West Virginia.

The annual Lions family picnic will be held Monday, August 13 at Helmick's on Patterson Creek. The committee in charge of arrangements is Perry Davis, Eston Turner, Clarence Hartman and Lloyd Coffman.

DeMolay Mothers Meet This Evening

KEYSER — The inaugural meeting of the DeMolay Mothers' Circle will be held this evening in the Masonic building. Purpose of the meeting is to institute a circle to join with the DeMolay sons in setting up a program for the coming year.

Clarence W. (Buddy) Sears Jr., a member of the Keyser Chapter DeMolay and state master councilor of the DeMolay in West Virginia, has great interest in the formation of a mother-son group to function in Keyser.

Breaking, Entering Probed By Police

City Police are investigating a breaking and entering Monday night at the R. W. Norris and Sons Auto Accessories, 100 Wineow Street.

Police said entrance was gained through a rear window, and that only a flashlight was reported stolen.

State Bonds Sold

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today awarded Alexander Brown and Sons, Baltimore investment banking firm, the sale of an issue of 15 million dollars of State highway construction bonds.

The Baltimore firm's low bid on the second issue, series I, was at the interest rate of 2.77353 per cent.

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP) — The newly-formed State Commission on Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency will meet at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the office of Judge T.J.S. Waxter, commission chairman and director of the State Welfare Department.

Frostburg Elks Schedule Picnic

FROSTBURG — Elmer Rupp, chairman, and Charles Schultz, co-chairman of the social session committee of B. P. O. E. 470 announce that arrangements have been completed for the annual Elks picnic at Y. Other members of the committee are Francis Rooney, Orlando Parise, Joseph LaPorta, Willard Harvey and John S. Keller.

Television And Radio
by John Crosby

The Child Actors Have It Good

You can hardly turn on television, any time anywhere, without bumping into somebody shooting somebody else. The actors have been chopping each other up remorselessly from early morning to the Late Late Show ever since I got a set.

But in the last week or so the trend has been in the opposite direction — maternity rather than death. Everybody is either having babies or wanting to have them. "Medic" last week was all about a man struggling with impotence. Kraft Theater last week was about a couple who got badly burned in the baby black market. "Weekday," the NBC radio show, has been running a documentary series on the story of birth which wound-up with a recording of the actual birth taken in the delivery room.

Adoption, a large subject, is getting a big play all over the place. Last night's Circle Theater did what they call an "actual" drama called "A Baby Named X," which showed how the Spenee-Chapin Adoption Service in New York selects couples for adoption. The same subject was kicked around — not very conclusively — on Faye Emerson's "Women Want To Know" show, where an audience of women asked some hard questions and got soft answers from an adoption expert. Then just to round out the thing there was a drama called "Adopted Son," about a mother who couldn't tell her adopted son from her own dead son.

There is no subject that could stand a public airing better than adoption — and hardly any subject less likely to get it. Everyone tiptoes around the subject intimidated by the self-righteousness of the adoption agency.

The Kraft drama was no exception. It was a soap opera about a couple who lost their baby at birth, couldn't have any more of their own, and took to the baby black market after being driven to despair by the long wait and red tape of the legal adoption agencies. But they came to see the error of their ways and in the end decided to get a baby through the legal agencies, if it took till doomsday, which is quite possible.

While I hesitate to endorse black market babies, I have known couples who have resorted to black markets for adopting babies and everything has worked out splendidly. I've known others who have adopted children abroad after being driven almost out of their wits by the delays and impertinence of the adoption agencies in this country. What I would dearly love to see is a drama which belted away, not at illegal adoptions which, after all, is a sitting duck, but at legal adoptions. In the Kraft play, the lady representing the adoption agency told a prospective father—and it is the sort of things they do say — "The child must have an intelligence level akin to yours." Why? I never met a child yet who had an intelligence level akin to mine. They also try to match up religions.—parents and child—as if a baby had any religion.

The only person who could really deal with the subject as it ought to be dealt with would be someone as fearless and angry as Charles Dickens, but I don't expect it will ever be done that way on television.

At any rate, the preoccupation with children seems to be all over the place. If it isn't maternity, it's what to do with the kids when they get to be teenagers, the problem ranging from adolescent love to juvenile delinquency. Never in my memory have there been so many jobs for child actors. They are all over the place.

Market Posts Slim Gain After Late Profit-Taking

Today's performance came as the steel labor picture bred hopes of a settlement of the 24-day strike. The government reported the cost of living at a new record high. Reports of corporate earnings were bright for the most part.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks nudged ahead 40 cents to $189.60, with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails up 70 cents and the utilities up 40 cents.

Volume totaled 2,040,000 shares compared with 1,970,000 yesterday.

U.S. Steel was the day's most active stock, up ⅝ at 61⅞ on 36,300 shares. Second was Sperry Rand, up ⅜ at 25¼ on 30,600 shares. Third was American Telephone, off ⅛ at 183⅞ on 27,100 shares.

Next came Standard Oil (NJ), off ⅜ at 59⅞ and Allegheny Ludlum Steel, up 2 at 46½.

Allegheny Ludlum's advance gave it a new high for the year. Armco was another steel stock to reach a new high, at 63⅛ up 1⅛.

Youth Addresses Ridgeley Lions

James Bobo was one of two Ridgeley boys sent to the West Virginia YMCA's Leadership Training Course at Camp Horseshoe, near Parsons. Young Bobo told of the program arranged for them and the friendships formed with youths from all parts of West Virginia.

The annual Lions family picnic will be held Monday, August 13 at Helmick's on Patterson Creek. The committee in charge of arrangements is Perry Davis, Eston Turner, Clarence Hartman and Lloyd Coffman.

DeMolay Mothers Meet This Evening

KEYSER — The inaugural meeting of the DeMolay Mothers' Circle will be held this evening in the Masonic building. Purpose of the meeting is to institute a circle to join with the DeMolay sons in setting up a program for the coming year.

Clarence W. (Buddy) Sears Jr., a member of the Keyser Chapter DeMolay and state master councilor of the DeMolay in West Virginia, has great interest in the formation of a mother-son group to function in Keyser.

Perlman Rejects Bid To Serve As Demo Delegate

Reported Irked Over Appointment

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP)—Philip B. Perlman, former U.S. solicitor general, tonight rejected appointment to the Maryland delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

Perlman, one of the leaders in a party factional feud, expressed disappointment that the delegates had not elected him to his old post on the platform and resolutions committee. He was the architect of the civil rights plank of the party's 1952 platform.

"Indications are that the work on the platform at the approaching convention will be exceedingly difficult, and I am sorry that the delegation thought it advisable to select someone else to represent the Democratic party for this task," Perlman wrote T. Barton Harrington, State party chairman.

Perlman had been named by Harrington to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of A. Gordon Boone, Baltimore County member of the House of Delegates and candidate for Congress.

Mrs Tydings Also Out

His rejection of the appointment was the second in as many days. Mrs. Millard E. Tydings said last night she would not accept the delegation seat resigned by her husband, who has been ill since shortly after his nomination last May 7 to his old seat in the U.S. Senate.

The refusal of the delegates to elect Perlman to the platform committee and his refusal to serve as a delegate without that assignment both underscored old intra-party bitterness.

Perlman backed Tydings against George P. Mahoney in the close senatorial primary. Although he lost the nomination, Mahoney was victorious in the battle for seats to the State convention.

Aided by State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and Michael J. Birmingham, president of the Baltimore County commissioners, Mahoney ran the show at the convention.

Walsh Is Delegate

In electing delegates to the national convention, the State convention selected 33 members from the Mahoney camp and only three from the Tydings group. These were Tydings himself, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore and William C. Walsh of Cumberland, former attorney general and Court of Appeals judge. By-passed were such party veterans as former Gov. W. Preston Lane, Perlman, E. Brooke Lee of Montgomery County and others.

When Tydings resigned from the delegation because of his illness, some party leaders suggested Perlman be named in his place but they were overriden and Mrs. Tydings was named instead.

Birmingham, still seeking to promote harmony, then disclosed that Boone, a member of his Baltimore County organization, would step aside to create still another opportunity for Perlman.

Philip H. Dorsey, nominated to the St. Mary's County Circuit Court by both parties last May and brisk chairman at the pro-Mahoney State Mahoney convention, insisted on the assignment for himself.

Dorsey won the job over Perlman, 19-3, with only Birmingham, Harrington and State Sen. Philip H. Goodman voting in the minority

Writes To Chairman

"In advance of formal notice," Perlman wrote Harrington, "I want to express to you my sincere appreciation of your action in appointing me as a delegate from Maryland to the Democratic national Convention in place of Mr. A. Gordon Boone of Baltimore County, who resigned . . . for the sole reason of making a place on the delegation for me.

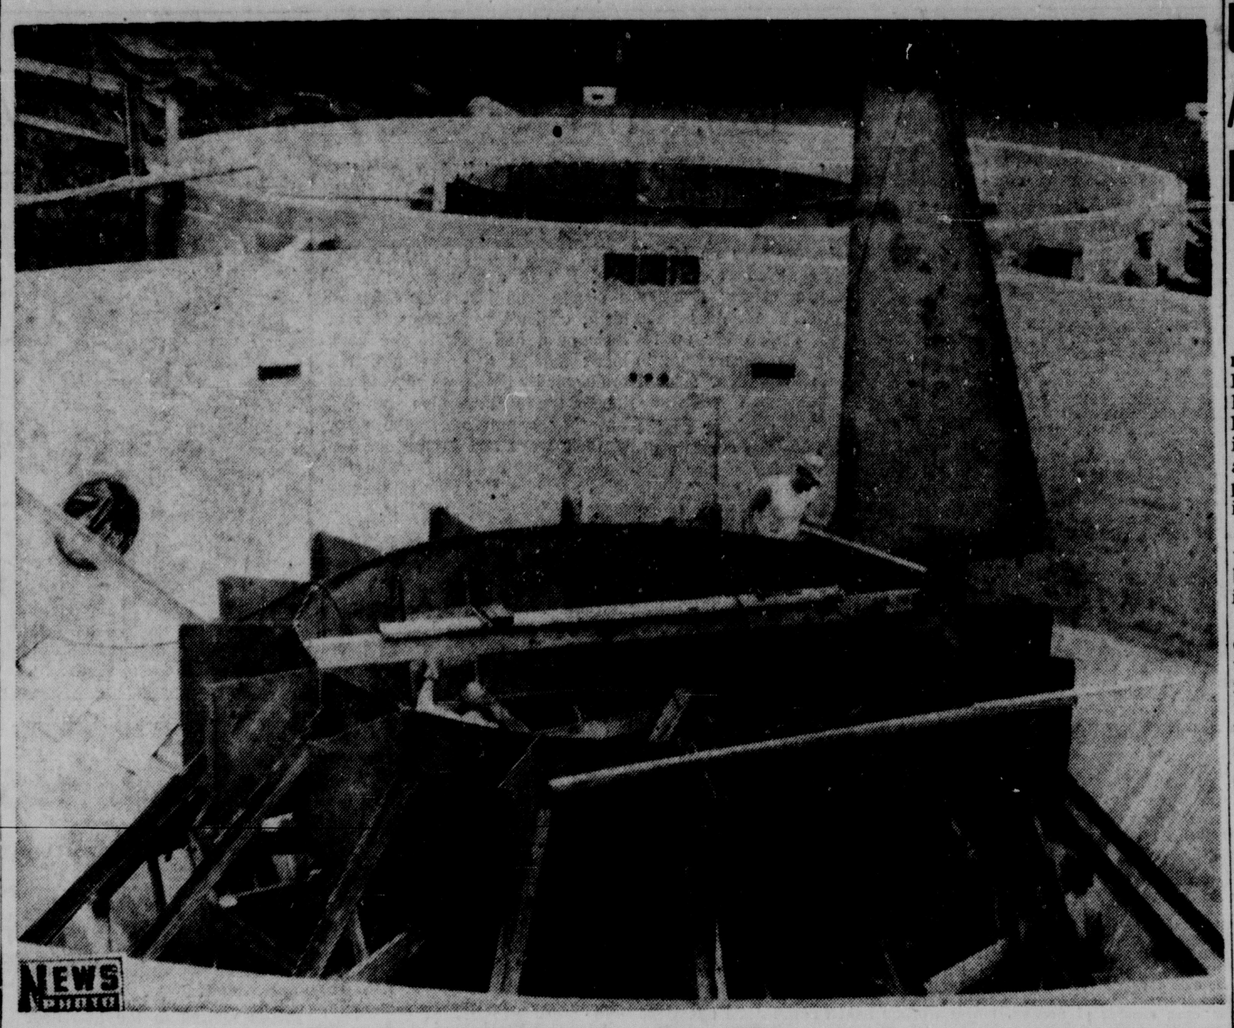

"I cannot accept appointment in Mr. Boone's place. His effort in my behalf is most generous but he is a Democratic candidate for Congress . . . and I think he ought to be a member of the delegation to Chicago and have the opportunity to take part in the deliberations of the convention. . . .

"It seems to me that I should not have a place on the delegation if it means that Mr. Boone would be deprived of this status.

"As you know, my main interest in being a delegate is the opportunity I hoped to have to serve again on the platform and resolutions committee. There were controversial questions of prime importance before that committee in 1948 and again in 1952, in the debate over which I participated. The walkout of several States in 1948 would not have occurred in my opinion, had the plank on civil rights framed by the committee, of which I was a member, been adopted by the convention, but it was amended on the floor.

"In 1952 the plank on the subject worked out by the committee became part of the platform adopted without amendment and with but one dissenting vote."

Perlman then added the belief that the 1956 platform drafters face a difficult job and expressed his disappointment that he was not elected to help with it.

Cleaner Water On The Way

Machinery is being installed in one of the two contact basins which are being built at the Lake Gordon filtration plant. A worker, George McGregor, is standing on the bottom of one of the big concrete tanks which will serve as combination mixing, flocculation and settling basins for the plant which has been enlarged to 18,000,000 gallons a day capacity. The contact basins will remove particles above microscopic size from the water prior to filtration.

Girl Scouts To Plan Camp Activity Program Today

The junior camp committee of Cumberland Council Girl Scouts will meet 10:30 a. m. today at the Girl Scout House to make preliminary program plans for the opening activities at this summer's encampment.

The committee will select a theme around which the opening camp fire program will be built, unit names and some of the special programs.

Members of the camp committee represent the six groups or units which make up the encampment. All of them served on the camp council at Camp Potomac last summer.

The committee includes Carol Griggs, Barbara Johnson, Kristen Johnson, Mary Sue Leger, Martha Milbrada, Linda Morey, Jean Paladino, Celeste Smith, Estelle Struntz, Suetta Sulser and Jennifer Ways.

The camp council is used for intercamp planning while camp is in session, and the council gives the girls attending camp full voice in planning and operation, subject to adult supervision.

Girl Scout camp opens August 7 at Camp Potomac near Oldtown, and will consist of two periods. The first will be for 12 days, while the second period will be for a full week, from August 19 to August 25.

Twelve-day camping sessions, endorsed by the National Girl Scout Council, provide a better period than one or two-week sessions to cover all phases of camping skills and camping activities, as taught by scouting.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive and camp director, will preside at the junior camp committee meeting. She said yesterday there are still a few vacancies for the 12-day camp period, although registrations are running far ahead of last year's record.

Milk Survey Is Under Way In County Area

The survey, which will determine the grading of milk and milk products for state and interstate use, is in charge of Alexander Pais, Baltimore, of the State Health Department, who will represent the U. S. Public Health Service.

Assisting are J. Bryon Dowling, chief sanitarian, and Harvey Shockley, city milk inspector, from the Allegany County Health Department.

Dowling said the survey is a requirement for keeping Grade A labels and for the interstate shipment of milk.

During the survey, the grading team will inspect the eight milk processing plants in the county and the some 450 milk producers who ship into the Cumberland milkshed.

At present, the plants are processing some 30,000 gallons of milk daily and shipping supplies not needed in this area to points as far east as Jersey City and as far south as Roanoke, Va.

During the visits, the inspectors will grade each plant or milk producer according to standards set up by the U. S. Public Health Service.

They will also study the laboratory records kept by the milk plants and by the Health Department in their continuous testing and checking program to maintain high standards of purity.

Civil Service Tests Slated August 6

The Cumberland Civil Service Commission will hold an examination August 6 at 7 p. m. at Fort Hill High School for the positions of policeman, fireman and draftsman.

Plans for the tests were made Monday night as the commission met in City Hall to review the 13 fire, 11 police and one draftsman applicants.

The board tentatively accepted the applications of nine men for police and eight for fire tests.

Applications Being Sought

John W. Lee, Civil Service representative, said yesterday that applications will be accepted until August 30, 1956 .

The pay rate of substitute clerk and substitute carrier is $1.82 an hour, he added. A written test is required, although no experience is necessary.

Equity Suit Filed

Books And Helpers Needed:

Library May Be Organized For Bowman's Addition

A building already is available to house the prospective library. Rev. Mrs. Elva Brotemarkle, pastor of the Assembly of God church on Valley Road, said the congregation has turned over a church-owned building next door for use as a library.

Rev. Mrs. Brotemarkle now is asking housewives in the Bowman's Addition section to work as part-time librarians on a voluntary basis.

If enough help is available, the library may be kept open two mornings and two evenings a week.

Needed most, however, are books. Rev. Mrs. Brotemarkle said the library will welcome books of any type, especially encyclopedias, textbooks and other general reference works.

These, she said, would help meet the needs of school pupils who find it inconvenient to make frequent visits to the Cumberland library.

Flood Control Job Has Good Safety Record

Hazelwood Will Erect Batch Plant

Safety experts from the Corps of Engineers yesterday made a complete inspection of work in progress on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

The inspection was made by R. J. Rahte, assistant safety engineer of the North Atlantic Division, and Ralph J. Beavers, assistant safety engineer for the Washington District.

The project has had an enviable safety record, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers here.

He cited that the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, has had four lost time accidents in 650,000 man hours worked here since 1952.

Have Safety Plans

The company was cited in 1953 for its no accident record during the construction of the Industrial Dam.

Both Albrecht and the Hazelwood Construction Company, which is beginning work on Wills Creek Channel Section 4, have their own safety programs, which are coordinated with the intensive program of the Corps of Engineers.

Hazelwood, Dexter said, will soon begin to erect its batching plant for its contract along Wills Creek, between the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company site and the Market Street Bridge.

Delivery of materials for the plant which will mix concrete for the bridge building and creek paving job has been promised late this month.

Are Driving Piling

The local firm has started hammering interlocking steel piling into the creek bed, near its confluence with the Potomac River.

The piling, he said, is being driven as close as possible to the wall, to protect the retaining walls during excavation.

Up the creek, Albrecht crews are continuing the pouring of the sloping walls, toe walls and the excavations needed to prepare the creek bed for paving.

The company has been stymied in recent days in efforts to work on levees because it is too wet.

Pyles Petitions For Speedy Trial

Pyles is accused of cashing a check for $24.60 June 22 with intent to defraud a South End grocer.

A number of officials have been named to assist in the direction of the Breakneck National Hill Climb to be held Sunday, August 5, under sanction of the Sports Car Club of America.

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic is the local chairman and Fred Windridge of Arlington, Va., is the co-chairman.

Although the hill climb events will be run between 11 a. m. and 5 p. m. Sunday, most of the drivers will arrive here the Friday before the events.

On Saturday, between 8 a.m. and 2 p. m., all cars will undergo the required safety inspection at Flintstone fire hall. From 10 to 10:30 a.m. Saturday a compulsory meeting for all drivers will be held at the fire hall. From 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. a reception and banquet for the drivers will be held at the fire hall.

Among the committees and officials named to help with the hill climb besides the two co-chairmen, Dr. Skitarelic and Windridge, are George Zuver, chief steward; Walter Haun, safety marshal; Tex Hopkins, chief starter; Bob Scott, chief finisher; John Sommers, paddock steward; George Stathers, safety inspector; Jean Stathers, racing secretary.

Tydings Leaves Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP)—Millard E. Tydings, Democratic candidate for his old seat in the U.S. Senate, was discharged tonight from Johns Hopkins Hospital after a 46-day stay.

The 66-year-old former senator entered the hospital June 8 after being confined to his home for several weeks because of an abscessed tooth.

Doctors later said he also was afflicted by shingles, a severe ailment affecting the skin and nerve endings.

Assault Hearing Is Postponed

A Frostburg resident was slated to be given a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate Fred Crowe on a charge of assault, but it has been postponed until 2 p. m. August 7.

Trooper Lindberg Cook of the Maryland State Police said the charges were filed against Morton Cook who reportedly hit his wife, Mrs. Tina Cook, and then pushed her out of an auto as they were traveling through Eckhart Monday night. She was treated for her injuries and taken to her home on Ormond Street. Cook is lodged in Allegany County Jail.

A. J. Yockus, president, said last night that part of the meeting will consist of impromptu talks in which the participants will argue pro and con on a subject which will be given to the speaker about five minutes prior to the talk.

Two-minute prep red talks on how an individual influenced the life of the members of the local group also will be given

Underwriters Are Asked To Make Survey

Will Boost Rating, Fire Chief Predicts

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker announced yesterday that Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan has asked the National Board of Fire Underwriters to reinspect the City of Cumberland, and predicted the survey will improve the city's fire insurance rating.

The last Fire Underwriters survey, he said, was made in December 1947, and resulted in the listing of 37 recommendations.

Chief Parker said at least 85 per cent of the major recommendations affecting the Fire Department have been carried out, and that the updating of the survey will result in a more favorable insurance rating.

To Boost Rating

He added he hopes the survey will boost the city's rating, now Class 6, at least two points.

Chief Parker said he believes that the improvements made in the department's facilities should place Cumberland's rating up with the top cities of higher population.

Since 1947, the Cumberland Fire Department has purchased a new aerial ladder, based at Central Fire Department.

The City of Cumberland has placed into service the second of two main transmission lines which brings water to the city from the Lake Gordon filtration plant.

A new 750-gallon-a-minute pumper has been placed into service at South End Fire Company.

Need Men, Pumper

The major needs at present, Chief Parker said, is a 1,000-gallon pumper for Central Fire Department.

He said Commissioner Keegan has recommended that the truck be purchased.

At present, Central has a 500-gallon pumper as first-line equipment and a 750-gallon pumper in reserve.

Also nneded is more manpower, the fire chief said. By Fire Underwriter standards, Cumberland should have a 75-man fire department. Current strength, he said, is 58 men.

Driver Nabbed In Hit-Run

Harry C. Bowers of Clearbrook, Va., now residing at 126 Frederick Street, was arrested yesterday by city police in connection with a hit-and-run mishap which occurred Monday in the vicinity of Knox and North Centre streets.

He was arrested by Lt. Raymond R. Johnston and Officer Louis D. Downey at a local industrial plant where he is employed. He was booked at 2:45 p. m. and charged with failure to stop and identify himself after striking an unattended vehicle.

Police said the car caused property damage to several cars as Bowers traveled the wrong way on North Centre Street. Authorities reported that Bowers also had run into a gas pump at a local service station earlier in tthe day.

He posted bond of $100 and will be given a hearing Saturday morning.

Bowers was arrested on a state warrant issued to Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

City Sinking Fund Totals $2,832,050

Remaining Bonds At $3,880,000 Mark

The City of Cumberland had a balance of $2,832,050.95 in its sinking fund on June 30, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The fund was set up for the redemption of term bonds which at that date totalled $3,880,000.

The annual report of the trustees of the fund, he said, showed there was a balance of $2,751,610.84 on July 1, 1955.

Added to the fund during the year was contributions totaling $67,107.51 from the general and water departments of the city, plus earnings of $63,332.60.

Paid from the fund this June 30 was $50,000 from an issue dated January 1, 1956.

Of the $2,832,050.95 balance in the fund on June 30, $2,803,000 was invested in U. S. government bonds, $23,000 of obligations of the City of Cumberland purchased by the trustees prior to maturity, plus $6,050.95 in cash.

The term bonds for which the sinking fund was set up include $2,705,000 of Water Department bonds, and $1,175,000 of general obligations maturing between now and 1971.

The sinking fund schedule, Gibson said, is predicated on earnings of 2.35 per cent interest. Actual earnings during the past year, he said, averaged 2.3 per cent.

Dr. Frantz Will Continue As Health Officer

Although Dr. Winter R. Frantz is eligible to retire August 1 as county health officer he will continue after that date as temporary county health officer.

Dr. Frantz appeared at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to explain that he was eligible to retire as of August 1 but that a replacement is not available at the present time. He asked that he be appointed as a temporary health officer from August 1 until a successor can be found.

Commissioner James Orr then moved that an order be adopted naming Dr. Frantz as temporary health officer until such time as a successor can be named. Commissioner William H. Lemmert, board president, seconded the motion. The State Health Department is to be notified of the county action.

Another order adopted by Commissioners Orr and Lemmert concerned payment of the salary of Miss Geraldine Wolfe, a bacteriologist with the County Health Department. She is to be paid $293.33 for the month of July and $309.50 a month beginning August 1. The county auditor is to bill the State Department of Health for the money paid Miss Wolfe.

The commissioners yesterday also awarded a contract to the Conn Welding and Machine Company, New Castle, Pa., for installing a metal deck and making other repairs to the Locust Grove bridge across Wills Creek in the Narrows. The Pennsylvania firm submitted a low bid of $14,540.

Two road complaints received yesterday were referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor. Del Simpson and Myron Rice complained about the washout on the Broadwater Road. Joseph Steele asked that Hill Run Road off Water Station Run Road at Lonaconing be hard surfaced.

In the senior division, a Pine Avenue team composed of Thomas Smith, John Wormack and Gary Frisby defeated a West Side Playground team 26-16.

A Penn Avenue team formed by Corabelle and Eleanor Leatherman and Carol Cline scored a 20-10 victory over a North End team to become the pigtail league champions.

A Centre Street Playground team, Wayne and Fred Shook and Bob Eversole, with Lamar Martin as substitute, blanked Penn Avenue team 14-0 in the Junior Division finals.

5 Winners To Be Chosen:

Jaycees Will Sponsor Country Music Contest

Outstanding musicians in the country music field from throughout the Tri-State area are being sought by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce to compete in a country music contest Friday, August 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the Fort Hill High School Stadium.

A number of the performers who appear on the Town and Country television program from Washington, D.C., each Saturday night will be here as added attractions for the contest.

Five categories are planned and a winner will be named in each division. They are fiddle, banjo, band, vocal and miscellaneous, which includes dancers. Those participating in bands may also compete in other categories as individual performers.

Winners in each category will be eligible to compete in the national country music contest at Warrenton, Va., September 1 with the Cumberland Jaycees paying their expenses to Virginia.

Entry blanks will be distributed to music stores in most communities in the Tri-State area. However, those who wish to compete may simply send a card with their name, address and category to the Jaycee office, Room 514, Liberty Trust Building, Cumberland, Md.

Ronald J. Screen is serving as general chairman of arrangements for the contest, and virtually all other Jaycees are serving on committees.

Murder Suspect Is Sought In Preston County

Mrs. Lena Lewis, 43, Beaten, Shot To Death

State and county authorities of nearby West Virginia are conducting a widespread search in a thickly wooded section of Preston County for Wilson Cole, 44, who is suspected of the brutal murder of Mrs. Lena Lewis, 43, of Deep Creek, on Monday at a farm about five miles southwest of Terra Alta.

Preston County Prosecutor James T. Dailey said last night that a daughter-in-law of Cole, Mrs. Willard Cole, 21, witnessed the shooting about 6 p. m. Monday. Mrs. Lewis already had been beaten about the face.

Autopsy Performed

An autopsy report of Dr. M. L. Hobbs, pathologist of West Virginia University, disclosed that the victim died of a bullet wound in the left side of her face, as well as the beating. She suffered multiple bruises and scratches over most of her face and lower legs.

Willard Cole, 25, who reportedly was not at home at the time of the shooting notified authorities.

Mrs. Lewis, who operated a country store on Route 219 south of Oakland, reportedly had been beaten sometime late Sunday night or early Monday morning and then tied up and left lying in a wooded area near the farm house.

About 6 p. m. Monday, Cole shot the victim with a .22 calibre rifle, "hung around" his son's house for about an hour and a half and then left the premises, Daily said.

Some 20 officers including extra State Police from Clarksburg, Shinnston and Morgantown, joined in the search which began early yesterday morning.

Dailey said Cole left his car and what purported to be a suicide note near the Willard Cole home, which is located about eight miles from Rowlesburg and about equidistant from Rowlesburg and Terra Alta.

However, Dailey said, authorities were holding to the view that Cole was still alive, and the prosecutor said the search would be resumed this morning.

Officers of Garrett County are cooperating in the search for Cole who had been employed by Mrs. Lewis at the country store.

Farms Checked

Prior to beginning the extensive search, officers checked a number of abandoned farms and houses in the area. No trace of the gun used in the shooting had been found last night.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad authorities were notified of the murder as Cole could possibly have "hopped a freight" since the main line of the railroad is located about a mile and a half from the murder scene.

Mrs. Lewis was reported missing to authorities of Garrett County on Monday. Later the victim was found on the farm of young Cole.

The elder Cole reportedly explained her absence by saying that he had planned to go on a fishing trip to Canada while Mrs. Lewis visited with relatives.

Mrs. Lewis is survived by four children, a son and a daughter at home, a son living in Keyser, and a married daughter residing at Deep Creek. Cole is from the Terra Alta area.

Perlman Rejects Bid To Serve As Demo Delegate

Reported Irked Over Appointment

BALTIMORE, July 24 (AP)—Philip B. Perlman, former U.S. solicitor general, tonight rejected appointment to the Maryland delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

Perlman, one of the leaders in a party factional feud, expressed disappointment that the delegates had not elected him to his old post on the platform and resolutions committee. He was the architect of the civil rights plank of the party's 1952 platform.

"Indications are that the work on the platform at the approaching convention will be exceedingly difficult, and I am sorry that the delegation thought it advisable to select someone else to represent the Democratic party for this task," Perlman wrote T. Barton Harrington, State party chairman.

Perlman had been named by Harrington to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of A. Gordon Boone, Baltimore County member of the House of Delegates and candidate for Congress.

Mrs Tydings Also Out

His rejection of the appointment was the second in as many days. Mrs. Millard E. Tydings said last night she would not accept the delegation seat resigned by her husband, who has been ill since shortly after his nomination last May 7 to his old seat in the U.S. Senate.

The refusal of the delegates to elect Perlman to the platform committee and his refusal to serve as a delegate without that assignment both underscored old intra-party bitterness.

Perlman backed Tydings against George P. Mahoney in the close senatorial primary. Although he lost the nomination, Mahoney was victorious in the battle for seats to the State convention.

Aided by State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and Michael J. Birmingham, president of the Baltimore County commissioners, Mahoney ran the show at the convention.

Walsh Is Delegate

In electing delegates to the national convention, the State convention selected 33 members from the Mahoney camp and only three from the Tydings group. These were Tydings himself, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore and William C. Walsh of Cumberland, former attorney general and Court of Appeals judge. By-passed were such party veterans as former Gov. W. Preston Lane, Perlman, E. Brooke Lee of Montgomery County and others.

When Tydings resigned from the delegation because of his illness, some party leaders suggested Perlman be named in his place but they were overriden and Mrs. Tydings was named instead.

Birmingham, still seeking to promote harmony, then disclosed that Boone, a member of his Baltimore County organization, would step aside to create still another opportunity for Perlman.

Mahoney regulars agreed to go as far as seating Perlman but balked at giving him the committee assignment.

Philip H. Dorsey, nominated to the St. Mary's County Circuit Court by both parties last May and brisk chairman at the pro-Mahoney State Mahoney convention, insisted on the assignment for himself.

Dorsey won the job over Perlman, 19-3, with only Birmingham, Harrington and State Sen. Philip H. Goodman voting in the minority

Writes To Chairman

"In advance of formal notice," Perlman wrote Harrington, "I want to express to you my sincere appreciation of your action in appointing me as a delegate from Maryland to the Democratic national Convention in place of Mr. A. Gordon Boone of Baltimore County, who resigned . . . for the sole reason of making a place on the delegation for me.

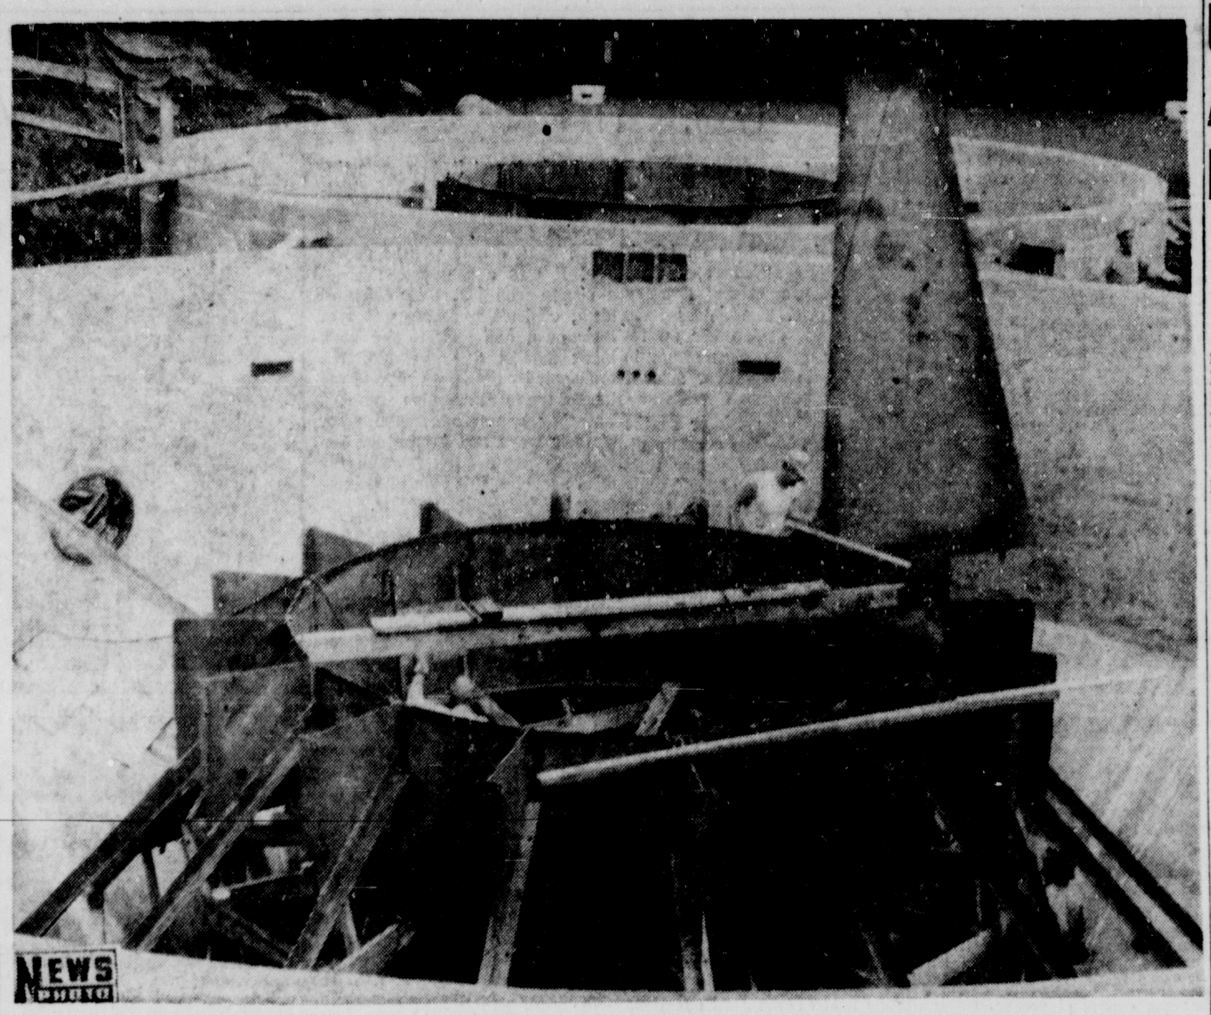

"I cannot accept appointment in Mr. Boone's place. His effort in my behalf is most generous but he is a Democratic candidate for Congress . . . and I think he ought to be a member of the delegation to Chicago and have the opportunity to take part in the deliberations of the convention. . . .

"It seems to me that I should not have a place on the delegation if it means that Mr. Boone would be deprived of this status.

"As you know, my main interest in being a delegate is the opportunity I hoped to have to serve again on the platform and resolutions committee. There were controversial questions of prime importance before that committee in 1948 and again in 1952, in the debate over which I participated. The walkout of several States in 1948 would not have occurred in my opinion, had the plank on civil rights framed by the committee, of which I was a member, been adopted by the convention, but it was amended on the floor.

"In 1952 the plank on the subject worked out by the committee became part of the platform adopted without amendment and with but one dissenting vote."

Perlman then added the belief that the 1956 platform drafters face a difficult job and expressed his disappointment that he was not elected to help with it.

Cleaner Water On The Way

Machinery is being installed in one of the two contact basins which are being built at the Lake Gordon filtration plant. A worker, George McGregor, is standing on the bottom of one of the big concrete tanks which will serve as combination mixing, flocculation and settling basins for the plant which has been enlarged to 18,000,000 gallons a day capacity. The contact basins will remove particles above microscopic size from the water prior to filtration.

Underwriters Are Asked To Make Survey

Will Boost Rating, Fire Chief Predicts

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker announced yesterday that Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan has asked the National Board of Fire Underwriters to re-inspect the City of Cumberland, and predicted the survey will improve the city's fire insurance rating.

The last Fire Underwriters survey, he said, was made in December 1947, and resulted in the listing of 37 recommendations.

Chief Parker said at least 85 per cent of the major recommendations affecting the Fire Department have been carried out, and that the updating of the survey will result in a more favorable insurance rating.

To Boost Rating

He added he hopes the survey will boost the city's rating, now Class 6, at least two points.

Chief Parker said he believes that the improvements made in the department's facilities should place Cumberland's rating up with the top cities of higher population.

Since 1947, the Cumberland Fire Department has purchased a new aerial ladder, based at Central Fire Department.

The City of Cumberland has placed into service the second of two main transmission lines which brings water to the city from the Lake Gordon filtration plant.

A new 750-gallon-a-minute pumper has been placed into service at South End Fire Company.

All motorized equipment used by the Fire Department has been equipped with two-way radio communication.

Need Men, Pumper

Extensions to the city's box fire alarm system have been made to provide better coverage.

The major needs at present, Chief Parker said, is a 1,000-gallon pumper for Central Fire Department.

He said Commissioner Keegan has recommended that the truck be purchased.

At present, Central has a 500-gallon pumper as first-line equipment and a 750-gallon pumper in reserve.

Also nneded is more manpower, the fire chief said. By Fire Underwriter standards, Cumberland should have a 75-man fire department. Current strength, he said, is 58 men.

City Sinking Fund Totals $2,832,050

Remaining Bonds At $3,880,000 Mark

The City of Cumberland had a balance of $2,832,050.95 in its sinking fund on June 30, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The fund was set up for the redemption of term bonds which at that date totalled $3,880,000.

The annual report of the trustees of the fund, he said, showed there was a balance of $2,751,610.84 on July 1, 1955.

Added to the fund during the year was contributions totaling $67,107.51 from the general and water departments of the city, plus earnings of $63,332.60.

Paid from the fund this June 30 was $50,000 from an issue dated January 1, 1956.

Of the $2,832,050.95 balance in the fund on June 30, $2,803,000 was invested in U. S. government bonds, $23,000 of obligations of the City of Cumberland purchased by the trustees prior to maturity, plus $6,050.95 in cash.

The term bonds for which the sinking fund was set up include $2,705,000 of Water Department bonds, and $1,175,000 of general obligations maturing between now and 1971.

The sinking fund schedule, Gibson said, is predicated on earnings of 2.35 per cent interest. Actual earnings during the past year, he said, averaged 2.3 per cent.

Murder Suspect Is Sought In Preston County

Mrs. Lena Lewis, 43, Beaten, Shot To Death

State and county authorities of nearby West Virginia are conducting a widespread search in a thickly wooded section of Preston County for Wilson Cole, 44, who is suspected of the brutal murder of Mrs. Lena Lewis, 43, of Deep Creek, on Monday at a farm about five miles southwest of Terra Alta.

Preston County Prosecutor James T. Dailey said last night that a daughter-in-law of Cole, Mrs. Willard Cole, 21, witnessed the shooting about 6 p. m. Monday. Mrs. Lewis already had been beaten about the face.

Autopsy Performed

An autopsy report of Dr. M. L. Hobbs, pathologist of West Virginia University, disclosed that the victim died of a bullet wound in the left side of her face, as well as the beating. She suffered multiple bruises and scratches over most of her face and lower legs.

Willard Cole, 25, who reportedly was not at home at the time of the shooting notified authorities.

Mrs. Lewis, who operated a country store on Route 219 south of Oakland, reportedly had been beaten sometime late Sunday night or early Monday morning and then tied up and left lying in a wooded area near the farm house.

About 6 p. m. Monday, Cole shot the victim with a .22 calibre rifle, "hung around" his son's house for about an hour and a half and then left the premises, Daily said.

Some 20 officers including extra State Police from Clarksburg, Shinnston and Morgantown, joined in the search which began early yesterday morning.

The area being covered includes 12 to 14 square miles.

Dailey said Cole left his car and what purported to be a suicide note near the Willard Cole home, which is located about eight miles from Rowlesburg and about equidistant from Rowlesburg and Terra Alta.

However, Dailey said, authorities were holding to the view that Cole was still alive, and the prosecutor said the search would be resumed this morning.

Farms Checked

Prior to beginning the extensive search, officers checked a number of abandoned farms and houses in the area. No trace of the gun used in the shooting had been found last night.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad authorities were notified of the murder as Cole could possibly have "hopped a freight" since the main line of the railroad is located about a mile and a half from the murder scene.

Mrs. Lewis was reported missing to authorities of Garrett County on Monday. Later the victim was found on the farm of young Cole.

The elder Cole reportedly explained her absence by saying that he had planned to go on a fishing trip to Canada while Mrs. Lewis visited with relatives.

Mrs. Lewis is survived by four children, a son and a daughter at home, a son living in Keyser, and a married daughter residing at Deep Creek. Cole is from the Terra Alta area.

Girl Scouts To Plan Camp Activity Program Today

The junior camp committee of Cumberland Council Girl Scouts will meet 10:30 a. m. today at the Girl Scout House to make preliminary program plans for the opening activities at this summer's encampment.

The committee will select a theme around which the opening camp fire program will be built, unit names and some of the special programs.

Members of the camp committee represent the six groups or units which make up the encampment. All of them served on the camp council at Camp Potomac last summer.

The committee includes Carol Griggs, Barbara Johnson, Kristen Johnson, Mary Sue Leger, Martha Milbrada, Linda Morey, Jean Paladino, Celeste Smith, Estelle Struntz, Suetta Sulser and Jennifer Ways.

The camp council is used for intercamp planning while camp is in session, and the council gives the girls attending camp full voice in planning and operation, subject to adult supervision.

Girl Scout camp opens August 7 at Camp Potomac near Oldtown, and will consist of two periods. The first will be for 12 days, while the second period will be for a full week, from August 19 to August 25.

Twelve-day camping sessions, endorsed by the National Girl Scout Council, provide a better period than one or two-week sessions to cover all phases of camping skills and camping activities, as taught by scouting.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive and camp director, will preside at the junior camp committee meeting. She said yesterday there are still a few vacancies for the 12-day camp period, although registrations are running far ahead of last year's record.

Milk Survey Is Under Way In County Area

The survey, which will determine the grading of milk and milk products for state and interstate use, is in charge of Alexander Pais, Baltimore, of the State Health Department, who will represent the U. S. Public Health Service.

Assisting are J. Bryon Dowling, chief sanitarian, and Harvey Shockley, city milk inspector, from the Allegany County Health Department.

Dowling said the survey is a requirement for keeping Grade A labels and for the interstate shipment of milk.

During the survey, the grading team will inspect the eight milk processing plants in the county and the some 450 milk producers who ship into the Cumberland milkshed.

At present, the plants are processing some 30,000 gallons of milk daily and shipping supplies not needed in this area to points as far east as Jersey City and as far south as Roanoke, Va.

During the visits, the inspectors will grade each plant or milk producer according to standards set up by the U. S. Public Health Service.

They will also study the laboratory records kept by the milk plants and by the Health Department in their continuous testing and checking program to maintain high standards of purity.

Civil Service Tests Slated August 6

The Cumberland Civil Service Commission will hold an examination August 6 at 7 p. m. at Fort Hill High School for the positions of policeman, fireman and draftsman.

Plans for the tests were made Monday night as the commission met in City Hall to review the 13 fire, 11 police and one draftsman applicants.

The board tentatively accepted the applications of nine men for police and eight for fire tests.

Applications Being Sought

Applications for the positions of substitute clerk and substitute carrier at the Cumberland Post Office are being sought by the Civil Service Commission.

John W. Lee, Civil Service representative, said yesterday that applications will be accepted until August 30, 1956 .

The pay rate of substitute clerk and substitute carrier is $1.82 an hour, he added. A written test is required, although no experience is necessary.

Books And Helpers Needed:

Library May Be Organized For Bowman's Addition

Bowman's Addition may soon have a library of its own, if enough books and enough volunteer workers can be found.

A building already is available to house the prospective library. Rev. Mrs. Elva Brotemarkle, pastor of the Assembly of God church on Valley Road, said the congregation has turned over a church-owned building next door for use as a library.

Rev. Mrs. Brotemarkle now is asking housewives in the Bowman's Addition section to work as part-time librarians on a voluntary basis.

If enough help is available, the library may be kept open two mornings and two evenings a week.

Needed most, however, are books. Rev. Mrs. Brotemarkle said the library will welcome books of any type, especially encyclopedias, textbooks and other general reference works.

These, she said, would help meet the needs of school pupils who find it inconvenient to make frequent visits to the Cumberland library.

Flood Control Job Has Good Safety Record

Hazelwood Will Erect Batch Plant

Safety experts from the Corps of Engineers yesterday made a complete inspection of work in progress on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

Following the tour, they reported the job looked good and was satisfactory from a safety standpoint.

The inspection was made by R. J. Rahte, assistant safety engineer of the North Atlantic Division, and Ralph J. Beavers, assistant safety engineer for the Washington District.

The project has had an enviable safety record, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers here.

He cited that the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, has had four lost time accidents in 650,000 man hours worked here since 1952.

Have Safety Plans

Both Albrecht and the Hazelwood Construction Company, which is beginning work on Wills Creek Channel Section 4, have their own safety programs, which are coordinated with the intensive program of the Corps of Engineers.

Hazelwood, Dexter said, will soon begin to erect its batching plant for its contract along Wills Creek, between the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company site and the Market Street Bridge.

Delivery of materials for the plant which will mix concrete for the bridge building and creek paving job has been promised late this month.

Are Driving Piling

The Western Maryland Railway has laid a spur line in land adjoining the creek to serve the batch plant.

The local firm has started hammering interlocking steel piling into the creek bed, near its confluence with the Potomac River.

The piling, he said, is being driven as close as possible to the wall, to protect the retaining walls during excavation.

Up the creek, Albrecht crews are continuing the pouring of the sloping walls, toe walls and the excavations needed to prepare the creek bed for paving.

The company has been stymied in recent days in efforts to work on levees because it is too wet.

Another development in the project is the opening of work by Albrecht on the East Ridgeley and Mill Race pumping stations.

Police said the car caused property damage to several cars as Bowers traveled the wrong way on North Centre Street. Authorities reported that Bowers also had run into a gas pump at a local service station earlier in tthe day.

He posted bond of $100 and will be given a hearing Saturday morning.

Bowers was arrested on a state warrant issued to Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Dr. Frantz Will Continue As Health Officer

Although Dr. Winter R. Frantz is eligible to retire August 1 as county health officer he will continue after that date as temporary county health officer.

Dr. Frantz appeared at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to explain that he was eligible to retire as of August 1 but that a replacement is not available at the present time. He asked that he be appointed as a temporary health officer from August 1 until a successor can be found.

Commissioner James Orr then moved that an order be adopted naming Dr. Frantz as temporary health officer until such time as a successor can be named. Commissioner William H. Lemmert, board president, seconded the motion. The State Health Department is to be notified of the county action.

Another order adopted by Commissioners Orr and Lemmert concerned payment of the salary of Miss Geraldine Wolfe, a bacteriologist with the County Health Department. She is to be paid $293.33 for the month of July and $309.50 a month beginning August 1. The county auditor is to bill the State Department of Health for the money paid Miss Wolfe.

The commissioners yesterday also awarded a contract to the Conn Welding and Machine Company, New Castle, Pa., for installing a metal deck and making other repairs to the Locust Grove bridge across Wills Creek in the Narrows. The Pennsylvania firm submitted a low bid of $14,540.

Two road complaints received yesterday were referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor. Del Simpson and Myron Rice complained about the washout on the Broadwater Road. Joseph Steele asked that Hill Run Road off Water Station Run Road at Lonaconing be hard surfaced.
